From the President

I have heard mixed views from members of the mayor's speech at our AGM. On one hand some were impressed by her frankness and explanation of the financial problems faced by the MASG and rural councils generally. Others felt her speech lacked empathy and was tinged with "lecturing". I'm inclined to the first point of view. It would have been easy for the mayor to make all the right but meaningless noises in front of what could have been a critical audience. I am pleased she told it as it is. It confirmed that the council can offer no financial help and little help in kind. It also confirmed that we must continue to find strength in our independence. This is no bad thing - we are a diverse and creative group and we will continue to prosper as we have in the past. We will of course continue to try to build healthy relationships with council and with other community groups because these links will be good for us and for our community.

Special thanks to all those who attended our AGM. Like many of you I find the formality a little wearing but unfortunately necessary. Importantly we now have a full committee for the first time in 12 months and most of our volunteer positions are filled. However, just when the sun starts to shine a dark cloud appears. Judy Sime has resigned as Office Manager effective from around the end of November as she has a number of family commitments and absences next year that make it impossible for her to do the job justice. Judy has done a fantastic job and will be badly and sadly missed. I hope a well earned sabbatical will see Judy raring to go again in 2013.

A notice about the Office Manager's role is in the newsletter. As you will read it can easily be divided into two roles which will not only decrease the workload but give the volunteers more flexibility with their time commitments.

Peter Stephens

SUMMARY OCTOBER COMMITTEE MEETING

Tom Comerford conducted an induction for the new Committee. For this reason the meeting concentrated only on essential business such as allocating roles and changes to bank signatories. One other decision was to revive a tradition of bringing a donation in an envelope along to the December meeting. The Committee decided to give the money to the Uniting Church who will donate it to local people on a non-denominational basis.

OFFICE MANAGER

HELP WANTED

We need an Office Manager to supervise our office administration and co-ordinate the work of our office volunteers. It would be great if we had 2 volunteers (even better with 2 assistants) so that the Office Manager can take a break or deal with unexpected hiccups without distraction.

The role could be split into two:

Office Administration Manager and Volunteer Co-ordinator

This role concentrates on training and rostering office volunteers and allocating jobs to them. Ordering office supplies, printer toner and cartridges, maintaining a register of PIN numbers for the photocopier use and keeping the office tidy are other tasks.

This role requires organisational skills and a degree of comfort with working with technology such as photocopiers.

Computer Administrator

This role checks office e-mails, sends out bulk e-mails to members and maintains office e-mail addresses. You will also save U3A documents to the office computer, do some word processing and form design and back up the office computer to an external hard drive every month. You would also share the task of keeping the office manual up to date.

This role requires good computer and internet skills.

Duty roster for December Coffee Morning

Apple Mac (Drinks and Nibbles) – Aboriginal History (Salads) – Bloggers (Tea/Coffee)
Gardening in Castlemaine (Desserts)

We ask that each member bring a plate with enough to feed four people. The Committee will provide cold meats. Science based short term courses, please bring a bottle of liquid refreshment each. For those who attended the Buda based talks, the La Trobe University lectures, The Leopard and other humanities short term courses, we ask that you bring a dessert. Those of you who feel disposed to contribute, even though your group has not been designated, please bring a plate of sandwiches.

From the Course Co-ordinator

Your new course co-ordination team of Robyn and myself has sprinted out of the starting blocks to organise the Prospectus for 2012 courses. From the applications received so far, there is a mixture of old favourites, some revamped courses, and some fresh ideas. Because feedback from members has suggested that shorter courses are wanted, some courses have been repackaged into Term-long units, while other courses will be running for only a few sessions. We are also negotiating for some courses from new presenters. Of course, we don't want to give too much away – you'll just have to curb your excitement and wait for the Prospectus which will be issued at the December coffee morning.

STAMPS AND CORKS

With the festive season coming along rapidly, you may wonder what to do with all the used stamps you receive. If so, you may like to pass them on to me. Many thanks to U3A members who have been doing so. Just a reminder: please leave at least a cm of envelope around the stamp or tear the envelope in half and pass on the stamped half to me if that is easier. The stamps eventually find their way (via the Uniting Church) to collectors who would prefer to have plenty of envelope around the stamp.

Please also save corks and pass them on to me – the elephants at the Zoo benefit. You will usually find me at the Trading Table.

