Foreword

Footnote Apparatus

I have tried to list all major Greek textual variants, and many of the minor ones. Variants that are not translatable into English are usually marked within the Greek text, and those that can affect the English rendering, marked in the English text. If this document is an edition without the Greek text alternating verse by verse with the English, then that explains why you might find a footnote referenced to "19:3c" but there are no footnotes for 19:3b or a. Those other two footnotes may be found in an edition that has the Greek text included.

The footnotes about Greek textual variants are in the following format. Here is a fictional footnote for an example.

The 19:15a means it is a footnote about chapter 19 v. 15, and the "a" implies that there is at least one other footnote about the verse. The letters "txt" mean that the text of my English translation follows the first (next) reading given. Next comes my rating of my certainty for this variant, as a capital letter in curly brackets.. Not all variants have one, since I am still developing my opinions thereon.

After that come a literal translation of the word(s) upon which my translation is based.

Next comes the listing of Greek manuscripts, first for the reading I translated, then any other variants, separated by "//". (Regarding the Greek manuscripts, their description, date, and genealogy, etc., see the table at the end of the document.) Uncials (mss. whose text is written in all capital letters) are listed first (those designated by a capital Hebrew, Latin or Greek letter, or a number starting with a zero), then minuscules (those designated by a number not starting with a zero), then early versions into other languages; first the italic, then vulgate editions, then Syriac, then Coptic, then others less important such as Armenian and Ethiopic. After that come early church fathers, if any.

Lastly, I list which ones out of six Greek New Testament editions follow that reading. They are listed in the following sequence as well. The letters TR stand for the 1550 Stephanus Textus Receptus; RP means the Robinson-Pierpont 2005 edition; NA27 means the Nestle-Aland 27th edition, and lastly, the curly brackets  $\{B\}$  contain the rating of certainty given in the UBS4, the United Bible Societies' 4th Edition. When there is a left slash in the brackets like this,  $\{\setminus\}$ , that means that the UBS4 has neither footnote nor rating on that variant.

There are over 300 Greek handwritten manuscripts containing Revelation or a portion thereof. Not all of them are significant or important as pertaining to textual criticism, to grossly understate the matter. H. C. Hoskier, in the introduction to his apparatus in Concerning the Text of the Apocalypse, Volume 2, on p. 7 states, "There are two streams of the text of the Apocalypse, one Ecclesiastical and one extra-Ecclesiastical, which only join far back and high amongst the hills near the primal fount." Though I don't necessarily subscribe to that nomenclature, I, after for a while listing the readings of all 300-plus manuscripts, realized that doing so was little more informative than listing only those from approximately the 9th century and earlier.

Hoskier has well pointed out how the uncials of the Revelation text are all over the place, with many omissions and additions. The wildest of them all in Revelation is Sinaiticus. The only uncial that is not "all over the place," but which seems to represent a standardized majority text, is the uncial 046 (called B in his work). Hoskier on p. xxvii of Volume One of "Concerning the Text of the Apocalypse," calls this the "B revision, which was made in the VIIth century." On p. xxxvi he calls it the "B recension." He goes on to say, "roughly speaking, B and cursive groups may be neglected if opposed by a consensus of the older uncials, Versions and Fathers. If on the other hand B is joined Aleph, A or C, the greater weight can only be overborne by other subsidiary evidence, and if B have the support of Aleph A or C A together, we must grant the group a full hearing." In the same paragraph, he declares that Erasmus and Stephen relied on just a few MSS that were faulty in certain particulars. And that we should restore from Tischendorf, Tregelles and Wescott and Hort readings taken away from the TR solely on the basis of one uncial like Aleph or A. With this all I agree.

I have in August 2015 adopted the sigla conventions of the NA28 for the correctors of Codex Sinaiticus in Revelation, and updated my apparatus accordingly:

X* 4th century

 $\aleph^1$  4th – 6th century (only one occurrence- in 21:4

 $\aleph^2$  7th century  $\aleph^{2a}$  7th century  $\aleph^{2b}$  7th century  $\aleph^c$  12th century

Hoskier declared that the uncial 046 is a highly edited and smoothed-over text. Therefore, when 046 departs from MOST other uncials, its reading is highly dubious. When 046 differs from ALL other uncials, its reading is surely false. This fact gives greater value to any minuscules that do not always follow 046, and diminishes the value of those that do. Minuscules that depart are 922 1006 1611 1678 1778 1828 1841 2020 2040 2050 2053 2062 2065 2080 2329 2344 2351, and many of these are also quite early for Apocalypse minuscules. Consequently, these have greater value than other minuscules Minuscules that slavishly follow 046 are 82, 627, 920, 2138. When these minuscules are not in unity, you will find a difference usually between the Hodges/Farstad majority text vv. the Robinson/Pierpont majority text. In many of these instances, the Robinson text has recently moved toward the correct reading, away from Hodges/Farstad. Where the conjunction of 82, 627, 920 opposes another edition, there you have clearly different text streams. Where minuscules 82, 627, 920 line up against most of the uncials, their reading is highly doubtful. Where these three line up with 046 against all other uncials, you have a false reading, a wrong reading in the Majority Text. For example, omit ήλίου in 22:5c. There are also places where these three line up against all uncials and all early verions, even against 046; there you have most definitely, absolutely, a wrong reading in the Hodges/Farstad edition, in my opinion.

There are several places in Revelation where Codex A shows that it is an older text, with older readings, prior to editing and standardization. I agree the UBS/NA editors in that they appear to value Codex A extremely highly for Revelation.

I have come up with 20 test passages, by which to classify the main Apocalypse manuscripts. The manuscripts may be placed on a continuum as shown below, with Codex A being on one end, and 757 the other, as the texts most differing from each other. And that continuum roughly corresponds to the GNT editions which line up like this:

NA27 TR RP HF PK.

In the years since I completed my translation of the Revelation of John, I have received criticism from readers that I, like the UBS and the NA27, was cherry-picking what manuscripts I cited in my footnote apparatus. So, to solve that complaint, I have changed to using one very objective and indisputable criterion: I cite ALL witnesses 9th century and earlier, and I cite NO witnesses later than the 9th century. Consistently cited Greek witnesses therefore in this edition without the Greek text interlinear (where text is extant) for Revelation are these thirty-one: $\Pi^{18}$, $\Pi^{24}$, $\Pi^{43}$, $\Pi^{47}$, $\Pi^{85}$, $\Pi^{98}$, $\Pi^{115}$, $\Rightarrow$, A, C, P, 052, 0163, 0169, 0207, 0308,. If there is a hiatus in any of the above, it will be noted, except if that manuscript is only a fragment anyway. Fragmentary mss. not therefore listed for hiatus, would be: $\Pi^{18}$, $\Pi^{24}$, $\Pi^{43}$, $\Pi^{47}$, $\Pi^{85}$, $\Pi^{98}$, $\Pi^{115}$, 052, 0163, 0169, 0207, 0308. If you want to find out the readings of many of the minuscules, you can read the endnotes in the back of my longer edition; and to a lesser degree, in its footnotes. We really should not include anywhere, mss. 296 and 2049, which were merely handwritten copies of printed editions. Hoskier stated this plainly in several places of his work; see the table of MSS. at the end of the above-linked longer document.

The Revelation of John

Chapter 1

Prologue

<sup>1</sup>The Revelation of Jesus Christ, which God gave to him, to show to his servants what things must soon take place, and which he signified when he sent it via his angel to his servant John, <sup>2</sup>who has confirmed as the word of God and the testimony of Jesus Christ, what all things<sup>1</sup> he saw.<sup>2</sup>

<sup>3</sup>Blessed are the one reading and those listening to the words of this prophecy, and keeping the things written herein, for the time is near.

<sup>4</sup>John, to the seven churches in Asia, grace to you, and peace, from Him<sup>3</sup> who is, and who was, and who is to come, and from the seven spirits before his throne, <sup>5</sup>and from Jesus Christ, the faithful witness, <sup>4</sup> the firstborn from the dead, and ruler over the kings of the earth. To him who loves us, and freed <sup>5</sup> us from our sins with <sup>6</sup> his blood, <sup>6</sup>and made us into a kingdom of priests <sup>7</sup> for his God and Father— to him be glory and power, for ever and ever. Amen.

<sup>7</sup>Behold, he is coming with the clouds, and every eye shall see him, including of those who pierced him. And all the peoples of the earth shall beat their breasts over him.<sup>8</sup> Let it be so, amen..

The TR reading is based on about eight late and unimportant mss. The first reading preserves the formula for the divine name that had arisen from rabbinical exegesis of Exodus 3:14 ἐγώ εἰμι ὁ ὤν (תְּבָּהַרֶּה אֲשֵׁרְ אָהַרֶּה).

&lt;sup>4</sup> 1:5a Or, "the faithful martyr." The Greek word translated witness here is martyr, and there is good reason it came to have the connotation of one who is killed for his witness. For that is what happened to Jesus Christ, and also to Antipas, mentioned later in this book in 2:13, where he is also called a faithful witness/martyr.

The "freed" reading is reminiscent of λέλυται αὐτῆς ἡ ἁμαρτία in Isaiah 40:2, and it fits better with the preposition ἐν, see other footnote on this verse.

The LXX-version has βασίλειον ἱεράτευμα (quoted in 1 Peter 2:9), and Aquila translated by βασιλείαν ἱερέων. Editors should threfore not place a comma after βασιλείαν, as ἱερεῖς is not an apposition, but represents a more grammatical ἱερέων." (genitive plural)

Someone Like a Son of Man

<sup>9</sup>I, John, your brother and fellow in the oppression and kingdom and endurance in Jesus, was on the island called Patmos because of the word of God and the testimony of Jesus. <sup>10</sup> Il was in the Spirit during the Lord's day, and I heard behind me a loud voice, like of a trumpet, <sup>11</sup>saying, <sup>12</sup> "What you see, write in a book, and send it to the seven churches— to Ephesus, and to Smyrna, and to Pergamum, and to Thyatira, and to Sardis, and to Philadelphia, and to Laodicea."

