Freckled Whimsy

Hello and Thank You

Hello my friends!

I wanted to take a moment and thank you for all your support and kind words. Without all of you my words would be just that, words. You give my blog meaning and purpose. You make it fun to design more patterns for you! There is nothing like the feeling that someone else took the time to make something you designed and shared it with everyone.

As a small token of my appreciation, I've created these two sweet little cards for your personal use for FREE! We all like FREE right?!

Included

* instructions
* 2 cards that will fit an A2 envelope when folded (Finished card size is 4.25" x 5.5")

Printing Cards

These PDF's are created using 8.5" x 11" sized paper. When printing, print at 100%. There is no need to scale these as they are already sized for proper printing.

Everyone's printer is different, as is the paper you use with your printer, so results may vary. I like to use heavy cardstock and print with the best quality if I am going to print them at home.

For the best quality, save the file to a jump (flash) drive and take it to your local printer. I used Office Max, but I know Staples, Fed Ex Office, or others of the like are equally as good.

Try using different papers, such as linen, too! Linen will give your cards a textured look for that extra touch of professionalism. Most printing stores will also let you bring in your own paper. This will make the printing cheaper, especially if you plan on printing a lot of them!

How To

Once printed, just crop on the marked lines, fold, and address as you like. Simple!
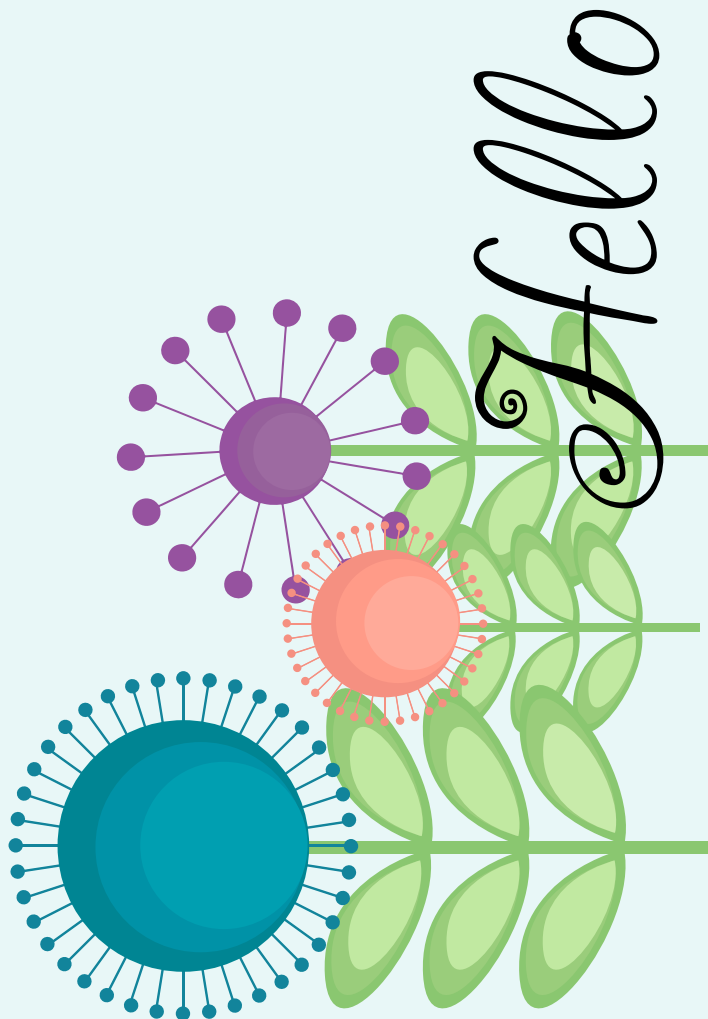

The Small Print

Show and Tell

If you take a photo of your project, please add #freckledwhimsy to your creation! I'd love to see how you use the design!

www.freckledwhimsy.com

Hello

Show and Tell

If you take a photo of your project, please add #freckledwhimsy to your creation! I'd love to see how you use the design!

THANKS

www.freckledwhimsy.com