TRADING TABLE NEWS

Many thanks to all members who supported our "Lucky Bags" – I am sure you were pleased with the contents! Thanks also to those who support the Trading Table by bringing produce, good books, etc.

As we are having our November meeting at different premises, there is no Trading Table that day, but we are looking for extra special contributions for our December meeting back at the Uniting Church Hall. We will be set up under the verandah to allow extra room for activities inside.

CAKE RAFFLE

At our December Coffee Morning, we will be having a special raffle – as well as the cake, we will have a bowl of fruit and a basket of toiletries. Tickets will still be 50cents each.

Many thanks to all those who baked cakes and/or sold tickets this year; your assistance has been very much appreciated. I am still looking for cake-makers – you are likely to be asked only once every two years, depending on the number of volunteers. Please see me at the Trading Table or phone me, Marie Twyford, on 5474 2739 (email bobtwy@hotmail.com).

Deadline for the December Newsletter is 3pm Monday 21st November

AUSTRALIAN HISTORY

GEOFF WALKER 5470 6652

For the last series for the year we are looking at the historical evolution of the Australian Constitution.

At the October sessions Geoff gave us a timeline view of the constitutional development of the government of the states and territories, and the growth of the development of the national Australian government structure.

At the group meetings in November we shall be having biographical studies of several of the Australian Prime Ministers, e.g., Alfred Deakin, William Hughes, Joseph Lyons, Robert Menzies. These sessions will be at 2.00pm on Monday 14th and Monday 28th November, at the home of Graeme and Jane Quinn, Barkers Creek, a couple of doors before you get to the Old England Hotel. It will be good to see you there.

DABBLING IN HISTORY

PETER STEPHENS 5472 3904

The November meeting of Dabbling in History which will probably be our last will be led by Fred van Amelsvoort and the topic is a history of propaganda. If you would like to attend please bring an example of propaganda along to discuss.

COLD WAR

TOM COMERFORD 5470 6230

The final session of the year will be on November 16. Its focus will be on 'Tearing Down the Curtain' - the people's revolution in Eastern Europe.

Each member of the class has been asked to prepare some notes for the respective East European countries which were influenced by the policies of President Gorbachev of the USSR. Any one who would like to join the discussion would be made very welcome. The group meets at Kevin Hurleys Castlemaine home at 10.00 am. Ring Kevin for directions if you are new to this course.

FRIDAY MORNING GARDEN GROUP

SHIRLEY CURNOW 5472 1729

The outing in October was to see the irises at Richard Lay's place at Lockwood and what a fantastic experience it was to see those beautiful blooms, even though it was a bit damp. Several of our folk were unable to come.

The programme for November, our last outing for 2011, will be a visit, and experience of, the garden at the home of Peter and Sandie at Woodend. We shall meet in the UCA carpark, a little before 10.00am on Friday 18th November. Please bring a lunch -- tea, coffee will be supplied.

ISSUES OF CONCERN

CAROL DORMAN 5472 4429

A new member joined us this month - welcome to Martin.

Subjects have been varied, as usual. Gina Rinehart, Australia's richest person, wrote a piece in the Australian Resources & Investment magazine outlining her vision for northern Australia as a free trade zone. As well as free trade she sees this zone as free of taxation and populated by plenty of temporary labour from overseas. Her arguments are:

(1) That new taxes from the federal Labour government are killing investment in mining forcing companies offshore and slowing down the mining boom.

(2) To encourage Australians to move north we need to tax them less, cut payroll and company tax, and stamp duty. Failing that we should offer very poor people in neighbouring Asian countries the opportunity of guest labour work in Australia.

Her second point seems to ignore that incentives to work in mines are already extremely generous - the average wage in mining is $149,000 and tradesmen can often earn more.

An interesting pie chart in Spiegel Online revealed that the world's largest weapons exporters are USA - 34.6%, Russia 24.2% and Germany 9.4%. Even more interesting was that the largest importers of German weapons were Greece and Turkey followed by South Africa, South Korea, Australia and Spain.

Two researchers from Curtin University suggest that population growth and sustainability might be complementary. Their proposal is that population growth plus the consequent economic growth might lead to the creation of low-carbon technologies and more efficient infrastructure. The question is not "how many people are sustainable?" but "how can any number of people live more sustainably?"

