Mayor warns vs. investment scams

BAGUIO CITY – Mayor Mauricio Domogan on Wednesday warned anew the public to be careful in joining investment companies especially those collecting large sums to avoid becoming victims of scams.

The mayor issued the warning as complaints against a company identified as Bullion Buyer Ltd. reached him last week.

The company invited the mayor to serve as inspirational speaker in its recent event supposedly for the “launching of books and livelihood program for beneficiaries” and the mayor’s presence was reportedly taken by some prospective investors as an endorsement and guarantee of the firm’s legitimacy.

The complainants however reportedly found out that it was not registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) and lodged complaints with the National Bureau of Investigation.

The mayor clarified that he is not in any way connected with the company and was there merely to

Mt. Province as drug-free

BONTOC, Mountain Province - Mountain Province is now cleared of illegal drugs following intensive campaign against the drugs menace and the Philippine National Police (PNP) and local officials here are set to formally declare the province as drug-free.

PNP Provincial Director P/SSupt. Tello Ngis-o said he has coordinated with local chief executives in the province to officially declare the 144 barangays of the ten towns as drug-free on February 14.

Ngis-os said that as of December 13, 2016, the 144 barangays of the province complied with the 16 parameters set by the Dangerous Drug Board for declaring a barangay as drug-free, adding that the Philippine Drug Enforcement Agency subsequently validated the drug-cleared barangays.

Since the start of the PNP's Double Barrel Project or the government's anti-illegal drug campaign in July last year, the local police was able to account a total of 459 drug personalities in the province with 441 surrendered to the police, 17 arrested and one killed. Of the 459 drug suspects, 46 are pushers and 413 are users of either marijuana or shabu.

Residents of two barangays where marijuana eradication operations were conducted manifested support against marijuana cultivation by signing an oath of commitment.

Ngis-o said that even with the declaration of the province as drug-free province, the local police in coordination with local officials will intensify information campaign against illegal drugs.

We have to continue containing and monitoring our drug personalities to prevent them from returning to their drug vices, he said.

Ngis-o is recommending for the creation of Municipal Drug Action Centers to focus on the rehabilitation of the drug victims and to continue educating the local populace on the ill-effects of illegal drugs.

Last month, some 55 drug surrenderers in the municipality of Bauko graduated from a three-month rehabilitation session given by Master Del Pe (MDP) of the MDP Foundation and Clean Life Program. The graduates, who vowed not to go back to illegal drug use, showed zero negative drug tests after their rehab sessions.

Ngis-o attributed the success of the illegal drug campaign to the support of the local officials, non-government organization and other stakeholders in the province. /JDP/ ABD-PIA CAR, Mountain Province#

Search on for 2017 Outstanding Women Leaders of Baguio

BAGUIO CITY - Do you know of a Baguio woman who has made significant contribution to the development of Baguio or to the welfare of its people who you want to be recognized?

Nominate her to the search for 2017 Outstanding Women Leaders (OWLS) which was recently launched by the city government.

Patti Gallardo, Chairperson of the Search for OWLS, said the search accentuates the real, honest-to-goodness accomplishments of women. It hails them who choose to go the extra mile in the name of genuine service for the welfare and benefit of humanity.

"It underscores their unwavering commitment and dedication to their work, whether with or without compensation, the inherent danger they face in the course of their work, and in some cases, their physical handicap or disability. Their resolve is to create a positive impact on society and a niche in the hearts of the people they serve", she added

To qualify, one must be a leader recognized as a symbol of leadership in her specific field of work; must have a significant role in the promotion of the general welfare and development of Baguio City; Must have never been found guilty and BAGUIO CITY - Colder weather continues to be felt here in the Summer Capital of the country with the temperature dipping to 10.5 degrees Celsius this morning.

Engr. Larry Esperanza of PAGASA - Baguio confirmed that the 10.5 temperature monitored Friday morning was the lowest so far for this year. Lower temperatures earlier recorded were 10.8 degrees Celsius in Jan. 25 and 11.2 degrees Celsius last February 8, 2016.

