To Whom it may concern,

Dublcheck cleaning has hired the services of Richard Sumner at Spreadsheet Solutions at the beginning of this year.

The project involved developing a complex set of interactive pricing models based on time & motion studies for the cleaning industry.

Working with Richard over these few months has been a really positive eye opener and a truly pleasant experience.

Richard has been nothing less than enthusiastic, professional, and forward-thinking in his approach and has come up with some invaluable ideas.

Needless to say that Richard's end product has paid for itself within two months, and enabled our business to open a significant gap from our competitors, and perhaps even pioneer the entire industry in this particular field. I would estimate that thanks to Richard and his expertise we are now in a position to win tens of thousands of pounds worth of contracts by the end of this year alone that we wouldn't have done otherwise.

Even once the project was over Richard was always prompt in responding to any queries we might have had and his continues support has been phenomenal.

I would highly recommend Richard's services as his expertise helped transform our business.

Kind regards
