
BOSS BABY

Material

- Power Point Slides
- Baby Food Pouches
- Spoons

Modification

Instead of just youngest person in the room you can find a young student or youngest sponsor with the biggest personality that can make the game even more fun.

How to Play

A fun upfront game where the youngest student in the room gets to have all the power. Bring the youngest student upfront and give them spoons and a few different types of baby food. Then choose six other students to come forward. The six other students will have to do whatever is on the slides. The Boss Baby will pick one person after each slide to be eliminated.

When that person is eliminated the boss baby will choose one of the baby foods and give them a spoon full that they must eat.

Winner of the game is the final person left after five rounds.

Pro Tip:

Make sure to coach the Boss Baby before the game starts. They can verbally critique to contestants and maybe even come up with a catch phrase or two when players are eliminated, "You're fired" "Boss Baby says sit down" "Boss Baby says Eat It."