Esperanza said the cold weather may prevail until the third week of February.

Meantime, the Department of Health advised the public to protect themselves from the cold weather to prevent Influenza-like illnesses and other cold weather-related virus and diseases.

DOH Asst. Regional Director Dr. Amelita Pangilinan, in a Kapihan media forum Thursday, reported 268 cases of Influenza Like Illnesses recorded in the region from January 1 to January 26. Though the figure is around 75 percent decrease compared to the 1081 cases recorded during the same period last year, Pangilinan still advised the public to protect themselves from the cold weather as prevention is still the best way to combat any sickness.

She reminded the public to boost their immune system, be healthy, keep yourself warm, drink a lot of water, eat more fruits, have enough sleep and manage stress.

Dr. Mylenen Genuino of the Baguio General Hospital and Medical Center, in the same forum, advised those with heart problems and hypertension to be wary of the cold weather as it may cause constriction of the heart and increase blood pressure. /JDP/CCD & Liezl Libiran - PIA CAR/UC Intern#

PCOO-ASEAN Roadshow tackles Presidential Task Force on Media Security

BAGUIO CITY - Making good his promise that with his administration comes the protection of press freedom, President Rodrigo Duterte issued Administrative Order No. 1 on October 11, 2016 creating the Presidential Task Force on Media Security (PTFMS) to serve as a pro-active measure for the protection of media workers and to ensure that the families of media killing victims will get justice.

Undersecretary

and PTFMS Executive Director Jose Joel Sy Egco explained during the 2017 ASEAN-PCOO Roadshow on February 3 at Hotel Elizabeth here that press freedom is one of the most important pillars of democracy. Pres. Duterte has made it clear that his government will not allow media killings to continue nor to suppress or intimidate media workers. Hence ensuring the protection and security of media workers who are victims of torture, violation of their human rights and threats to their safety is imperative.

Egco explained that media workers are the legitimate members of the so-called Fourth Estate like reporters, anchorpersons or commentators, columnists, cameramen and photographers of the print, radio and television media.

Media worker killings under AO No. 1 have the following characteristics: the victim is a media worker, the victim was targeted and killed because he or she is a media worker, those responsible for his or her convicted of any administrative or criminal offense; must be a resident of Baguio City for at least ten years, not necessarily continuously.

Gallardo informed that the screening, validation and evaluation processes shall focus more on the identification of the most outstanding accomplishments achieved by and attributable to the Nominee, as exemplified by innovative interventions or outputs initiated and/or implemented by the nominee, singly or in collaboration with other individuals.

Criteria for evaluating accomplishments include noteworthiness of the outstanding performance or contributions, results/impact of performance, reliability and effectiveness, and consistency of performance.

For further details about the search, contact the Search Secretariat from the City Social Welfare and Development Office located at Upper Session Road Extension, with telephone nos. 442-7893/442-3842 and look for Ms. Dolores Busacay.

Deadline for submission of nominations and requirements will be at 5:00PM on February 20, 2017.

Spearheaded by the City Government of Baguio, the OWLS and the holding of corresponding awards program are among the main activities being undertaken annually to highlight the Kababaihan Festival in observance of Women's Month in March. (JDP/MAWC-PIA CAR)#

Mayor declares CARAA 2017 a success

BAGUIO CITY – Mayor Mauricio Domogan has declared this year's Cordillera Administrative Region Athletic Association (CARAA) games a success during the closing program Wednesday at the Baguio Athletic Bowl. Hosting the prestigious annual athletic event for the third straight year, the Summer Capital retained its title as over-all champions in both the elementary and secondary divisions.

Domogan reminded the athletes that just by being part of their delegations and participating in the week-long activity make them all winners. He also congratulated those who were able to garner medals in their respective fields including the coaches and officials of each delegation.

"The CARAA games are being conducted not only to discover the athletic talent of young people but also to inculcate sportsmanship, camaraderie and fair play," he said.