<sup>12</sup>And I turned around to see the voice that was speaking with me. And when I turned, I saw seven golden lampstands, <sup>13</sup>and in among<sup>13</sup> the lampstands<sup>14</sup> was someone like a son of man,<sup>15</sup> dressed in a cloak reaching down to his feet, and gird around at the pecs<sup>16</sup> with a golden sash, <sup>14</sup>except his head and his hairs were white like wool, as white as snow, and his eyes like flames of fire, <sup>15</sup>and his feet like bronze as if made to glow in a furnace, and his voice like the sound of many waters, <sup>16</sup>and he was holding in his right hand seven stars, and out of his mouth was coming a sharp two-edged sword, and his face was like the sun shining in the strength of it.

<sup>13 1:13</sup>c If this were talking about the menora of Exodus chapter 25, then Tyndale's rendering, "in the midst of the candlesticks" would be most accurate, since with the menora there was only one lampstand, with 6 branches going out sideways, and one in the middle. But if there are 7 free standing, separate, lampstands, a rendering like "in among the lampstands" is better. In our context here, the 7 lampstands refer to the seven churches of Asia Minor, Rev 1:20. Jesus "walks among the seven golden lampstands," Rev. 2:1. These lampstands are in jeopardy of being removed. Rev 2:5 says Jesus "will remove your lampstand from its place, unless you repent." Therefore I conclude that these lampstands are not the menora of Exodus.

&lt;sup>15</sup> 1:13a It is customary to render this phrase as "like a Son of Man," so that it reminds the reader of this phrase in the prophets Ezekiel and Daniel, etc. But it would be more accurate to translate it "like a human," because that is what seems to be the emphasis here in contrast to later given non-human traits. John first gives traits of him that are human, and then he begins verse 14 with "but," and proceeds in the next several verses to tell us traits that are not human.

<sup>16</sup> 1:13e Literally, "breasts,"- mastoîs but that would be very unidiomatic for English, and it essentially means chest, as in 15:6, where the seven angels also have a golden sash around their chest, and there the Greek word used is stēthos, "chest." But I didn't want to translate mastoîs as a singular word like chest, when the Greek is plural, so I used "pecs" which is short for pectorals.

<sup>17</sup>And when I saw him, I fell down by his feet as though dead. And he placed his right hand on me, saying, "Do not fear. I am the First and the Last, <sup>18</sup>and the Living One, and I was dead, and behold, living for ever and ever, <sup>17</sup> and I have the keys of death and of Hades. <sup>18</sup>

<sup>19</sup>"Write therefore what things you see and what things are now, and also what things are about to take place after these things. <sup>20</sup>The mystery of the seven stars which you see upon my right hand, and the seven golden lampstands: The seven stars are the angels of the seven churches, and the seven lampstands are the seven churches.

To the Church in Ephesus

<sup>1</sup>"To the angel of the church in Ephesus, write: 'These things says He who grips the seven stars in his right hand, who walks among the seven golden lampstands: <sup>2</sup>"I know your works, and your toil and endurance, and how you are not able to tolerate evil people, and have put to the test those who call themselves apostles and are not and have found them to be liars; <sup>3</sup>and you have endurance, and have held up for the sake of my name, and not become weary.

4"But I have against you that you have left your first love. 5Remember therefore from where you have fallen, and repent and do your first works; otherwise I am coming to you<sup>19</sup> and will remove your lampstand from its place, unless you repent.

<sup>6</sup>"But this you have, that you hate the deeds of the Nicolaitans, which I also hate. <sup>7</sup>He who has an ear should listen to what the Spirit is saying to the churches. To him who overcomes, I will grant to eat from the tree of life, which is in the paradise of God.

To the Church in Smyrna

<sup>8</sup>"And to the angel of the church in Smyrna, write: 'These things says the First and the Last, who was dead and came alive again: <sup>9</sup>'I know your affliction and your poverty (but you are rich) and the blasphemy of those claiming to be Jews and are not but are a synagogue of Satan. <sup>10</sup>Don't be afraid of any of the things you are about to suffer. Behold, the devil is about to throw some of you into prison, so that you may be tried, and you will have affliction for ten days. Be faithful until death, and I will give you the crown of life. <sup>11</sup>He who has an ear should listen to what the Spirit is saying to the churches. He who overcomes will certainly not be harmed by the second death.

To the Church in Pergamum

<sup>12</sup>"And to the angel of the church in Pergamum, write: 'These things says He who has the sharp two-edged sword: <sup>13</sup>I know where you live, <sup>20</sup> where Satan's throne is; yet you hold fast to my law and have not denied my faith, even<sup>21</sup> in the days of Antipas my faithful witness<sup>22</sup> who was put to death near you, where Satan lives.

<sup>14</sup> But I have a few things against you, that you have some there who hold to the teaching of Balaam, who taught Balak to put a stumbling block before the children of Israel, to eat idol sacrifices and to commit sexual immorality. <sup>15</sup>So also in the same way you have some who hold to the teaching of the Nicolaitans. <sup>23</sup> <sup>16</sup>Repent therefore. Otherwise I am coming to you soon, and will fight against them with the sword of my mouth.

<sup>17</sup> He who has an ear should listen to what the Spirit is saying to the churches. He who overcomes, I will give to him from the hidden manna, and I will also give him a white stone, and on the stone a new name is written, which no one knows except the one receiving it.

To the Church in Thyatira

<sup>18</sup>"And to the angel of the church in Thyatira, write: 'These things says the Son of God, he who has his eyes like flames of fire and his feet like glowing bronze: <sup>19</sup>I know your works and love and faith and service, and your perseverance, how your last works are greater than your first.<sup>24</sup>

I think that the addition of ὅ μισῶ was from scribes thinking of 2:6, and that ὁμοίως is the original text. The omission however, also commends itself as a possibility.

The trait perseverance is set apart into a separate phrase and new train of thought by the possessive pronoun "sou" appearing with it again after it not being present with the previous three traits. Then the καì following it is meant to connect the next phrase with it in a Semitic "and" of explanation, where better Greek would have used a different word such as ότι, that is, "and I know your perseverance, how your last works are greater than your first." &lt;sup>28</sup> 2:23 The Greek says nefroùs, kidneys. Different languages and cultures use varying body parts for designating the seat of desire and affection. This use of "kidneys" isn't any less reasonable than how we use the heart for some things. The heart of course is really just a muscle. The tribe I was raised with in Papua New Guinea used several body organs. They would say, "God cleansed my stomach, and came in to live in my liver." This use of the kidneys came from the Hebrew culture, and the King James Version and older English translations render it "reins." (When you look at a picture in a medical book of the tubes coming down from the kidneys to the bladder, it does look like reins on a horse.) And according to Diodorus, the kidneys and the heart were the only organs left in the body cavity by Egyptian embalmers. See also Jeremiah 11:20; 17:10; 20:12.

&lt;sup>39</sup> 3:20 This sounds like the same man who wrote the gospel of John. There is a passage in Ezekiel containing many similarities to this passage, Ezekiel 1:26-28, and there the throne is described as looking like stones similar to here. One wonders if some copyists conformed this passage to the one in Ezekiel. It seems more appropriate to describe a throne in terms of stones rather than a person. Yet the one seated is not human. So was the situation instead that some copyists were trying to clarify that it was the one sitting that was like that in appearance. At any rate, the stone carnelian is flesh-colored. One could understand either reading as referring to the one sitting. On the one hand, the rule of "lectio brevior lectio potior" favors the shorter reading here. The shorter reading makes fine sense, by simply putting a comma between verses 2 and 3. It seems reasonable that the longer reading is an added explanatory phrase. On the other hand, the seeming redundancy of the NA27 reading, after v. 2 having just said, "someone sitting" already, is very Johannine in style.

&lt;sup>41</sup>4:3b Greek, sárdion. Some also render this as Sardius. The English word carnelian is derived from the Latin root carn, from which we get carnal and carnivore and carne, and was named that

And in between the throne and the circle around the throne are four living beings,<sup>47</sup> full of eyes, front and back. <sup>7</sup>And the first being is like a lion, and the second being like an ox, and the third being has a human face, and the fourth being is like an eagle in flight. <sup>8</sup>And the four beings, every one of them has six wings each, which are covered completely around with eyes, even inward. And they take no rest day or night, continually saying, "Holy, holy, holy<sup>48</sup> is the Lord God Almighty, who was and who is and who is to come." <sup>9</sup>And whenever the beings give glory and honor and thanks to the one sitting on the throne, to him who lives for ever and ever, <sup>10</sup>the twenty-four elders will fall down before him who sits on the throne, and worship him who lives for ever and ever, and they will place their crowns before the throne, saying, <sup>11</sup>"You are worthy, our Lord and our God, to receive glory and honor and power, for you<sup>49</sup> created all things, and for your purpose they exist<sup>50</sup> and were created."

because the stone was flesh-colored. The Oxford dictionary defines carnelian as a flesh-colored, deep red, or reddish-white variety of chalcedony.

&lt;sup>42</sup> 4:3c This is from the Greek word îris, which can mean rainbow or halo. Webster's second definition of aura is: "a luminous radiation: Nimbus." I didn't like rainbow, since the rainbow by definition includes the whole spectrum of colors, whereas this phenomenon is only green. Halo is possibly suitable; it's just that the English reader is accustomed to it being only something around the heads of holy people or saints in art. But halo is also used in astronomy.

&lt;sup>54</sup> 5:8 The Greek word is "kithara," which with that era's pronunciation would sound to us as "gitarra," like the Spanish word for guitar. The Online Encyclopedia Britannica defines it as follows: "Large lyre of Classical antiquity, the principal stringed instrument of the Greeks and later of the Romans. It had a box-shaped resonating body from which extended two parallel arms connected by a crossbar to which 3–12 strings were attached. It was held vertically and plucked with a plectrum; the left hand was used to stop and damp the strings. It was played by singers of the Greek epics, as well as by later professional accompanists and soloists." The lyre was an intermediate transition step from the harp to the guitar and viol which have finger boards. The English word "harp" is no more accurate a rendering here than guitar, since a harp today is usually a 6 foot tall instrument mainly used with orchestras, whereas a guitar is a portable, personal instrument, more like here in Revelation than is a harp.

