Our work is designed to break down the complex issues surrounding your highly charged and highly challenging relationship. We partner with you to get you to the other side.

WHAT WE DO?

1. We partner to uncover real issues quickly, then we stay close to navigate the sea of emotions that are necessary to get you to your goal.
2. We help you to grow and unlock a greater capacity for understanding without forfeiting your own values.
3. Once the conflict has cleared, there is an amazing space opened for vision and renewal.
4. We then create a strategy for you to take with you for preferable way forward.

You will experience critical “aha” moments that enable you to unlock limiting beliefs that have been sabotaging your relationship. New skills & empowering beliefs will open new pathways to new possibilities.

WHAT CLIENTS SAY & EXPERIENCE

"Before beginning work with TPG, my husband & I, after 20 years of marriage were teetering on the verge of divorce. With many issues that had rocked the very foundation of our marriage, reconciliation & closeness seemed so far off. Bitterness over years of unresolved conflicts & unchanged behavior patterns had caused an unimaginable rift. After working with TPG, first thru a 3 day immersion (The Rewired Experience) everything shifted and hope opened a pathway. I remember driving Joel & Julie of TPG to the airport that Sunday afternoon, after our 1st 3 days together and turning around to say, "How is it that we had more change with you guys in 3 days than a therapist in 6 months?" I was amazed at how my world had opened up. We then continued to work with them over the next year and this brought our marriage and family to a much stronger place enjoying even greater times together. As a result of the newfound security between us, my husband was able to focus on his company with greater peace of mind & efficiency. His company turned around and we saw the onboarding new clients and new employees creating a renewed confidence and boost professionally and financially, the likes of which he had not enjoyed in many years. I was able to take responsibility for my own happiness, build my vision based on my strengths and values, becoming more centered and secure in myself and my marriage than I had ever been. I finally was able to claim my own unique value that I bring to this world separate and apart from my accomplishments as a wife & mother. My husband's newfound respect for me & my newfound appreciation for him have been 'gamechangers' for us.

Now living in the spirit of victory & possibility we are celebrating with a month long trip together abroad to support both my new endeavor & our new chapter in marriage. Wow, to think how 3 days changed the trajectory of my entire life and my family's. Here's to our next 20 years together! May they be their best yet!"

When this couple approached TPG, after 23 years of marriage they were living separately, had already begun the splitting up process after a years of therapy and Christian counseling. Both were so defeated & downcast, it was a palpable feeling even sitting in their presence or talking on the phone. But agreeing to give it one last shot, really more as a way to find their individual pathways forward than as a couple or a family, they flew out to LA to do our immersion (The Rewired Experience) with us. Sleeping in separate bedrooms, we worked with them to find their "3rd Option" and truly we witnessed a miracle. The were able to move thru some very stubborn limiting beliefs that had haunted them both for years, forgive & reconcile such a history that most would have been taken out by 20 years earlier. They concluded their work with us by creating their own preferable futures. And on their flight back home, began dreaming about creating their own production company, called Eleuthra, which means liberty.