The Mayor also emphasized the importance of sports in bringing people together despite whatever differences there may be.

"The happiness of parents is to see their children succeed. May our young athletes continue to hone their skills and talents as they climb the ladder of life and meet success in whatever endeavor they choose to pursue," Domogan said.

He commended and thanked all the offices, agencies, departments and all others who took part in making this year's CARAA activity a success including the schools where the athletes were billeted and the police for ensuring their safety.

Baguio not on red alert status -- Mayor

BAGUIO CITY – Baguio is not on red alert status.

This was the statement of Mayor Mauricio Domogan belying circulating messages through texts and social media that the city is under red alert status. He said that these are not from the authorities but may serve as precautions.

"We are safe in Baguio. We are not on red alert status. While our neighboring municipality is on heightened alert due to the hot pursuit being done by the Philippine National Police and the Philippine Army against those who caused the burning of two trucks of Philex Mines at Camp 4, Tuba, Benguet yesterday morning, February 9, Baguio city remains peaceful and on preemptive alert," he said.

The Mayor is appealing to the public not to get worried or alarmed with the 300 police trainees scattered within the city, "since they are trainees who will stay with us in the city for 6 months".

"Let us not panic but rather be vigilant," Domogan stressed.

The Mayor is now in Ifugao to preside over the Regional Peace and Order Council (RPOC) with PRO-COR regional director Elmo Sarano, DILG regional director Marlo Iringan, other local chief execs and members of RPOC-CAR.

"We assure each and everyone that the region is under control and peace and order is in state," he said. / Gaby Keith#

Liquor ban contributes to Ifugao town's peace and order

ASIPULO, Ifugao - The ban on selling of liquor and other intoxicating drinks has greatly contributed to the peace and order situation of the municipality.

Senior Police Officer 4 Richard Buhong of the Asipulo Municipal Police Station bared this in a radio program. The municipality as a liquor-free place is attained through the collaborative efforts of local officials and the community as a whole, he said.

The barangay councils of the nine regular barangays and three special economic zones had passed ordinances banning the selling of liquor in their respective places. Even the "baya" (native wine) is included in the ban.

UP in the time of Duterte: 'Observe, speak up for the truth'

But outgoing University of the Philippines president Alfredo Pascual admits the UP community is very divided over one issue: extrajudicial killings

MANILA, Philippines — With all that is happening in the country today, outgoing University of the Philippines (UP) president Alfredo Pascual said the country's premier state university "should not be fettered by political forces" in performing its role in Filipino society.

"I think UP should continue to be observant, and should speak up for what it believes to be the truth. It has always performed that role, and it should continue to do so. It should not be fettered by political forces," Pascual told Rappler in an interview.

After serving for 6 years, Pascual will step down as UP president on Friday, February 10. He will turn over the presidency to Danilo Concepcion, dean of the UP College of Law.

Asked about the kind of issues on which UP should speak up, Pascual was quick to mention the peace process.

"Making sure the peace process is maintained, that's very critical. Any support we can give to that," he said.

He added that the issue on extrajudicial killings is "popular" today, but he admitted that the UP community is very divided about it, with "no consensus within."

"Of course, before the [UP] president issues a statement, he feels the pulse.... I think UP should reflect the pulse of the people, because we are supposedly the university of the people," Pascual said, as he explained why UP has not come out with a statement on the issue.

But recalling the Martial Law years, Pascual said the university must speak up "when the rights of the majority are being trampled upon."

UP students were among those who fought hard during Martial Law, as the Diliman campus became "a center of dissent against the national administration."

"The indignation against extrajudicial killings is not widespread, surprisingly," Pascual said when asked if no rights are being trampled upon by the Duterte administration's war on drugs.

"I think it's also a reflection of the fact that people really suffered a lot in the days when criminality was the rule. Although criminality has not yet completely been wiped out, I think there's less crime now. It has not been totally eradicated yet, it's hard to eradicate criminality, we're a big country," he said in a mix of English and Filipino.

