MANDALA ART KIT by Asha Singh

Our Mission

Path with Art fosters the restoration of individuals, groups, and society from the effects of trauma through arts engagement and community-building. Path with Art is driven by our vision: A world where arts engagement is recognized as transformative—connecting the individual with self, the self with community, and communities with society. In this world, the power of arts engagement is available for all. Welcome to our creative community!

What is this kit about?

In this art kit, we create a co-centric abstract design called Mandala with an array of symbols, shapes and forms. We will start by practicing different patterns, shapes, and then create mandala designs from scratch. This process is extremely satisfying, meditative, and therapeutic in nature. Once you learn the basics, you can create your very own design with more details as you embrace the benefits of mandala drawing. Additional mandala designs are added in the guidebook to help you practice more.

What's in this kit?

- (1 of each) a pencil, eraser, ruler, compass, and protractor
- (1) Micron fineliner pen
- (1 set) Coloring markers
- (8 sheets) Drawing paper (120gsm)
- (4 sheets) Grid paper
- (2 sheets) Mandala coloring sheets

MANDALA ART EXAMPLES

These are some examples of mandala art that I've made over the years as I created simple and intricate designs adding a tinge of color to it.

STEP-BY-STEP INSTRUCTIONS / Project How-To

Step 1 - Pattern practice

Let us practice some patterns which we will use later to fill in the mandala. Use your grid paper for practicing patterns as it will help practice symmetry and hand movement.

Start with a simple shape like a “V” or a “U” and then repeat across the page. Make your own patterns or use common shapes found in mandala art. You can see more examples of shapes on page 10.

Step 2 – Find the center

You will need your drawing sheet, pencil & ruler to start creating a mandala base. Draw a line horizontally dividing the paper in half. Then find the midpoint of this line and mark it. This point serves as the center for our mandala.

Step 3 – Drawing circles

Using your compass with a pencil and marked center, draw circles of radius (distance between the 2 points of compass) 0.5cm, 1.3cm, 1.5cm, 2.5cm, 4 cm, 5.5cm, 6cm and 8cm.
(It is fine if you can't get the exact dimensions)

Step 4 (Optional) – Creating Grid

We can create a grid using a protractor so that our patterns are symmetrical. Take your protractor, align it with the horizontal line and center. Start marking from 0° at an interval of 10° (10° , 20° , 30° and so on till 180°). Move the protractor to the other side of the line and repeat the step of marking for an interval of 10° .

Now join the angle marking with the center of the circle using your ruler. Finish joining all points to the center and your grid is ready.

(This is optional so you can skip this step and start drawing on the circles directly. A Grid provides guidance to ensure our design is symmetrical)

Step 5 – Drawing the patterns

We start drawing a pattern from the first circle from the center with our pencil aligning within the grid lines to achieve symmetry. We fill the first circle completely with lines and the next circle with the petal pattern.

(Pro tip - I keep a tissue under my palm throughout the drawing to avoid smudging my design)

Step 6 – Drawing more patterns

We move on to the next circle and start creating the pattern shown on the left side with pencil. Again, utilize the grid lines while drawing patterns to keep them symmetric and consistent. Keep adding patterns to each circle till you finish adding patterns up to the last circle. The images on the left display the designs in order of their making.

Correct any pattern you need to by using the eraser. Our mandala sketch is ready as per Image 1 and we can now go over it with a pen.

Step 7 – Drawing over with pen

I like to go over the pencil drawing with the Fineliner pen provided in the kit. For drawing circles, you may insert the fineliner pen in the compass and draw the required circle.

Once you have finished drawing with the pen, leave it for ~10 minutes for the ink to dry completely. After that, erase all the pencil marks. The final drawing is ready!

Step 8 – Mandala complete

Congratulations! You have created your very own mandala. (Image 2)

At this step, you may either fill the design with more patterns as shown in Image 3 or you can fill in your favorite colors in the design.

Keep practicing mandalas by incorporating variety in sizes, patterns, and colors. I have shared some sample mandalas to practice.
