Digitizing Your Original Artwork For Printmaking and Archiving

THE MOST CRITICAL STEP in reproducing any original art is by creating a high resolution, digitized copy of the original artwork. Our studio scanner scans up to 8200 dpi for flat items up to 12x18. For larger originals, image capture is handled by our large format BetterLight scanning cameras (211 & 384 megapixel resolution)

Mated with specialized optics and a HID lighting system that eliminates glare and reflection, we capture every nuance of detail from even the largest of originals. This one digital file may then be used to create a variety of print sizes and substrates. Canvas, watercolor papers, note cards, posters postcards, business cards, etc. Smaller art can be offered as prints in sizes much larger than the original!

If you have your own files that you consider sufficient for your needs, we suggest ordering proof prints to evaluate how your colors will look when printed on a specific media; An 8-1/2"x11" of the full image on any media paper or canvas we stock. A "detail" proof can also be requested to evaluate image quality at the desired final size.

THE IMPORTANCE OF QUALITY

"Like any other industry, the world of art operates mainly on reputation. Producing quality prints is paramount, as any substandard prints could adversely impact your reputation in the art world. Ultimately, it's worth investing in superior printing materials and services.

In short, you must ensure that your prints act as a faithful facsimile of the original. They should match the original in color, tone, texture, and detail as much as mechanically possible.

Remember, a high-quality print can be as beautiful as an original piece, and your customers will appreciate and value the attention to detail."

"My highest recommendation is Digital Arts Studio in Atlanta. They've been at the top of the digital fine art printing business for decades. And they are artists and great people you'll love to work with." – Barney Davey, Author, Webmaster, Art Marketing News

- HIGH RESOLUTION MASTER SCAN - Digital file format with enough resolution to clearly print reproductions even larger than your original.
- PRINTED 8-1/2 x 11 PROOF PRINT - Your entire image reduced to fit and watermarked. Choose any media to view the accuracy of your artwork. Expertly color matched and corrected. Proof prints take the guesswork out of visualizing how color accurate your prints will be. "DETAIL" proofs may be purchased to show image resolution and detail quality at any desired print size.
- 16 GB FLASH DRIVE - Contains full resolution master files in .TIF format. Also, web, email, and social media sized copies in JPG format.
- FILE ARCHIVE - Your master files are saved for fast and easy on demand print ordering and fulfillment.

We're proud to announce that DIGITAL ARTS STUDIO is now a Hahnemühle Platinum Certified Print Studio. Not only are we the ONLY print studio in Atlanta to be awarded Platinum status, we are one of only 6 studios in the world to be given this title by the global industry leader in digital inkjet fine art printing.

PRINT TIPS

We recommend including white borders around your images; at the very least, 1/2" on all sides will allow room for proper attachment to matting or general handling. We strongly suggest to increase the white space around an image to a larger, standard frame size. Wider borders (1-1/2 - 3") will "present" your images better, allow for signing and/or numbering prints, and make it easier and less expensive for your customer to frame. Odd sized images should be centered on a standard size.

To increase the life your giclées on paper, you should ask about appropriate preservation matting and framing. It is advisable to always handle and display your artwork carefully. Proper materials and handling will prolong the life of a print by protecting it in a stable environment. An experienced framer will be able to recommend the correct preservation materials to minimize fading and environmental factors such as airborne contaminants, pollution, heat, light, and humidity.

If match prints are provided, we will color correct in-house for $36.25 per image and make every effort to come as close as possible. Due to variations in paper types, ink sets and equipment, some color variations may still occur.