Since July 2016, police have tallied more than 7,000 deaths in the war on drugs, with more than 2,000 of these attributed to police operations. The rest, however, are victims of vigilante-style or unexplained killings, which the police call "deaths under investigation."

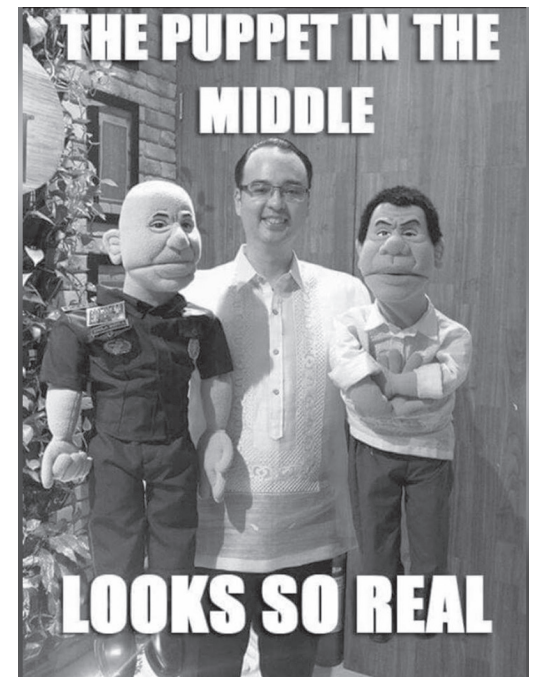

President Rodrigo Duterte stopped the police's anti-drug operations almost 7 months into the campaign.

How vocal should UP be? Pascual said that "short of issuing a statement," the university should continue to discuss issues confronting the country in public forums.

"At the minimum, that should be the role of UP: promote the free discussion of issues, to ventilate the issues confronting the country, because that's important," he said. / Rappler.com#

THE STORY OF THE BOY JESUS BEING FOUND IN THE TEMPLE: Why would the Bible carry an account of a relatively uneventful story of Jesus being left behind by His parents in Jerusalem who, after three (3) days of searching for Him, would find Him in the company of teachers in the temple courts? The objective, once again, was to show that Jesus was no ordinary boy, and that He was in fact disclosing His being God and Savior early on!

UBIAL MUST RE-FOCUS WORK ON SEXUAL PROMISCUITY OF THE YOUTH: If Health Secretary Paulyn Jean B. Rosell Ubial really wanted to address sexual promiscuity that often leads to early marriages or unwanted teen pregnancies, she must re-focus her energies towards inculcating good manners and right conduct among Filipino children, with a deep emphasis on spirituality.

That way, she would be able to truly introduce change the mindset of the youth today, which is now steeped in disrespect for and contempt of parents and any and all forms of authority, permissiveness anchored on lack of moral values, and absence of fear and love of God that are often the breeding ground for crime and corruption.

Ubial should be told that handing out condoms to the young, blocking porn sites in the Internet, and distributing print materials showing photos of people afflicted with sexually transmitted diseases will not deter sexual promiscuity nor early marriages or unwanted teen pregnancies.

RETRAINING FOR SECRETARY UBIAL NEEDED? In fact, I will even suggest to Ubial to consult motivation and spiritual speakers in the likes of Francis Kong, Pastor Ed Lapiz and even Brother Jurem Ramos (who is from Davao City like her) to learn from them what ails the Philippine society in general, and the Filipino youth in particular, and then carry whatever they may prescribe as cure for misbehavior and recreant attitudes among the young.

I am sure Kong, Lapiz, and Ramos will tell Ubial that young children can now engage in sexual adventurism even at a very young age, precisely because they are no longer being taught good manners and right conduct and, more importantly, spiritual values that are necessary to mold them into good individuals and, later on, responsible citizens of the Republic.