According to the UBS Textual Commentary, the reading of Codex A and the Ethiopic best explains the origin of the others: copyists wanted to supply an object for the verb. But when they added the  $\hat{\eta}\mu\hat{\alpha}\varsigma$ , "us," they created a conflict with v. 10 where it says "you have made αὐτοὺς - "them" into a kingdom and priests, and βασιλεύσουσιν "they" will reign. As the text stands in the/RP editions, it at first seems you have the 24 elders saying they themselves were purchased by His blood, but then in v. 10 they exclude themselves from the group that will reign on the earth. But it is likely that the 24 elders will indeed be among those who reign on the earth, since they sit on 24 thrones and have golden crowns. Whereas, when you have the elders word it as in the NA27, they can be including themselves in the "some" who were purchased and will reign. However, Dr. Maurice A. Robinson says the solution probably lies in the fact that there are multiple groups who are singing this song, and they are taking turns singing different parts; i.e., the Elders sing the "us" part, and the Four Living Beings sing the "them" part. (See endnote in my longer edition for Dr. Robinson's exact words.) The idea the idea of a two-part responsive Moses praise (perhaps) first put forward by Stuart https://archive.org/details/commentaryonapoc02stua Apocalypse 5:9-10 comments p. 134 Responsive praise. Moses Stuart "A Commentary on the Apocalypse Volume 2" Andover, New York 1845. H. C. Hoskier explains the omission of ἡμᾶς in Codex A as follows: "the word was 'lost' in the transition from one column to the next." (You can view the pertinent page of Codex A for yourself at the Center for the Study of New Testament Manuscripts, find Codex A, Codex Alexandrinus, MS. nr. GA02, page image 129b.) But since Revelation says Christ himself will reign on the earth (11:15; 20:6), the idea that the 24 elders will not reign on the earth is preposterous. Their 24 thrones surround the throne of the Lamb, and they will reign with Him on the earth. The New Jerusalem will be on the earth. That city has 12 foundations, and 12 gates, with the names of the 12 apostles and 12 tribes respectively; thus a total of 24 elders.

In other words, they do not bolster the Textus Receptus as sources for the Textus Receptus, because they ARE the Textus Receptus. See where Hoskier states this in Text Volume 2, p. 156, lines 26,27, where he says "Negl. 57 et 141 ex ed. typ. exscripti." (This means, "Disregard 57 and 141 since they are handwritten copies of printed editions.") So yes, only one Greek manuscript reads with the TR here. "Manuscript" means "hand written." If we are going to say that 57 and 151 are Greek manuscripts, then someone could fairly make 10,000 handwritten copies of the Nestle-Aland 27th edition New Testament, and then claim that the NA27 is the majority text.

The 144,000 Sealed

<sup>1</sup>After this<sup>73</sup> I saw four angels standing at the four points of the earth, holding back the four winds of the earth, so that no wind would blow upon the earth, or upon the sea or upon any tree.

<sup>2</sup>And I saw another angel rising up from the east, holding the seal of the living God, and he cried out in a very great voice toward the four angels to whom the orders had been given to harm the earth and the sea, <sup>3</sup>saying, "Do not harm the earth or the sea or the trees until we have sealed the servants of our God on their foreheads."

<sup>4</sup>And I heard the number of the ones sealed, 144,000, sealed from every tribe of the sons of Israel: <sup>5</sup>from the tribe of Judah twelve thousand were sealed, from the tribe of Reuben twelve thousand, from the tribe of Gad twelve thousand, <sup>6</sup>from the tribe of Asher twelve thousand, from the tribe of Naphtali twelve thousand, from the tribe of Simeon twelve thousand, from the tribe of Levi twelve thousand, from the tribe of Issachar twelve thousand, <sup>8</sup>from the tribe of Zebulun twelve thousand, from the tribe of Joseph twelve thousand, from the tribe of Benjamin twelve thousand were sealed.

The Multitude out of the Tribulation

<sup>11</sup>And all the angels had stood in a circle around the throne and around the elders and the four living beings, and they fell on their faces before the throne and worshiped God, <sup>12</sup>saying, "Amen. Blessing and glory and wisdom and thanks and honor and power and strength be to our God for ever and ever. Amen."

<sup>13</sup>And one of the elders responded saying to me, "These wearing the white robes, who are they, and where did they come from?"

And he said to me, "These are those coming out of the great tribulation, and they have washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb. <sup>15</sup>Because

The 7th Seal: the Seven Trumpets

¹And when he opened the seventh seal, there was silence in heaven for about half an hour. ²And I saw the seven angels which stand before God, and seven trumpets were given to them. ³And another angel came and stood at the altar, holding a golden censer, and many incenses were given to him so that he might present the prayers of all the saints at the golden altar which is before the throne. ⁴And the smoke of the incenses went up before God from the hand of the angel mingled with the prayers of the saints. ⁵And the angel took the censer and filled it with the burning incense, and he hurled it to the earth; and there came rumblings and voices and peals of thunder, and earthquakes. ⁶And the seven angels who had the seven trumpets readied themselves to play.

<sup>7</sup>And the first one sounded his trumpet; and there came hail and fire mixed with blood, and it was rained on the earth. And one third of the earth was burned up, <sup>77</sup> and one third of the trees were burned up, and all the green grass was burned up.

<sup>8</sup>And the second angel sounded his trumpet; and something like a huge mountain burning with fire<sup>78</sup> was hurled into the sea. And one third of the sea was turned to blood, <sup>9</sup>and one third of the creatures that have lives<sup>79</sup> in the sea died, tand one third of the ships were destroyed.

This omission is a clear case of "homoioteleuton" that happened in the Greek copying process. That means, the lines end the same, so a copyist, having left off his work for a break, then resumed doing his work, and he remembers, "I resume, at the line ending with  $\kappa\alpha\tau\epsilon\kappa\acute{\alpha}\eta$ ," but he resumed with the wrong line ending with  $\kappa\alpha\tau\epsilon\kappa\acute{\alpha}\eta$ . Skipped one line by accident. Homoioteleuton. Or, it could have been a case of "homoioarcton," that is, all three lines BEGIN the same, with  $\kappa\alpha\grave{\iota}$ , and the scribe having left off, resumed, thinking, "I resume with the line beginning with  $\kappa\alpha\grave{\iota}$ , but he picked the wrong line beginning with  $\kappa\alpha\grave{\iota}$ . Interestingly, the scribe of manuscript 620 wrote the phrase in question two times, which is another kind of result from parablepsis from homoioteleuton.

The Fifth Trumpet

<sup>1</sup>And the fifth angel sounded his trumpet; and I saw a fallen star, <sup>82</sup> fallen out of heaven onto earth, and the key to the bottomless pit had been given to him. <sup>2</sup>And he opened the bottomless pit, and smoke ascended from the pit like smoke from a giant furnace. to draw hard and fast lines between the meanings of this many-sided word." It would certainly be silly to render this instance of the word as "lives," as follows: "one third of the creatures in the sea died, those having lives." It is very unlikely that any author would feel the need to make clear that it was those creatures that had lives, that died. This seems to be a demonstrative phrase, specifying some particular subset of creatures. "Those that have breath" seems possible, as in conformance with the usage in Genesis. Compare LXX Genesis 1:30, those having the breath of life; and 2:7, where the man became a soul when he received the breath of life through his nostrils. Further, the LXX in Genesis 1:20-23 calls those sea creatures that breathe, such as whales and snakes, "souls." But then the question arises why the bloody sea would kill only airbreathers. The problematic phrase,  $\tau \grave{\alpha}$  έχοντα ψυχάς, with the nominative definite article, is commented on in the BDF grammar in § 136(1) as follows, "Revelation exhibits a quantity of striking solecisms which are based especially on inattention to agreement (a rough style), in contrast to the rest of the NT and to the other writings ascribed to John: (1) An appositional phrase (or circumstantial participle) is often found in the nominative instead of an oblique case (§ 137(3))." The only reasonable apposition or circumstance seems to be as worded above: "those that have lives in the sea."

<sup>80</sup> 8:12 The verb 'was darkened' is singular. I don't think it is saying that one third of 'them were darkened,' but rather one third of something singular 'was darkened,' and the meaning is that one third of their strength, one third of the collective light was darkened. What it is NOT saying is that one third of the number of them were totally dark. And probably not that one third of the duration of the day or night was dark. It is saying that the day and the night were each only two thirds as light as normal. See Isaiah 13:10; Ezekiel 32:7; Joel 3:15

&lt;sup>83</sup> 9:4 Compare ch. 6:6, "A quart of wheat for a day's wage, or three barley loaves for a day's wage. And don't you damage the oil or wine." An implication here about the green grass and trees, from the commandment to the locusts that they not damage anything green, could be that green things will be precious and rare in those days already, before all these plagues take place. On the other hand, locusts' natural inclination would be to eat such, and they are being commanded to do otherwise.

&lt;sup>84</sup> 9:12 The Greek words I rendered "after all this" are "meta tauta." This phrase is usually found, in Revelation, at the beginning of a sentence, not the end as here. Therefore, there seems to be an emphasis put on this phrase by putting it last. And the word "behold" adds to the emphasis.

