EIGHTY SEVEN PARK

RENZO PIANO

Courtesy City Project online

Eighty Seven Park, a planned 20-story tower, will replace the 10-story Howard Johnson Dezerland Hotel, originally known as Biltmore Terrace. Renzo Piano Building Workshop, Kobi Karp Architecture & Interior Design, and WEST 8 Urban Design & Landscape Architecture are designing the project. With features such as a gym and spa, rooftop terrace, and an underground parking garage, the condo will be surrounded by a forest of 200 trees that will infiltrate the ground floor lobby, creating a connection between the outside and inside worlds.
