THE INNOVANT EXPERIENCE

What we term “The Innovant Experience” is a reference to the unique collaborative design and development process we offer to our customer project teams. Our design and development experts bring unparalleled experience to our clients and their designers, offering insightful direction on product detailing, new functionality features, and efficient adaptation of standard and special materials. We are committed to enabling our clients to realize their vision without sacrificing speed and adherence to budget, and we accomplish this through a completely unique company culture.

Our product development, engineering, production and sales departments all work with the understanding that the best product design is often a combination of our award-winning furniture lines and features designed by the customer project team. In fact, we encourage clients who first visit Innovant to bring their design ideas forward so we can demonstrate our creativeness in delivering intelligent solutions.

We accelerate the process through the use of the fastest and most sophisticated rendering capability in the industry. Our photorealistic renderings are generated by real engineered components to provide the most accurate presentation of a client’s product. Combined with super-fast prototyping capability, we deliver a collaborative development environment that rapidly moves client teams towards consensus on critical design issues without fear of quality, cost or lead time issues.

AWARDS

In 2015, Innovant was honored for its exemplary product design by the annual Awards for Design Excellence (ADEX) competition. Sponsored by Design Journal Magazine, ADEX is the largest and most prestigious awards program for product design of furniture, fixtures and finishes marketed to the design trade. Innovant's FORM_AV and FORM_office Standing Height products were both given Platinum recognition, ADEX's highest award level.

At NeoCon 2012, Innovant's introduction of integrated sit-to-stand height adjustability within our FORM_office benching series earned us Best of Show in the benching category. Surfaces are individually adjustable to suit user requirements. Both height adjustability and benching are parallel trends in the North American furniture market that have been exceptionally and uniquely captured by FORM_office.

As a first time participant at IIDEX NeoCon Canada in 2010, Innovant earned a Silver award for Innovation with our FORM_office benching line by a panel of Canadian design industry leaders.