This variant is interesting because of the lack of grammatical agreement (concord) as pertains to number, in the majority of Greek manuscripts. That is, most manuscripts say, "TWO woe still IT IS coming." The TR has grammatical concord: "TWO woes still ARE coming." But what is most interesting is the concord of the Bohairic Coptic (3rd Century): "a SECOND woe IS coming." The Buchanan Italic manuscript h (55) (5th century) has a hiatus for the verb, but it also says "the SECOND woe." Yet the form δύο can still be taken to mean "second," with the word οὐαὶ being singular. In Semitic languages there is an ambiguity between "two" and "second," Cardinal and Ordinal. But in BDF §248(3), deBrunner says "Late Greek and Latin, however, concur in this ambiguity." Thus this might be properly translated, "still a second woe is coming." This variant is mentioned In BDF $136(5) as an example of the frequent solecisms to be found in Revelation. But, another possibility is a textual corruption. After all, 046* 1678 1778 2080 read "two woes are coming." Is it not possible that this is the original? Yet I can see the validity of the argument that this reading is an editorial correcting of a solecism. Thus my D rating. The word ἔτι "still / more" is a natural addition, and its addition is more easily explained than its omission.

This Greek word φάρμακον - phármakon is used nowhere else in the New Testament. Its meaning in other literature ranges from poison, to magic potions and charms to medicines and drugs. The other Greek words in the N.T. derived from the same root usually pertain to sorcery and magic. Even in the case of the BYZ reading φαρμακειῶν, the primary meaning is use of drugs for any purpose. In much of the world today, there are still witch doctors and shamans, and they commonly in their craft employ drugs and the altered state caused by them. The UBS committee says they chose the reading φαρμάκων "partly on the basis of external support, and partly because copyists would have been more likely to alter it to the more specific φαρμακ(ε)ιῶν, which occurs in 18:23 and Gal. 5:20, than vice versa." Looking at this text with current events in view, I must conclude that this text refers both to narcotics and to pharmaceutical drugs. Witchcraft and paganism are a dominant religion on planet earth, and always have been. But drugs are also a big problem. The dynastical families that consititute the invisible One World Government made their wealth from trading both in narcotics and in pharmaceutical drugs, on both of which they earn a huge retail mark-up. They also control most of the world's insurance companies and currencies. Note how many of the mainstream pharmaceutical drugs are now the target of tort lawyers for all the damage that they do to us.

The Prophet's Bitter Burden

<sup>4</sup>And when the seven thunders had spoken, I was about to write, and I heard a voice from heaven saying, "Seal up what things the seven thunders have spoken, and do not write them."

<sup>5</sup>And the angel which I had seen standing on the sea and on the land, he lifted his right<sup>93</sup> hand to heaven, <sup>6</sup>and swore by Him who lives for ever and ever, who gave birth to the heaven and the things in it, and to the earth and the things in it, and to the sea and the things in it, he swore that there shall be no more time, <sup>7</sup>but that in the days of the blast of the seventh angel, whenever he is about to sound his trumpet, even then will be brought to completion the mystery of God, as he has announced it to his servants the prophets.<sup>94</sup>

<sup>8</sup>And the voice that I had heard from heaven, it spoke with me again, and said, "Go take the scroll<sup>95</sup> that is opened in the hand of the angel who is standing on the sea and on the land."

<sup>9</sup>And I went over to the angel, asking him to give me the little scroll. And he says to me, "Take it and eat it, and it will make your stomach bitter, though in your mouth it will be sweet like honey." <sup>10</sup>And I took the little scroll from the hand of the angel, and I ate it, and in my mouth it was sweet like honey. <sup>1</sup>And a reed was given to me, like a measuring rod, as he<sup>98</sup> was saying, "Get up, and measure the temple of God along with the altar and those worshiping in it. <sup>2</sup>And the outer courtyard of the temple you shall exclude, and not measure it, for it has been given to the Gentiles, and they will trample on the holy city for forty-two months. <sup>3</sup>And I will give authority to my two witnesses, and they will prophesy<sup>99</sup> for 1,260 days clothed in sackcloth."

<sup>4</sup>These are the two olive trees and the two lampstands which stand before the Lord<sup>100</sup> of the earth.<sup>101</sup> <sup>5</sup>And if anyone wants to harm them, fire comes from their mouth and consumes their enemies. And if anyone would want to harm them, this is how he ought to be killed. <sup>6</sup>These have the authority to shut up the sky so that no rain will fall during the days of their prophesying, and they have authority over the waters to turn them into blood, and to strike the earth with any kind of plague as often as they wish. <sup>7</sup>And when they complete their witness, the beast coming up out of the bottomless pit will make war with them, and will conquer them and kill them.

<sup>1</sup>And a great sign was seen in heaven: a woman clothed with the sun, and the moon under her feet, and on her head a crown of twelve stars, <sup>2</sup>and being with child, and crying out with contractions and anguish to deliver.

<sup>3</sup>And another sign was seen in heaven, and behold, a great red dragon, having seven heads and ten horns, and on his heads seven crowns, <sup>114</sup> <sup>4</sup>and his tail is pulling one third of the stars <sup>115</sup> from heaven; and it threw them to the earth. And the dragon took his stand in front of the woman who was about to deliver, so that he might devour the child whenever it was born.

<sup>5</sup>And she bore a son, a male child, who was destined to <sup>116</sup> shepherd all the nations with a rod of iron. And her child was snatched up to God and to his throne. <sup>6</sup>And the woman fled to the desert, to where she has a place prepared there by God, so that there they might take care of her for 1,260 days.

<sup>7</sup>And there was war in heaven, Michael and his angels must make war with the dragon. And the dragon made war, and his angels also, <sup>8</sup>and he was<sup>117</sup> not strong enough, neither was their<sup>118</sup> place found anymore in heaven. <sup>9</sup>And the great dragon was thrown out, that ancient serpent, which is called the Devil and Satan, who deceives the whole world, he was thrown to the earth, and his angels thrown along with him.

<sup>10</sup>And I heard a great voice in heaven, saying, "Now has come the salvation and power and kingdom of our God, and the authority of his Christ; for the accuser of our brethren has been thrown out, the one accusing them before our God day and night, <sup>11</sup>and these have overcome him by the blood of the Lamb and by the word of their testimony, and they did not love their lives even unto death.

<sup>12</sup>"Rejoice over this, O heaven, <sup>119</sup> and you who dwell therein! Woe to the earth and to the sea! <sup>120</sup> For the devil has come down to you with great fury, because he knows that he has but little time."

<sup>115</sup> 12:4 That is, one third of the angels. We know of only three archangels: the being who is now Satan, and Michael, and Gabriel. Therefore it is reasonable to conclude that each archangel ruled one third of the angels. When Satan was cast out of heaven, he took the one third of the angels with him. See for example 12:7, where it says "Michael and HIS angels." Jesus said in Luke 10:18, "I was watching as Satan fell from heaven like lightning."

Though the support for the plural is very impressive, I think the variations found in  $\aleph$ , 046 and 1006 betray the secondary nature of the plural. Plus it may be an assimilation to the plural of αὐτῶν. That is, it seems likely that the singular "he" was changed to agree with the plural of "their place." Conversely it would be hard to explain why copyists would change the plural of "they were not strong enough" to the singular. <sup>15</sup>And the serpent poured water from his mouth like a river after the woman, to cause her to be swept away by a flood, <sup>16</sup>and the earth helped the woman, and the earth opened its mouth and swallowed the flood that the dragon had poured from his mouth.

12:14 The expression "a time, times, and half a time" no doubt means "for three and a half years." We know this because that is essentially what the 1,260 days of Rev. 11:2,3; 12:6 add up to. And compare Daniel 12:7.

This textual difference about who or what was standing at the shore of the sea, is what determines whether a Greek New Testament edition places this sentence here as verse 18 in this context, or places this sentence in Chapter 13:1. Thus, since the TR and RP editions follow the second reading, they place this sentence in 13:1, with John the one standing rather than the dragon. The UBS textual commentary says that the latter reading appears to have arisen when copyists accommodated the 3rd person 'he stood' to the first person of the following 'I saw.' It is attractive to make it John the one standing on the shore of the sea, since the next thing he does is observe a beast rising out of the sea. But it also makes perfect sense that the dragon stood at the shore of the sea, because it was expecting or bringing up the beast out of the sea. We have just read in the previous verse that the dragon went to make war with the woman's seed, and this is how he made war: he brought up the beast from the sea, which later in 13:7 of this chapter makes war on the saints and conquers them.

The following translations have "name" in English in the singular: TYND GEN KJV BISH SRV YLT GNB NIV NCV NKJV REB ALT. Some translations interpret this phrase, "on its heads were names" as saying "each" head had a [different] name, and others that each head had more than one name on each. The reason I went with the rendering I have is that the singular can be understood either way; that is, "on its heads a name that is blasphemy" can be interpreted as "each a different name," so thus "names" plural, or that they all had the same blasphemous name. Conversely, the plural "names" could be understood distributively. I chose to do this for the reason that I am not persuaded either way as to which is the correct manuscript reading. What is really different is interpreters that see this as meaning each head had more than one name on it, like the CEV & NLT: "On each of its heads were names..." Interesting that the Douay-Rheims has the plural when all its contemporaries had the singular. My thinking is like the NIV rendering: "and on each head a blasphemous name." It seems to me that "head" being plural might have assimilated "name" over to the plural.

These are the major variants, but there are many, many more, when you count the versions and Fathers. The RP reading of "if anyone has [the lot or destiny of] captivity, he must go," seems to be a clarification of the first clause of the Codex A reading. And it could be argued that the additional phrase "into captivity" he must go, in the second clause, was a clarification on the part of Codex A as well. And then the "HAS part of the RP reading, "has captivity" was then interpreted by the TR copyists as meaning, "if anyone has captives," rather than if anyone has that fate. Happily, the, RP, NA27 and UBS4 readings are the same in meaning. The TR reading has no Greek manuscript support as it is worded in the Greek, but agrees in meaning with the manuscripts listed with it, and even those three do not agree.

