

LIBEAC PROJECT

Liberalism in Between China and Europe

WORKSHOP ON POLITICAL, PHILOSOPHICAL AND LEGAL ASPECTS OF LIBERALISM IN A COMPARATIVE PERSPECTIVE

Peking University School of Government - Beijing, China

22nd July 2013, 9.00 - 12.30 am

PRESENTATION

The LIBEAC project is among the few elite projects selected by the Research Executive Agency (REA) of the European Commission inside the Seventh Framework Programme for Research and Technological Development (FP7-PCRD). Inside the 2007-2013 50 billion euros FP7-PCRD, LIBEAC belongs to the category PEOPLE-IRSES project. This 588,000.00 IRSES project officially started the 1st January 2013 and finished the 31th December 2016. It aimed at improving international mobility of researchers among the world and especially between European countries (in the current case France, Italy and Czech Republic) and Third Countries partners countries (in the current case China) in order to foster the emergence of multidisciplinary and multicultural research network.

8:30 – 9:00 REGISTRATION

9:00 – 9:30 INTRODUCTION

Jean-Yves HEURTEBISE, LIBEAC Global Vice-Coordinator at Aix-Marseille University (CEPERC-UMR 7304), France

Paolo FARAH, LIBEAC Research Team Coordinator at University Institute of European Studies (IUSE) in Turin, Italy

9:30 – 10:00

Jean-Yves HEURTEBISE, LIBEAC Vice-Coordinator at Aix-Marseille University (CEPERC-UMR 7304), Affiliate Scholar, Kotzmetski Global Collaboratory, Stanford University, & Visiting Assistant Professor at National Dong Hua University

“Modernization Theory and Liberalism in China”

10:00 – 10:30

Paolo FARAH, Edge Hill University, Department of Law & Criminology (United Kingdom), LIBEAC Research Team Coordinator at University Institute of European Studies (IUSE) in Turin and EU Commission Marie Curie Fellow at Peking University School of Government

“Globalization, Liberalism and Western Concepts of Intellectual Property Law : A Need of Protection of the Rights of Indigenous People and the Cultural Diversity in Contemporary World”

10:30 – 11:00

Jean-Sébastien GHARBI, Aix-Marseille University (GREQAM-UMR 6579), & Marie Curie Fellow at Peking University, School of Government:

“Political Philosophy and Public Economics, A Comparative Analysis of Their Relation in the Eastern and Western Liberal Thoughts”

11:00 – 11:30

BAI Guimei, Peking University, School of Law:

“The So-called Bilingual Education in Xinjiang Minority Autonomous Region”

11:30 – 13:00

ROUND TABLE AND COMMENTS:

Paolo FARAH LIBEAC Research Team Coordinator at University Institute of European Studies (IUSE) in Turin

Jean-Sébastien GHARBI, Aix-Marseille University (GREQAM-UMR 6579)

BAI Guimei, Peking University, School of Law

Jean-Yves HEURTEBISE, LIBEAC Vice-Coordinator at Aix-Marseille University (CEPERC-UMR 7304)

ZHU Tianbiao, Peking University, School of Government.

This workshop has been organized in partnership with

With the support of:

Aix-Marseille
université

RESURGENTES
SOCIAL SCIENCES & MATHEMATICS

