How to Play

To play this game you will either have one male and female compete against each other or you can have a group of girls play against a group of boys. You will first ask all the questions to the girls and then all the questions to the guys. The group with the most correct answers will be the winner.

Pro Tip:

You can make this game a little more complex by having student write down their answers. If the girls get an answer incorrect then the guys would have a chance to steal the point or the other way around.
