

Non est quod timeas ne operam perdidideris, si tibi didicisti.
Lucio Anneo Seneca

With a scene increasingly dependent on the commercial suicide it is as if the constant acceleration imposed by this age means that one can only perceive the effect of movement, but not the cause. Common Series offers a skyline of the free and independent techno-global village. The dividing line between natural and artificial is constantly being reinvented and converted into a Dantesque travel about the discovery of the fantastic within the real. An indication of life on an expanse of electronic water where no vibration is lost.

It is the beginning of a new journey, among trees and clouds, earth and sky, thrown in a frame that captures the essence of a new musical experience. Common Series is proud to present the first sound interpretation and the fulfillment of the vinyl dream.

Three tracks of pure poetry, a natural walk towards the research of another half, the artificial one. Limits and boundaries are destroyed and reinvented to achieve an oasis where nothing else matters if not the past stories.