If Ubial does not seem to consider the teaching of good manners and right conduct and spiritual values as important in molding the character of the youth and in bringing about a citizenry that is productive and progressive, somebody should tell her to undergo an urgent re-orientation and a re-training so she could focus on what is truly important in making a citizen a good

It is the a primary policy of the PTFMS to consider as "work-related" any incident of threat, harassment, assault or killing because of the practice of their profession or occupation as media workers in order that speedy action such as investigation and pursuit for the arrest of the suspects and masterminds be undertaken, Egco said.

The Task Force will also be pro-active by acting on reports of any threat or danger that are being faced by media workers so that these will not worsen and turn into violence, intimidation, torture or killings.

Egco informed that the PTFMS was ordered to make an inventory and assessment of all cases of media killings and threats. After the assessment, a Special Team will start its investigation especially to high profile cases that are still unresolved.

Pres. Duterte's AO 1 makes him only world leader who has created a task force to ensure a safe environment for media workers, according to Egco.

When People Forget that Teachers are Humans

We often hear people say that teachers are the reason why other professions are created.

Teaching is the noblest profession and more. These appreciation inspires us more to continue working in mentoring the next generation. But sometimes, it is a burden we carry all throughout our career. Because of these high regards that the people have on us, most often than not they forget that teachers are humans too.

When people forget that teachers are frail as them, they criticize us beyond limit. They scrutinize us with the most powerful microscope they had and try to bring out even the smallest mistakes. And when they bring it out, they make sure it is well magnified for all the people to see.

When people forget that teachers are human, they also forget how to forgive us. When we make mistakes they want to see us suffer. As they think our suffering bring justice to them.

Teachers are humans too. The mistakes you made is the same with theirs. They deserve forgiveness and understanding. Most of all, they deserve Love.

One thing is clear, here they don't want compromise they want to be the one on the top. That is why they are halting negotiations. If worse comes to worst, we the civilian are the most affected. I hope they can see that and have a change of heart.#

MAGKASANGGA TAYO

Digong pinalaki ng husto ang ulo ng PNP!!!

(Reprint from last week)

BY: NESTOR "PAKEN" CASTRO

Ano ba namang klaseng Presidente itong si Digong, para lamang sa isang kaso ng isang Koreanong negosyante na kinatay (allegedly) ng mga opisyal ng PNP mismo sa PNP headquarters ay nawalan na siya ng tiwala sa PNP-AKG. Paano na yung libu-libong mga EJK (allegedly) sa ating mga mahihirap na kababayan, ok lang ano Mr. Digong? Ayon nga kay Teresita Ang Syang isang matinding advocate against kidnapping sa Chinese community ay mayroon halos isang dosenang tokhang for ransom na naganap na bagama't hindi lang inirereport sa mga kapulisan.

Kapag isang Koreano ay kinatay sa isang mala karumaldumal na sitwasyon ay biglang nagulantang itong si Mr. Digong at bigla nang nawalan na ng tiwala sa PNP at pati na rin sa NBI.

Katawa-tawa sapagkat biglang ipinatigil sa PNP ni Mr. Digong ang operasyon laban sa droga at PDEA na lang daw ang magsasagawa ng mga operasyon. Ano kaya ang akala ni Mr. Digong, mga santo-santita ang mga na sa PDEA? Hi! Hi! Hi!

Sa tutuo lang ay hindi naman kataka-taka ang naging pag-asta at pag-kilos ng PNP sapagkat dati naman nang katanggap-tagggap ang impormasyon at ang imahe na ang PNP ang isa sa pinaka-korap among the government offices/agencies kaya hindi naman kataka-taka ang nangyari sa Koreano.

O ngayon, porket Koreano at foreigner ay nagulantang itong si Mr. Digong ngunit kung kapwa Pinoy na mahihirap ay ok lang na katayin sila at case closed pa, at siyempre ay full back up si Mr. Digong sa kanyang kapulisan.

