Role Playing

Evaluation Criteria

- Ability to comprehend spoken English and speak effectively on random chosen topics

Students will be asked to participate in one of scenarios listed below. The participants will speak for approximately 5 minutes.

1. You have a business lunch planned with your boss to discuss some concerns you have with a co-worker. You think your co-worker is trying to ruin your reputation in order to be promoted one day. Talk with your boss about what you think is the best way to resolve this issue.
2. You own a company and two of your employees are confused about their roles in the company. Schedule a meeting with them to discuss the two roles (marketing and customer service) and make sure that things are clear.
3. You have noticed your parents fighting a lot recently, and think they are going to be divorced. You know that right now neither of them are happy, and you want them to be happy, but you also want them to try and work the marriage out.
4. A cousin that you have not seen for a long time has come to visit. He/she is now living in a different country. You go outside to talk to him/her because you want to know what it's like to live in another country.
5. You have a friend that is from a different culture/religion, and want him/her to meet your family. Invite him/her to your home to meet your mum/dad.
6. You have met someone online that you have become very close to. He/she lives in a different country, and you would like to make plans to go meet them. You tell your friend and they are concerned about this and want to talk with you about it.