It is a principle of Textual Criticism that when there is a large set of variations on a reading, it is suspect. Such is the case here with the present indicative active reading. The UBS Textual Commentary says: "Among the dozen variant readings, the least unsatisfactory appears to be ἀποκτανθῆναι, αὐτὸν, ["is to be killed, he,"] supported by Codex Alexandrinus. As in the first two lines of the verse, the third and fourth lines teach (as does also Jr 15:2, on which the saying rests) the duty of endurance and the fulfillment of the will of God. Perhaps under the influence of such sayings as Mt 26:52 (πάντες γὰρ οἱ λαβόντες μάχαιραν ἐν μαχαίρη ἀπολοῦνται), copyists modified in various ways the difficult Greek construction (which, as Charles points out, seems to be a literal rendering of a distinctively Hebrew idiom, "if anyone is to be slain with the sword, he is to be slain with the sword") and introduced the idea of retribution (persecutors will be requited in strict accord with the lex talionis)." See also Jeremiah 15:2.

 $^{138}$  13:16a The Greek word is poiéō, which Bauer in I 1 b  $\theta$  says here means "make to, cause someone to, bring it about that." With hina and a subjunctive verb in place of the infinitive. So in this case what people are caused to do would be to dídōmi, in the 3rd person plural subjunctive, "they give." So therefore we have this phrase, "He causes everyone to give to them a mark." Everyone will be giving a mark to whom? To themselves. Yes, that is the primary meaning of the pronoun 'autos' here. Many translations have rendered didōmi as "receive." Tyndale did it, though there were a few manuscripts that had the Greek word for receive here. But "receive" is not lexically supported as a possible meaning of didōmi. Again, it is fashionable to render 3rd person plural actives as passives; see for example Mark 4:21, erchetai, "exist"; Luke 12:20, apaitousin "they are demanding"; Rev. 10:11, legousin, "they are saying"; Rev. 11:1, legōn, "as he is saying"; Rev. 12:6, trephōsin, "they might take care;" and other examples. I am saying that I rendered all these as actives, and they work fine that way. So there is no reason compelling enough to break the rules of grammar. The only reason I can come up with for this trend, is that it is their idea of an "impersonal" verb. Yes, a general "they" is impersonal, but that is still not a reason to make an active verb passive. It is perfectly colloquial and grammatical to say "they call him Jesus," etc. The only justification for making an active verb passive that I know of in the grammars, is the Aramaic 3rd person plural impersonal; see next footnote. But that is a rare and questionable occurrence, and the burden of proof is on the one asserting that it is happening.

The vast majority of Greek manuscripts, including all but one uncial, have the verb "give" in aorist active indicative 3rd person plural. The only difference between the NA28 text and the Robinson-Pierpont text is that the NA28 text, δῶσιν, is 2nd aorist, and the RP text, δώσωσιν, is aorist. No difference in meaning.

The TR has the verb "give" in 3rd person singular,  $\delta\omega\sigma\eta$ , and subjunctive aorist. The TR reading reflects an attempt I think to conform the clause to the standard Greek configuration for an "impersonal" verb, where there is no subject as a giver, and the verb is turned passive. Thus, "they might be given." This is a fact that the Greek grammars say that an "impersonal" verb in Greek grammar is in the 3rd person SINGULAR. I conclude that this is a deliberate change in the Greek text to correct grammar.

The TR reading is a small minority reading, in later manuscripts, and probably not the authorial text. Could it be conforming it to the Latin of Irenaeus and Victorinus? Or is it influenced by the late Syriac?

The majority reading, of the verb as 3rd person plural, and the object being  $\alpha \dot{\upsilon} \tau o \hat{\iota} \zeta$ , is unusual Greek, and there are really only two options as to how to make it intelligible as it is.

Option 1, the word  $\alpha \dot{\upsilon} \tau \circ \hat{\varsigma}$  is a contraction of  $\dot{\epsilon} \alpha \upsilon \tau \circ \hat{\varsigma}$ , and means "they give themselves." This is the way the scribe of ms. 1828 saw it, which reads  $\delta \hat{\omega} \sigma \upsilon \iota \dot{\epsilon} \alpha \upsilon \tau \circ \hat{\varsigma}$ , and this is certainly a real possibility. The ambiguity of  $\alpha \dot{\upsilon} \tau \circ \hat{\varsigma}$  with  $\alpha \dot{\upsilon} \tau \circ \iota \varsigma$  is a common textual variant in Revelation that I have seen. Remember, the uncials and papyri did not have breathing marks. So,  $\alpha \dot{\upsilon} \tau \circ \hat{\varsigma}$ , even with the smooth breathing mark, can easily and rightly be understood as reflexive, and mean "themselves." So the scribe of ms. 1828 was either correcting grammar, or merely understanding  $\alpha \dot{\upsilon} \tau \circ \hat{\varsigma}$  as a contraction of  $\dot{\epsilon} \alpha \upsilon \tau \circ \hat{\varsigma}$ . And it is possible that his exemplar had the long form  $\dot{\epsilon} \alpha \upsilon \tau \circ \hat{\varsigma}$ .

Option 2, is what M. Black, in An Aramaic Approach to the Gospels and Acts, pp. 126-128, would call an Aramaism, and be a "third person plural impersonal" and the meaning be similar to what the Philoxenian and Harklean Syriac read, "they be given" or "they receive." The TR reading with its 3rd singular verb would not qualify as the Aramaic impersonal remember.

An Aramaism is an unusual and rare occurrence, and I think the burden of proof that it is occurring, is on the one saying it is. That said, I have come to believe that Revelation does show an Aramaic mind in its author. For example, though even ancient Greek the words for foot  $\pi o \acute{\nu} c$  and hand  $\chi \epsilon \acute{\nu} \rho$  originally meant the whole limb, not just the foot and hand, this is most definitely always true in Hebrew and Aramaic. The author of Revelation uses  $\pi o \acute{\nu} c$ , "foot" to mean the whole limb, where he says the feet of the angel were like "columns" of fire. Legs are like columns, their forehead, <sup>17</sup>and makes it<sup>142</sup> so that no one is able to buy or sell without having the mark—<sup>143</sup> the name of the beast or the number of his name. <sup>18</sup>Here is wisdom:

and feet are not. Therefore similarly, we must conclude that in Revelation 13:16, with  $\chi\epsilon$  in the author means anywhere on the entire upper right limb, not just the hand.

In The Morphology of Koine Greek As Used in the Apocalypse of St. John: A Study, G. Mussies states, "The 3rd person singular is the category which is used when the verb is impersonal," p. 232. Regarding 3rd person plurals as passives in Revelation, Steven Thomson in his book, The Apocalypse and Semitic Syntax, Cambridge, he says on p. 21 that there are two instances: in 2:24 and 8:2. He says the ώς λέγουσιν in 2:24 means "what is called" the deep things of Satan. (I disagree with this. I translate it as follows: "the deep things of Satan," as they say.' In 8:2 the Greek text says ἐδόθησαν αὐτοῖς which is already passive. His example is from a Coptic text! Thomson does not mention this situation in 13:16. But I say, there were many, many opportunities for the proposed Aramaism to show up in Revelation, and it did not; so why must this here be such an example? I say this is not such, and I am saying here that the subject of this verb is the recipients, because autois in Revelation very often means "themselves," even without the rough breathing mark. At any rate, if the beast "causes all to receive a mark," the recipients are still getting it for themselves, unless the beast or his agent captures each individual, ties them down, and forces the mark onto them. But if that were the case, would God be able to hold them repsonsible for it? I don't believe so. So I am saying that you will have to get it for yourself, and then God can hold you repsonsible for doing it.

This Greek word translated "mark," χάραγμα káragma, means a poke into the flesh. (Perhaps like this: http://www.wsj.com/articles/wheninformation-storage-gets-under-your-skin-1474251062) It also had the meaning of an etching, branding, carving, engraving or stamp. Slaves had a poke in the flesh of their ear to show ownership. So here also, the mark of the beast will show one's voluntary allegiance to the beast and submission to the ownership of the beast. I get the impression from translating this passage that this mark will be self-arranged; that is, people will be told to do it, but nevertheless they ultimately do it voluntarily. They themselves are responsible for making sure they have it, if they want to buy or sell. In other words, it need not be mandatory by law, but life will be extremely hard without it. How could a government give the mark to 20 billion people by force in the remotest jungle? On the other hand, economic incentives have historically worked very well, without the need for something being mandatory by law. Most people serve Mammon anyway, so it will be a no-brainer for most people to get the mark. It will be a blessing on the other hand, for God's people, in that those who are serving Mammon will repent of that, and truly be content with their daily bread from God, and truly live by faith. The exciting life. Exciting to see how God will feed them each day. But we see in this book that many or most of God's people will die or be killed during those days.

<sup>141</sup> 13:16d The Greek word is χείρ, and meant the entire limb/arm, including the hand all the way up to the shoulder, as so also the word for foot can mean the whole leg; compare Revelation 10:1, where the Greek word is πόδες (feet, sg. πούς), but can and does mean there, the entire leg or limb. This is true also in many of the languages where I was raised – the word for hand or foot can mean the entire extremity. Thus here, this mark could be anywhere from the hand on up.