Nakalimutan na ba ni Mr. Digong ang kanyang mga paulit-ulit na pronouncements on national TV na mayroon na siyang mga signed na parol at pardon para sa mga kapulisan na makukulong? Nakalimutan na ba ni Mr. Digong ang kanyang pinagsasabi na full support at back up siya sa mga kapulisan hinggil sa kanilang mga pinapatay at bibigyan pa niya ng parangal ang maraming mapapatay at siyempre sabi rin ni Mr. Digong na tutulungan niya ang mga kapulisan pag dating sa kanilang mga legal defense na kung kailanganin nila ng abogado este abogado ay bibigyan niya sila ng abogado. Sa tutuo lang ay hindi lang naman ito ang mga pinag sasabi ni Mr. Digong na sa aking palagay at sinabi na rin sa akin ng ilan sa aking mga kaibigang pulis na tunay na lumakas ng husto ang kanilang loob sapagkat full support si Mr. Digong sa kanila.

Kung tutuusin ay wala namang masama sa magsabi ng full support ka sa mga pulis basta alam nila na pare-parehas ang trato niya sa lahat at walang palakasan na katulad ng nakita natin sa kanyang pagtrato kay P/Supt. Marcos na ang kanyang grupo ang kumatay kay Mayor Espinosa the alleged drug lord, pero wala rin. O ngayon sa dinami-dami ng pinagsasabi ni Mr. Digong hinggil sa suporta sa PNP at sa mga encounter, pagpatay etc..., malinaw naman na pinalaki niya ng husto ang ulo ng maraming mga kawani ng PNP, kaya kung sabihin nila sa ingles ay You Created a Monster Mr. Digong, a monster that will eventually eat you up alive.#

Baguio registers 10,000 live births last year

BAGUIO CITY – Mayor Mauricio Domogan has reiterated the importance for parents or guardians to inculcate the right values to their children or young wards.

He pointed out that education and guidance of young people should start at home so that children will be properly guided about their choices in life.

The chief executive made this statement after a report of the civil registry office revealed that 973 babies were delivered in the city by mothers 19 years of age and younger in 2016 with 13 babies by those below the age of 15 years.

The report was revealed in Monday's flag-raising ceremonies at city hall in celebration of Civil Registration Month with the theme, "Pilipinong Rehistrado, Matatag na Kinabukasan ay Sigurado".

Civil registry office head Sylvia Laudencia said that 10,298 live births were registered here last year representing a slight decrease as compared to those registered in 2015 at 10,345.

"Out of last year's total, 5,353 were males while 4,945 were females which mean that more boys than girls are still being born in the city," she said.

As to legitimacy, the report stated that 4,839 or 46.99 percent of the babies born last year were illegitimate or slightly lower than those born in 2015 with 4,871 or 47.09 percent.

Laudencia thanked the Mayor, Vice-Mayor Edison Bilog and members of the city council "for their continuous support to the civil registry office's programs". /Gaby Keith#

Decrease in infant deaths in Baguio, noted

BAGUIO CITY – The civil registry office has registered a total of 2,489 deaths in the city last year representing a 3.32 percent increase as compared to the 2,409 death registered in 2015.

The report was revealed in Monday's flag-raising ceremonies at city hall in celebration of Civil Registration Month with the theme, "Pilipinong Rehistrado, Matatag na Kinabukasan ay Sigurado".

Civil registry office head Sylvia Laudencia said, however, that infant deaths (those below one year of age) significantly decreased last year by 11.65 percent as compared to 2015.

"This decrease shows that the city's program on maternal and child health has been effective," she stressed.

Laudencia added that 1,336 or 53.68 percent of the total deaths registered last year where those aged 60 years and above.

In 2016, the report stated that 1,667 marriages took place in the city representing a 2.71 percent increase as compared to that registered in 2015. Of this number, 665 couples or 39.8 percent were married under civil ceremonies while 60.29 percent were solemnized by priests, pastors or imams.

As to its quasi-judicial function, the civil registry office processed 1,343 petitions for change of first name and correction of clerical errors last year generating P1,373,500 or 40.08 percent of its total collection of P3,426,200.