Protests against coal seam gas mining are increasing with a rally occurring in the Illawarra on October 16th which called for a moratorium on and a Royal Commission into the coal seam gas industry. With Sydney's radio shock jock, Alan Jones stating his opposition to CSG mining, the protesters have a powerful spokesman.

Qantas CEO, Alan Joyce clearly wants to move Qantas operations offshore. One worry is that maintenance manuals are written in English but the manuals from the US are written in American English. The different types of English may be interpreted differently - could lead to problems.

We were all shocked at the suicide of a 27 year old Sri Lankan refugee and the callous attitude of the Immigration Department towards his requests to be allowed to celebrate a religious festival. The GetUp website has a petition which can be signed by anyone who wants to try and stop these tragic events happening.

CHRISTMAS TREE GIVING

A Christmas tree will be set up at our December meeting and we ask that you bring a gift for those less fortunate than ourselves. This year the Committee has elected to support the local Uniting Church Charity. We have been advised by them that the best way in which we can contribute to a Christmas Appeal is to place money in an envelope rather than give goods. Members are asked to contribute whatever they can afford to support this group that gives Christmas charity and cheer to those in need, irrespective of the denomination or creed.

MOVIES OF MERIT

JOHN WALDIE 0400 858 581

This course continues to be well supported, but a number of attendees have left due to illness or conflicts with other courses. We now have a smaller but very dedicated group of around 20 and we're delighted that David Stretch has continued to allow us to attend his theatre despite closing it on Mondays and Tuesdays to the general public.

Since the September newsletter, we have seen nine films, all chosen for their high ratings by international and local reviewers and their ability to stimulate the audience. It's not easy to look at a film simultaneously as a viewer and as an analyst, but we are succeeding!

The titles shown (with our respective approval ratings in brackets) are Battleship Potemkin (81.8%), Forbidden Games (65.6%), La Strada (66.8%), Mephisto (81.3%), It Happened One Night (75.7%), Aguirre, the Wrath of God (67.2%), The Road Home (78.9%), The Battle of Algiers (81.3%) and Spring, Summer, Autumn, Winter...and Spring (84.8%).

The last showing this year will be on December 5th, and we're delighted to announce that this course will run in 2012, starting in January. More information will be given in the December newsletter.

MUSIC APPRECIATION – 3/8/11

BRUCE BAUD 5472 4574

Today there were just 2 composers, Mozart (1756 - 1791) and Mendelssohn (1809 - 1847). We started with Mozart's symphony No 41 in C, K551, known as the Jupiter Symphony. This was the last of a final group of 3 symphonies that Mozart wrote in 4 weeks during the summer of 1788. The symphony is in 4 movements, about 37 minutes in length, and a pleasure to listen to. The next was Mendelssohn's Wedding March from 'A Midsummer Nights Dream'. Unlike church weddings, we heard the complete march. The rest of the program was all Mendelssohn, which included the next work, a Sonata for violin and piano in F Minor opus 4. This remarkable work was written when he was 14 years old. After coffee break we heard The Overture to a Midsummer Nights Dream. He wrote this 3 years later. Discussing the work with Bruce it was decided the complete Work would be played at the November meeting. It is about 44 minutes in length and you do wonder how a 17 year old could write such a complex piece of music. The morning concluded with the Symphony No 4, known as 'The Italian'. Mendelssohn at this stage was 24 and had an international reputation as a pianist, conductor and composer. The 'Italian' though listed as his 4th symphony is actually his 16th. He did not consider the other 12 worth numbering. This was a fine conclusion to the morning's music and much more can be written about Mendelssohn.

~ Brian Willis

RENAISSANCE FAMILIES

TOM COMERFORD 5470 6230

The Orsini's of Rome form the basis of our current study. The Orsini were particular rivals of the Colonna family and the intrigue between these two families will be highlighted as we look at significant political members, the many cardinals, the women and the significant scientists, artists and poets of each family. We now meet each Friday at 10.00am at the Castlemaine home of Tom and Cristobel Comerford. In the month of November the group will not meet on November 11 and the final meeting for the year will be Friday, November 25.