<sup>142</sup> 13:17b This "hina" is still connected to the poiéō of 13:16a. The initial "and" in this verse is absent from some manuscripts, because, I now quote A Textual Commentary on the Greek New Testament edited by Bruce Metzger, with text in square brackets supplied by me: "The absence of καὶ [initial "and"] in  $\aleph^*$  C about 25 minuscules (including 1611)  $\mathrm{sy_rph,h}$   $\mathrm{copsa,bo}$  al appears to be a secondary modification arising from misunderstanding the relationship between verses 16 and 17. When the "να μή ["so that not"] at the beginning of v. 17] clause was taken to be dependent upon  $\delta\hat{\omega}$ σιν ["they might give"], καὶ was naturally regarded as superfluous, whereas the clause is no doubt to be taken as dependent upon  $\pi$ οιεῖ ["he or it causes" at the beginning of v. 16] and therefore coordinate with the "να  $\delta\hat{\omega}$ σιν ["such that they might give"] clause. David Parker writes (in his NTS article): "There is too much space in the papyrus for what one would expect from other witnesses, suggesting that something extra has been written by mistake." He considers the "line written over letter" Eta as a correction sign. The UBS Textual Commentary on the Greek New Testament states on p. 49 that Irenaeus "says that 666" is found 'in all good and ancient copies,' and is 'attested by those who had themselves seen John face to face.' ...When Greek letters are used as numerals the difference between 666 and 616 is merely a change from  $\xi$  to  $\iota$  (666 =  $\chi\xi\zeta$  and 616 =  $\chi\iota\zeta$ ). Perhaps the change was intentional, seeing that the Greek form Neron Caesar written in Hebrew characters (קפרון קסר) is equivalent to 666, whereas the Latin form Nero Caesar (גרו קסר) is equivalent to 616." In addition, Peter M. Head, in Some Recently Published NT Papyri from Oxyrhynchus: An Overview and Preliminary Assessment, Published in Tyndale Bulletin 51 (2000), pp. 1-16, points out that others have noticed that "two possible transliterations of 'beast' into Hebrew could produce either 616 or 666. Aune, Revelation 6-16 (Waco, Texas: Word, 1998), pp. 722, 769-73." There is a marginal note in MS 1854: "λατεῖνος." This reflects one of the early gematrial theories, held by, among others, Irenaeus, that 666 stood for the Roman Empire. (This is what λατεῖνος means, the Roman Empire.) Here is the math:  $\lambda = 30$ ,  $\alpha = 1$ ,  $\tau = 300$ ,  $\varepsilon = 5$ ,  $\iota = 10$ ,  $\nu = 50$ , o = 70,  $\zeta = 200$ , which add up to 666. Irenaeus favored Τεῖταν (Titus) as the most likely gematrial equivalent for 666, because it had six letters, and he favored λατεῖνος second most. If the final v is removed from Τεῖταν, you

Another, current, theory is that John originally wrote just the 3 letters  $\chi\xi\zeta$  and that the Arabic writing that Islamic Jihadists wear on their foreheads or the right arms, which looks very much like these 3 Greek letters, will be the mark of the beast, and that the beast will be <sup>165</sup> 14:15a Here the Greek verb pémpō has a military operations meaning, as in, "send orders that the earth be sickled." The one in white who resembles a human is the captain of the hosts, and the agents who do the actual sickling, are his angel-soldiers, according to Matt. 13:30, 38-41. In that passage Christ "sends out his angels," and the angels gather the zizania to be burned. He explains, "The zizania are the children of the evil one, and the enemy who sows them is the devil. The harvest is the end of the age, and the reapers are angels. And as the zizania are collected and consumed by fire, so it will be at the end of the age. The Son of Man will send out his angels, ..." Here again we even have the phrase Son of Man both in the Matthew passage and in Rev 14:14. Again, in Matt. 13:49-50 we read, "This is how it will be at the end of the age. The angels will go forth and will separate the evil ones from out of the midst of the righteous, <sup>50</sup> and throw them into the furnace of fire. There will be weeping there, and gnashing of teeth." Luke 17:35-37 hints that the angels take them all to one place, where the vultures feed on them. See also the correspondence of fire, in both Matt. 13:40 and Rev. 14:18. Rev. 14:20 tells us that the people are put "outside the city" and their blood will flow as high as the horse's bridle for a distance of 180 miles. There is fire in the form of the fire of the city dump outside the city, Jerusalem. When the disciples asked Jesus where the angels take them in Luke 17:37, Jesus answered that it would be where there would be vultures gathered, that's where. The number of bleeding bodies required to produce that kind of a river of blood, would indeed attract a very large amount of vultures, eagles, crows and any other birds that eat carrion.

The UBS textual comentary says: "The reading of the Textus Receptus, which has only the slenderest support in Greek witnesses (296 2049, neither of which was available when the Textus Receptus was formed) appears to have arisen from confusion of the Latin compendia for sanctorum (sctorum) and saeculorum (sclorum [=αἰώνων]); "saint" is also read by several Latin writers, including Victorinus-Pettau, Tyconius, Apringius, and Cassidorus." H. C. Hoskier says that the only two Greek manuscripts in support of the Textus Receptus, 57 (296) and 141 (2049), ARE the Textus Receptus. He says in Text 1 on pp. 179-180 that ms. 57 (296) is a handwritten copy of Colinaeus' printed edition, that is, a copy of a printed Greek NT, published in 1534. And at the bottom of Text 1 p. 615, Hoskier says, "This MS 187 with 57 and 141 must not be accorded any weight whatsoever. They are brought into the record because of their very connection with the printed text." Thus they are both 16th century copies made from various editions of the Textus Receptus. The bottom line is that there is no Greek manuscript support for the TR reading of "saints."

The family of minuscules 104, 336, 459, 620, 1918, are diglots, Greek and Latin, and their Latin text reads lapide, "stone." The Greek witnesses reading λινον "linen" (only a small fraction of them cited here) do not agree as to its accent and spelling. They show a very wide variety thereof. Several minuscules show knowledge of the λιθον reading in their scholia (242, 250, 743, 2070, 2075, 2077, and by inference versus "txt"- 2051, 2064, 2067). Hoskier points out Ezekiel 28:13-14, where that cherub is described to be dressed in stone. So perhaps A and C harmonized to Ezekiel. There are several instances of Apocalypse manuscripts harmonizing to Daniel or to Ezekiel. Ezekiel chapter 28: "13 You were in Eden, the garden of God; every precious stone was your covering, the sardius, the topaz, and the diamond, the beryl, the onyx, and the jasper, the sapphire, the emerald, and the carbuncle, and gold: the workmanship of your tabrets and of your pipes was in you; in the day that you were created they were prepared. 14 You were the anointed cherub that covers..." Oecumenius appears completely unaware of the "linen" variant, and knows only "stone", and comments at length about these angels' clean bright stone dress. He says angels were dressed in linen, or stone of various value, depending on their power and rank. See Arethas' and Andrew's scholii in 2070 and 250. They state that angels' native condition of ceremonial purity was to be dressed in a clean stone linen. Elsewhere Arethas says of the stone, that it was "golden, transparent stone." Some points to consider: 1. The wide variety of spelling and punctuation of the λινον variant makes it suspect. 2. The reading λιθον is certainly the more difficult reading, more likely to prompt revision, as the 046 stream is famous for. 3. Perhaps the reading "clean bright linen" is a harmonization to the gospels' description of angels on earth, and to the description of the armies of heaven elsewhere in Revelation, like 19:14. Or perhaps to 19:8, where the βύσσινον λαμπρὸν καθαρόν represents the righteous acts of the saints. Interesting that in both other instances of Revelation of bright clean linen, it is not the word λινον but βύσσινον. See the endnote in my longer version of Revelation, for the Greek text of Oecumenius' commentary.

In other words, I could have said, "And the water of it was dried up," but in English that can sound like a past tense statement that says the water was already dried up. It is part of the meaning transfer to show that it was the 6th bowl that caused the Euphrates River to dry up. In American English the passive is disappearing, for some unjustifiable reason.

This is a passage in Revelation that really separates the good manuscripts from the inferior. The ones reading the word "temple" alone here are the best manuscripts of the Apocalypse of John. (See next footnote.) The uncial C is also good in Revelation, but it has a hiatus here.

<sup>189 16:17</sup>e Regarding the phrase "And a loud voice came out of the temple from the throne," this source given for the loud voice, is rather perplexing at first. It would seem to be indicating a new and previously unknown throne existing in the temple, that is, the "temple of the tabernacle of testimony" in 15:5 which sets the context for this passage. Perhaps it was for this reason that many manuscripts add the explanatory phrase "of heaven," that is, designating a different temple, heaven itself being the temple, thus: "the temple of heaven." That would be something along the lines of 13:6 where it says "And he opened his mouth in blasphemies toward God, to blaspheme his name and his tabernacle, those tabernacling in heaven." In that passage heaven itself is called a tabernacle. So with the added words, this perplexing problem is then solved, designating heaven itself as being the temple, (though here the Greek word "naos" is used but in 13:6 it is "skeenee"), and that way the throne in the temple is not a new, previously unmentioned one. Yet, this present temple in this passage is first introduced in 15:5, "the temple of the tabernacle of testimony," and keys the start of this whole context of the seven bowls. So in 15:6 and onward, we now see other voices and angels coming out of this temple besides the present one. And since this particular temple is opened for the first time in 15:5, it cannot be referring to heaven, as the Majority Text seems to say. So perhaps there is an unusual meaning of the preposition apó here, such as "by authority of" the throne. According to Bauer, it is an expression known in Classical Greek to use the preposition apó to indicate the originator or authorizer of the action. John does use that expression in John 5:19, 30; 7:17; 7:28; 8:28, 42; 10:18; 11:51; 14:10; 15:4; 16:13; 18:34. Thus: a loud voice came out of the temple, on behalf of the throne. It is interesting to see that up to this point, John has been totally consistent in using the preposition ek in every case when a voice is coming from somewhere, see 9:13; 10:4; 10:8; 11:12; 14:2; 14:13; 16:1. And this applies in all editions of the Greek New Testament. But starting here and then in 19:5, there are textual variants between ek and apó. The Majority Text in the later instances says apó instead of ek. We would expect the two to be confused at a later date, since according to Blass, BDF §209, apó has absorbed ek in modern Greek. Whereas he says in $209(1) that in a locative sense the two were still distinguished for the most part in New Testament times. Now moving further in Revelation, again in 18:4 ek is used for a voice from heaven, and in 19:5 where the voice is from the throne, apó is used. That would be quite a pattern up to that point, but then 21:3 would seem to ruin it - there were lightnings and sounds and thunderings.<sup>190</sup> And a powerful earthquake occurred, such as has not happened since humankind existed on the earth, so great an earthquake it was. <sup>19</sup>And the great city was split into three, and the cities of the Gentiles collapsed. And Babylon the Great, it was remembered in the presence of God to give her the cup of the wine of the fury of God's wrath. <sup>20</sup>And every island vanished away, and no mountains were found. <sup>21</sup>And huge hailstones, about 100 pounds in weight, came down on the people out of heaven; and the people cursed God because of the plague of hail. For severe is the blow of it, extremely.

