

Three young cyclists in a race today each had a mishap somewhere on the way. A fall, a buckled wheel and a flat tire. These were the mishaps that caused all the ire. Each on another bike pedaled very fast but they couldn't catch up so they finished last. From this information and the following clues, for each cyclist, can you determine which mishap befell them, where it happened and their final placing?

- Neither of the girls fell off their bike.
- Daisy finished in the best position of the three.
- The rider in the mishap by the river finished second from last.
- Stella's mishap was a buckled wheel outside the library.