Laudencia thanked Mayor Mauricio Domogan, Vice-Mayor Edison Bilog and members of the city council "for their continuous support to the civil registry office's programs". /Gaby Keith#

Inmates support free dialysis campaign

BAGUIO CITY – Their Down life's miseries notwithstanding, inmates now called persons deprived of liberty (PDLs) at the Baguio City Jail do not let their confinement deter them from reaching out to the needy or support worthy causes.

Their latest cause – support the signature campaign to rally the public in urging the government to provide free dialysis treatment for all kidney patients undergoing the blood-cleansing procedure.

A total of 594 PDLs signed last week the petition along with the 88 personnel of the male and female dorms led by wardens

Elvis Luis Danglose and April Rose Ayangwa respectively. Like the numerous others who supported the campaign, the PDLs felt for the dialysis patients in their struggle to stay alive amid the financial strain of sustaining the lifetime treatment.

"I signed the campaign because I want to help those people to lessen their financial problems. May health problem na nga, dadagdag pa yung pag-iisip nila kung saan sila kukuha ng perang gagastusin," Freda noted.

"Pumirma po ako sapagkat alam ko po na ang pagdadialysis ay isang magastos na proseso. Paano na lang po ang mga mahihirap na may ganitong karam-daman?" Michelle asked.

The inmates were convinced that their signature could make a difference in the lives of the patients.

Carmina said, "Naniniwala ako na sa pamamagitan ng campaign na ito, matutulungan naming lahat ng mga dialysis patients."

"Pumirma ako sa kagustuhan kong maipadama sa mga taong nangangailangan ng tulong na hindi sila nag-iisa sa pakikibaka sa kanilang buhay," Joanne offered.

"Gusto kong maging kaisa sa paghikayat sa gobyerno na magkaroon ng libreng dialysis para sa mga taong may malubhang sakit," Lelibeth said.

Jam said she wanted to be an instrument to convey the plight of the patients to the government.

"Lalo na yung may mga talent na pwede pang makapagturo o ibahagi pa sa iba ang angking kaalaman," she said.

Jam was one of the participants in the free journalism training and workshop conducted by the Baguio Correspondents and Broadcasters Club at the city jail last Tuesday which BCBC president Ramon Dacawi, a dialysis patient, facilitated along with newshen and Alternative Learning System volunteer Nonette Bennett.

As a newsman and city government information officer, Dacawi had spearheaded various reformatory programs at the city jail for years making him practically the inmates' benefactor.

He had also inspired the inmates to do humanitarian acts through his writings of patients' appeal for help which drove the jailbirds on several occasions to pass the hat and help pool funds for patients with various illnesses.

Now it was time for their benefactor to wear the other shoe.

The inmates at the close of the journalism training announced that Dacawi will be among the beneficiaries in their dinner for-a-cause, yet another humanitarian project of the PDLs, which they will mount soon.

But more importantly, Dacawi will be among the thousands who will benefit should the signatures of the inmates and of countless others who joined the petition be counted and the clamor to make dialysis totally free in the country become a reality.

The BCBC and the Philippine Information Agency Cordillera headed by regional director Helen Tibaldo continued to appeal to government officials in the provincial, city, municipal and barangay levels in the region and in other parts of the country to support the campaign by approving resolutions requesting the Office of the President, the Senate and House of Representatives, the Department of Health, Philhealth and other national government agencies to come up with a unified Free Dialysis Health Program for the whole country.

They may base their measures on the BCBC resolution that can be downloaded from the petition posted at the said website (www.change.org and search for free dialysis petition; or through the following link: www.change.org/p/urge-president-rodrigo-roa-duterte-make-dialysis-treatment-free-for-all-filipinos) where people here and abroad can also register their support.

Meanwhile, sign-up sites for the campaign are at the city public information office and city councilors' offices at the Baguio City Hall, PIA-CAR in front of the Mansion, Luisa's Café along Session Road and the Baguio General Hospital dialysis section and Bookends along Calderon St. /Aileen P.