Chapter 17

The Mysterious Prostitute

<sup>1</sup>Then one of the seven angels who had the seven bowls came and spoke with me, saying, "Come, I will show you the judgment of the great prostitute who sits on many waters, <sup>2</sup>with whom the kings of the earth have fornicated. And those dwelling on the earth have become intoxicated from the wine of her fornication."

<sup>3</sup>And he carried me away in the Spirit to a wilderness. And I saw a woman sitting on a scarlet beast that had seven heads and ten horns, which was full of blasphemous names. <sup>4</sup>And the woman was dressed in purple and scarlet, and covered with gold and precious stones and pearls, holding a golden cup in her hand, full of abominations and the uncleanness of her<sup>191</sup> prostitution. <sup>5</sup>And on her forehead a title was written:

A Mystery
Babylon the Great,
the mother of prostitutes
and of the abominations of the earth.

The NA27 text has a voice coming from the throne, using ek. There are two other instances in Revelation of the two prepositions ek and apó occurring together in one phrase, and they are both referring to the city called the New Jerusalem, coming down out of heaven from God, 3:12 and 21:2.

Often in the New Testament it means "is destined to," which is part of the meaning here. And often it makes a simple future infinitive, by being used with an infinitive following, as is the case here. Bauer says this phrase, a combination of méllō followed by a present infinitive, replaced the future infinitive verb of Classical Greek. Thus, the TR has no Greek manuscript support for this reading, and no versional or Patristic support either. And on page 1:615, Hoskier says, "This MS 187 with 57 and 141 must not be accorded any weight whatsoever. They are brought into the record because of their very connection with the printed text." Hoskier further states this plainly in Text Volume 2, p. 156, lines 26,27, where he says "...57 et 141 ex ed. typ. exscripti." This means 57 and 141 are "copied from printed edition."

Chapter 18

Fallen Is Babylon the Great

<sup>1</sup>After these things I saw another angel coming down out of heaven, having great authority, and the earth was lit up from his glory. <sup>2</sup>And he cried out in a powerful voice, <sup>201</sup> saying, "Fallen! Fallen is Babylon the Great, and has become the dwelling place of demons and the haunt of every unclean spirit and the haunt of every unclean bird, <sup>202</sup> and the haunt of every unclean and detestable beast, <sup>203</sup> <sup>3</sup>because every nation has drunk <sup>204</sup> of the wine of the wrath of her prostitution, and the kings

<sup>197</sup> 17:13c The Greek word is gnōmē, which means what you have in mind, what you intend, what your purpose is. But it is not necessarily talking here about what the kings have in mind, (or what a one-world government has in mind) but what Satan and the beast have in mind, which providentially is also what God has in mind. Ultimately, these kings serve the purpose of God, the king of the ages. For from Him, and through Him, and to Him are all things. To God be the glory, for ever. Amen. Others think this means "these have one mind," in other words, they are in agreement with each other.

<sup>198</sup> 17:13d The Greek for "give" is in the present indicative. But this is sort of an "inverse infinitive of result." A kind of Semitism. In other words, there is a formula in Hebraistic Greek called an "infinitive of result," where kai followed by an infinitive in the Greek means in English a result, ie, "and then he will do such and such." Here the formula is solved in reverse: The Greek "and then they will do such and such" means in English an exepegetical "and that is to do such and such." What they do, is what their one purpose was. And they do do it.

18:7 The word horáō here means to see in the sense of to experience something. The whole verse emphasizes experience of the senses, and sensuality in general. Earlier in the verse, the word strēniáō means to "live luxuriously, sensually," which again is the idea of enjoying one's senses and experiencing good feeling things. So now she is condemned to experience bad things, since she earlier had experienced only good things, compare Luke 16:25, where Abraham said to the rich man, "Son, recall that in your lifetime, you received your good things, while Lazarus likewise received his bad; so now here, he is comforted, and you are suffering." And Luke 6:24, 25: "But woe to you who are rich, because you have received your share of comfort. Woe to you who are well fed now, for you will go hungry. 18:12b The Greek says "thuonic wood." There was a "thuon tree" that grew in north Africa. The most important property of this tree is that its wood was burnt in offerings in ceremonies. Furniture made out of its wood was in popular demand. Its resin was valued not only for ceremonial incense, but may have been medicinally used, as an anti-biotic, anti-fungal and antiwart. Some say this was the citron tree, also grown in north Africa, and valued for its resin and durable wood. They claim that for the Jewish feast of Booths, there developed a custom, based on the command in Leviticus 23:40 to "take the fruit of the goodliest tree" the custom to use the cedar cone in the ceremonies. But then that the custom changed to using citron fruit, with the Greek name for cedar, kedron, held over and applied to the citron. And that the Greek word for cedar, κέδρον - kedron, was latinized into citron. I don't know how valid that is, since there was a specific Greek word for citron, κίτρον - kitron. And this word was said by Pamphilus to be a word borrowed from Latin. The citron tree does have aromatic resin that was valued. This passage in Revelation does not mention how thuonic wood was used, but it reminds me of the Greek word for offering, thumos. I am not convinced that the thuon tree was the same as the citron tree. On the other hand, the Latin name thuja plicata, a kind of cedar with overlapping scale-like leaves, is said to be borrowed from the Greek word thuon. There is a tree in North America called thuja plicata, also known as red cedar. Obviously, this could hardly be the tree meant here in Revelation. But what all these trees have in common is aromatic properties- resins and hydrocarbons, that could be used for offerings as a pleasing aroma.

It is humankind who will not find them, at least where she was. Humankind and the planet are much better off without her luxuries. It is luxurious living that destroys the planet. In this passage, the logic is that the traders and merchants would miss her because of her high prices, for where would you rather take your wares, to where they are accustomed to high prices, or to where they have low prices? You could accurately render the word here as "high prices." But this brings up another illustration of how the rich oppress the poor. Many a poor person has had his home demolished because of how it would adversely affect the high prices of the homes of his rich neighbors. And thus, the rich get richer, and the poor get poorer. There is no greater freedom a country can have than that each citizen be allowed to build a house that each can afford, no matter what quality, and own that house debt-free from the start. But her Priceyness is building up wrath for that day.

The word καλούμενος, "called," is of doubtful authenticity because of the variety of its positions in the manuscripts. This is a principle of Textual Criticism, that a great variety of readings indicates dubiousness. If the word were not present in the Greek, the English copula would normally be supplied- "the one sitting on it was faithful and true." Yet to supply "was called" would not be out of the question.

<sup>241</sup> 19:20c I believe it is important to use the word "arrested," because elsewhere the beast is called "the man of lawlessness." And also to remind us that the beast will be "Caesar." Yes, he will be the government, and we must remember that governments do break laws, and they will be held accountable for breaking laws. Sometimes we have a legal duty to disobey the government. And the kingdom of God is a government, and now, "the kingdoms of this world are become the kingdom of our Lord, and of his Christ." Amen.

Chapter 20

The One Thousand Years

<sup>1</sup>And I saw an angel coming down from heaven, holding the key to the abyss and a giant chain in his hand. <sup>2</sup>And he captured the dragon, the ancient serpent, which is the Devil and Satan, <sup>242</sup> and bound him for a thousand years, <sup>3</sup>and cast him into the abyss, and closed <sup>243</sup> and sealed it over him, so that he could no longer deceive the nations, until the end of the thousand years; after them he must be released for a short time.

<sup>4</sup>And I saw thrones, and they took their seat on them, and judgeship was given to them, that is, the souls of those beheaded because of the testimony of Jesus, and because of the word of God, and who did not worship the beast, neither the image of him, and did not take the mark on their forehead or on their hand. And they came to life, and reigned with Christ a thousand<sup>244</sup> years. <sup>5</sup>(The rest<sup>245</sup> of the dead did not come to life until the thousand years were finished.)<sup>246</sup> This is the first resurrection. <sup>6</sup>Blessed and holy is he who takes part in the first resurrection; over such, the second death has no power, but instead they shall be priests of God and of Christ, and shall reign with him a thousand years.

The Last War

<sup>7</sup>And when the thousand years are finished, Satan shall be released from his prison, <sup>8</sup>and he shall go forth to deceive the nations which are in the four points of the earth, Gōg and Magōg, <sup>247</sup> to gather them together for war, the number of them being as the sand of the seashore. <sup>9</sup>And they rose up over the breadth of the earth, and surrounded the company of the saints and the beloved city. And fire came down from heaven <sup>248</sup> and consumed them. <sup>10</sup>And the Devil, the deceiver of them, was cast into the lake of fire and sulfur, where also <sup>249</sup> the beast and false prophet were, and they shall be tormented day and night, for ever and ever.

The former seems more likely, than that angels will always use cubits.

The River of Living Water

<sup>1</sup>And he showed me the river<sup>282</sup> of the water of life, bright like crystal, flowing from the throne of God and of the Lamb <sup>2</sup>in the middle of its boulevard. And on either side of the river, the tree of life producing twelve fruits, according to the month each one yielding its fruit, <sup>283</sup> and the leaves of the tree are for the healing of the nations. <sup>284</sup> <sup>3</sup>And every accursed thing <sup>285</sup> will no longer <sup>286</sup> exist. <sup>284</sup> 22:2d Compare Ezekiel 47:12, where it says "all kinds of fruit." Some interpreters see the δώδεκα "twelve" with a δωδεκάκις meaning, that is, "twelve times," see BDF § 248(3). If δώδεκα here means "monthly," then κατὰ μῆνα "according to the month" would seem redundant. "Monthly" is what is said in Ezekiel and also in Shemot r. 15, acc. to Lohmeyer, Hdb. ad loc. But καρποὺς "fruits" here is plural, and it seems to be saying that there are 12 different kinds of fruit (but all are "the tree of life"), and each different kind of fruit is borne in a different month. You could still have "12 kinds of fruits, every month each one yielding its fruit." But I don't know how "month" or "monthly" either one, could be literal, since there will be no more night or day. How then would there still be "months" if there is no more night or day, and there is no need for a sun anymore?