SIGNPOSTS IN ENGLISH: HISTORY OF ENGLISH LANGUAGE

DIANA COLLIER 5443 0137

Spelling, pronunciation became marks of literacy, of education and learning (and later derivatively of social status/class) during Renaissance schooling. Today's similar preoccupations are a direct descendant of the idea of "correct spelling" invented by the pedants and pedagogues of the 16th and 17th centuries. Is language a reflection of society? Where does a 'native' word and a 'foreign' adopted word clash in spelling, in pronunciation and eventually in meaning. Are there standards? If so, who sets them? - Perhaps journalists, poets, (Shakespeare?), philologists (S.Johnson?). --- Following discussion of these pertinent questions, we will look at why language changes and why words change in meanings, and how some dictionaries reflect a hierarchy of meaning.

Convenor: Diana Collier 5443 0137 – Place: U3A Office – Time: 10.00 am to 11.30/12.00 m/d

Dates: 1st and 2nd Thursday in the month (3rd and 10th Nov.)

SINGING TOGETHER

Rae Hawkins 5472 3446

As usually happens in November, the Uniting Church Hall will be required for school exams. There will be no singing on November 1st as this is Cup Day, and an alternate venue will be arranged for November 8th, 15th and 22nd. Singers will be informed about this via e-mail and phone. We will be back in the Uniting Church Hall on November 29th.

Our last Singing Together for 2011 will take place at the Uniting Church Hall on Tuesday 6th December, and following our usual Christmas Plan, sing for the first half of our time and then have a shared afternoon tea. Could all members bring a small plate to share.

Many thanks to all in the choir for their continued enthusiasm. Singing Together will resume in 2012 on the Tuesday following the February Coffee Morning i.e. 7th February. See you all next year.

SOLO GROUP

BETTY HENCHMAN 5472 2139

Our next get-together will be at the home of Marie Anderson on Saturday 19th November at 12.30 pm.

Please ring Betty Henschman for directions to Marie's home.

An old man visited his solicitor to make a will. "What exactly do I have to do?" he asked. "It's perfectly straightforward", replied the solicitor. "Just answer a few questions and leave it all to me". The old man looked worried and said, "I do quite like you", "but I was planning to leave some of it to my wife".

Our Day at the Races

U3A has many avenues of learning for enjoyment as well as social events which take us to places we wouldn't normally visit.

One such recently was organised by our own Elizabeth Rider in conjunction with the Castlemaine Council's program for Seniors Week. A Day at the Races. Bendigo races. Not something I'd usually do but decided to be part of it just the same.

At the appointed time we all gleefully boarded the (free) bus under the guidance of our jovial local driver, Tony Tognolini, and, making good time, seemed to be the first there. Then, like Mr Brown's Cows following the leader, trooped into the spacious 'Silks' restaurant where reservations had been made for us. A good, substantial cheap lunch, and then the excitement began.

First race! Woohoo! $2 on the nose! Not one nose but three! Did I win? – No way. Next race, more circumspect this time. $1 to win and $1 to place. One horse only. Did I win? – No way.

Race 3. Race 4. Race 5 the same. But that didn't matter. It was the anticipation and excitement of being so close to those beautiful creatures, the horses I mean, as they paraded for our admiration. Knowing by body language those which knew what they were there for and eager to get going, and those such as 'Whisky Galore' who didn't want to be there and was not going out there "with all that lot". His spectacular tantrum proved his point. Was that a triumphant smirk I saw as he was led back to his snug box? What a comedian he was.

There was the 'scientific' method of picking a winning jockey by the colour of his silks. That didn't work either but all was forgotten in the thunder of the horses hooves as they flashed by the winning post. Maybe the grey would win next time?

All made for a wonderful day at the races and one that I hope will be repeated next year. Before what seemed a very short time, the last race had been run and we were back on the bus comparing wins and losses. A very good day. Thanks Elizabeth.

NOTES

A PRAYER FOR COMPUTERS

Spirit. Empower my computer, enliven it. Make its pixels glow. When I throw its switch, boot it righteously up.

Give silicon strength to bear its burden of bits and bytes and pacify its parts; reconcile printer and modem, scanner and sound card. Quicken its CPU and bring its hard drive home. Maintain its circuits in tranquility, its buses clear, its latches clean. Gore not its box.

Shepherd it as it grazes on the net; protect it from corruption, from viruses and worms. Let it browse in peace.

Constrain its temperament by physics, forbid it surliness and mood. Preserve its innocence. Save the soul of it as a new machine, only lend it the intelligence of a newt that knows to come out of the rain, to realize I meant to type save instead of shut down.
