ELECTRIC GUITARS

TALBO

Electric Guitar with an innovative metal body

TALBO's biggest feature is the innovative metal material (T-ALLOY) employed for the body. The metal body has the advantage of stability, unobtainable with the traditional wooden body, and responds directly to the feeling of the player. With its clear, noise-free sound and overwhelming power, resulting from the special qualities of the metal and the unique design that allows the metal body to act as a shield block, TALBO is creating electric guitar history.

TALBO BASS

The Talbo Bass is a metal-body electric bass with a built-in pre-amp circuit under the pickup cover. The excellent playability, created by the total balance of the 24-fret fingerboard, carbon nut, body shape, and weight, distinguishes it from previous electric basses. The hardware and unique new color of the metal body have all been designed especially for the Talbo Bass. The overall sound—a combination of the low impedance pickup and special qualities of the metal body—will meet a wide range of needs in the present music scene.

TOKAI SUPER EDITION

The Tokai Super Edition has a light-weight body mounted with an original tremolo unit. The F-55, V-55, and X-55 are equipped with the AR-1, which adopts a fine tuning system, allowing instant pitch adjustment after arming. The F-65, V-65, and X-65 are equipped with the AR-II, which makes possible a speedy arm-down that arrives at the zero tension point instantly. Pitch adjustment is also possible while playing. The pickup used on all models is a new type that combines an adjust pin bobbin and straight bar-type bobbin. The adjust pin magnet can be adjusted to suit the sound style. The straight bar magnet prevents deterioration in sound during choking.