Affecting this and other variants in Revelation is the scribes' and the interpreters' understanding of passages such as 22:15, "Outside are the dogs, etc." If one understands that passage to mean that there will still be wicked and accursed people on the earth at that time, only not allowed into the city, then you might want to specify here that no accursed thing will be "there" in the city itself. But if you understand that "outside" to not be spatially literal, but rather global, that they will not even be in the kingdom even outside the city, then the "no longer" variant is more acceptable. One wonders too, concerning the similar phrase in 22:5 a couple verses later, how or whether these two pulled on each other. English translations vary greatly as to which variant, "no longer" versus "there," that they follow (several even conflate the two). They also vary greatly as to whether the phrase pân katáthema means "any curse" or "any accursed thing." I went with the latter because Revelation shows a distinct concern with Jewish cleanness.

There is simply no Greek manuscript support for the TR reading. The TR reading is found in only two Greek manuscripts, 296 and 2049, (plus margin of 2067 in a very late hand) but these two, 296 & 2049 do not count, since both are 16th century manuscripts (Hoskier's numbers, 57 & 141) that were handwritten copies made from the TR itself, according to Hoskier (see table at end of this document). One cannot use a copy of the TR to prove that a TR reading is found in Greek manuscripts. A plausible theory as to the origin of the reading is that it is probably from the Latin, and maybe confusion of libro and ligno. Proof that Erasmus got this "book" reading from the Latin is the fact that his one Greek Revelation manuscript, 2814, formerly known as No. 1, had an exact sister manuscript not known to him at the time, and this manuscript, 2186 (208), did not lack the end verses. And here in 22:19, that sister manuscript reads "tree" not "book." And at the bottom of page 1:615, Hoskier says, "This MS 187 with 57 and 141 must not be accorded any weight whatsoever. They are brought into the record because of their very connection with the printed text." Moreover, there should remain no doubt that Erasmus himself admitted that his TR Greek text of Revelation 22:16-21 was from Latin sources and not Greek. Erasmus wrote: "There was no doubt that some things were missing, and it was not much. Therefore we completed the Greek from our Latin texts, so that there might be no gap. We did not want to hide this from the reader, however, and acknowledge in the Annotationes what we had done, in order that, if our words differed in some respect from those that the author of this work had provided, the reader who obtained a manuscript could restore them." See Jan Krans' book "Beyond What is Written, Erasmus and Beza as Conjectural Critics of the New Testament," pp. 55-57, Brill, (2006), in which he cites sources in Erasmus' writings. Both the words αμην and ναι mean something like "yes," and so I think they were both liturgical additions to an original ἔρχου standing alone. The  $\aleph$  reading is bolstered by another uncial, 052, in the form of its minuscule descendants 1678 1778, plus with the very good minuscules 2053 2062 2186 2329 added to them. This consortium is at least as good as A 046, and certainly better than 051supp as a lone uncial. The 922 reading is simply a mistaking of NAI for KAI. I think that the  $\aleph$  reading is probably correct. At the same time, I am loathe to remove the word Amen, because it is so natural- my soul immediately exclaims it in response to the statement "Yes, I am coming soon." But that may be another explanation as to how and why it got added as text: perhaps an enthusiastic remark in the margin eventually made it into the text itself.

Revelation Endnote #1

"Angel" of each of the seven churches, or "messenger?"

The phrase "angel of" can mean the angel "in charge of" as in the following: There was an "angel of the waters" in Rev. 16:5.

Angels of children in Matt. 18:10.

Angel of the fire, Rev. 14:18

Angel of the censer 8:3

Angel of the Abyss, 9:11

There is nothing unusual about God using an angel to deliver a message to humans. There are many, many such instances elsewhere in the Bible. Why not here? And according Hebrews 13:2, people have entertained angels without knowing it. Indeed, angels in the Old Testament often appeared as humans; see Gen. 16:7; 19:1; and many others.

The spies are called angels in James 2:25

The angel Gabriel, in Daniel 9:21, communicates between Daniel and God. In Daniel 10:12-14, Gabriel tells Daniel that in the process of delivering Daniel's prayers, an angel, or fallen angel to be exact, whom he called the "prince of the kingdom of Persia, hindered him in delivering those prayers, but Michael, whom he calls "one of the chief princes" and whom we know is an angel, helped Gabriel. The point I am making is that there was "an angel of Persia," that is, a fallen angel in charge of Persia. So also there was a "Prince of Greece," in Daniel 10:20. This is left over from when Satan used to be an archangel along with Michael and Gabriel. They set angels over certain territories in their military planning.

Angel acts as messenger in Rev. 1:1; 22:6, 16.

It does not make sense for the messengers of each church to be a man. Because the churches had more than one pastor in each church, they are always mentioned in the plural:

When they had ordained elders in every church, Acts 14:23.

Elders of the church in Ephesus, Acts 20:17

Ordain elders in every city, Titus 1:5

Let him call for the elders of the church, James 5:14.

I Peter 5:1,2, "The elders among you I exhort, overseers of the flock..." Here Peter equates elders, presbuteroi, with overseers, episkopoi "bishops."

Acts 20:28, (see 20:17, elders of the church of Ephesus, 20:28, Paul now calls them overseers, episkopoi, so Paul also equates presbuteroi with episkopoi.

Philippians 1:1, the church there has plural overseers.

Titus 1:5, 7 Paul says appoint elders...for an overseer is... Paul again equates an elder with an overseer.

We can say that the office of elder and the office of overseer are the same office. The overseers should naturally be somewhat elder, especially elder in the faith (I Timothy 3:6, he must not be a recent convert) and one of their main functions is to both oversee and to visit; both meanings of episkopew.

Why not an angel in charge of each church in Asia. It would not be unreasonable to assume that there is a fallen angel in charge of each church as well, representing Satan's interests.

Revelation Endnote #2

Revelation 7:6, 8

In this list of the sons of Israel, as pertaining to the 144,000, 12,000 called from each tribe of Israel, Joseph is represented twice, as his own name in verse 8, and also by way of his son Manasseh in verse 6. Israel had only 12 sons, so if Joseph is represented twice, that means that one of the other sons of Israel is missing here. Dan is missing.

Jacob's blessing of Dan:

Genesis:

49:16 Dan shall judge his people, as one of the tribes of Israel.

49:17 Dan shall be a serpent in the way, an adder in the path, that bites the horse's heels, so that his rider falls backward.

49:18 I have waited for your salvation, O Yahweh.

Recall similar language about the Serpent- Biting heels Attacking the rider on the horse

Does Jacob seem to be wanting Deliverance from Dan? Jacob waits for Salvation from Dan is what I think it means. Recall also that Satan is called the Accuser of the Brethren. Dan could be a judge in this sense.

Jacob's blessing of Joseph:

Genesis:

49:22 Joseph is a fruitful bough, a fruitful bough by a fountain; his branches run over the wall.

49:23 The archers have sorely grieved him, and shot at him, and persecute him:

49:24 But his bow abode in strength, and the arms of his hands were made strong, by the hands of the Mighty One of Jacob, (From there is the shepherd, the stone of Israel), 49:25 Even by the God of your father, who shall help you, and by the Almighty, who shall bless you, with blessings of heaven above, blessings of the deep that crouches beneath, blessings of the breasts, and of the womb.

49:26 The blessings of your father have prevailed above the blessings of my progenitors to the utmost bound of the everlasting hills: They shall be on the head of Joseph, and on the crown of the head of him that was separate from his brothers.

Moses' blessing of Dan:

Deuteronomy 33:22 "And of Dan he said, Dan is a lion's whelp, That leaps forth from Bashan."

Recall Psalm 22 "bulls of Bashan surround me..."? The Bull is sometimes a symbol of Satan. Baal-zibbul. Jesus was mocked by bulls of Bashan as he suffered on the cross. Bashan was the territory of Dan.

Moses' blessing of Joseph:

33:13 And of Joseph he said, Blessed of Yahweh be his land, for the precious things of heaven, for the dew, and for the deep that crouches beneath,

33:14 And for the precious things of the fruits of the sun, and for the precious things of the growth of the moons,

33:15 And for the chief things of the ancient mountains, and for the precious things of the everlasting hills,

33:16 And for the precious things of the earth and the fulness thereof, and the good will of him that dwelt in the bush. Let the blessing come upon the head of Joseph, and upon the crown of the head of him that was separate from his brothers.

33:17 The firstling of his herd, majesty is his; and his horns are the horns of the wildox: with them he shall push the peoples all of them, even the ends of the earth: and they are the ten thousands of Ephraim, And they are the thousands of Manasseh.

God's curse on the serpent:

Genesis 3:14 And Yahweh God said to the serpent, because you have done this, cursed are you above all cattle, and above every beast of the field; upon your belly shall you go, and dust shall you eat all the days of your life:

3:15 and I will put enmity between you and the woman, and between your seed and her seed: he shall bruise your head, and you shall bruise his heel.

David:

109:8 Let his days be few; and let another take his office.

109:9 Let his children be fatherless, and his wife a widow.

109:10 Let his children be vagabonds, and beg; and let them seek their bread out of their desolate places.

109:11 Let the extortioner catch all that he has; and let strangers make spoil of his labor.

109:12 Let there be none to extend kindness unto him; neither let there be any to have pity on his fatherless children.

109:13 Let his posterity be cut off; in the generation following let their name be blotted out.

Ezekiel 47:13 "Thus saith the Lord Yahweh: This shall be the border, whereby ye shall divide the land for inheritance according to the twelve tribes of Israel: Joseph shall have two portions."

Genesis 49:22, of Joseph: "His branches run over the wall."

This means Joseph went over the wall and took Dan's inheritance. That is what the wall signifies; the stone boundary between lots.
