

I am an instrument,
one reed to my name.
My body is straight,
and my barrel the same.

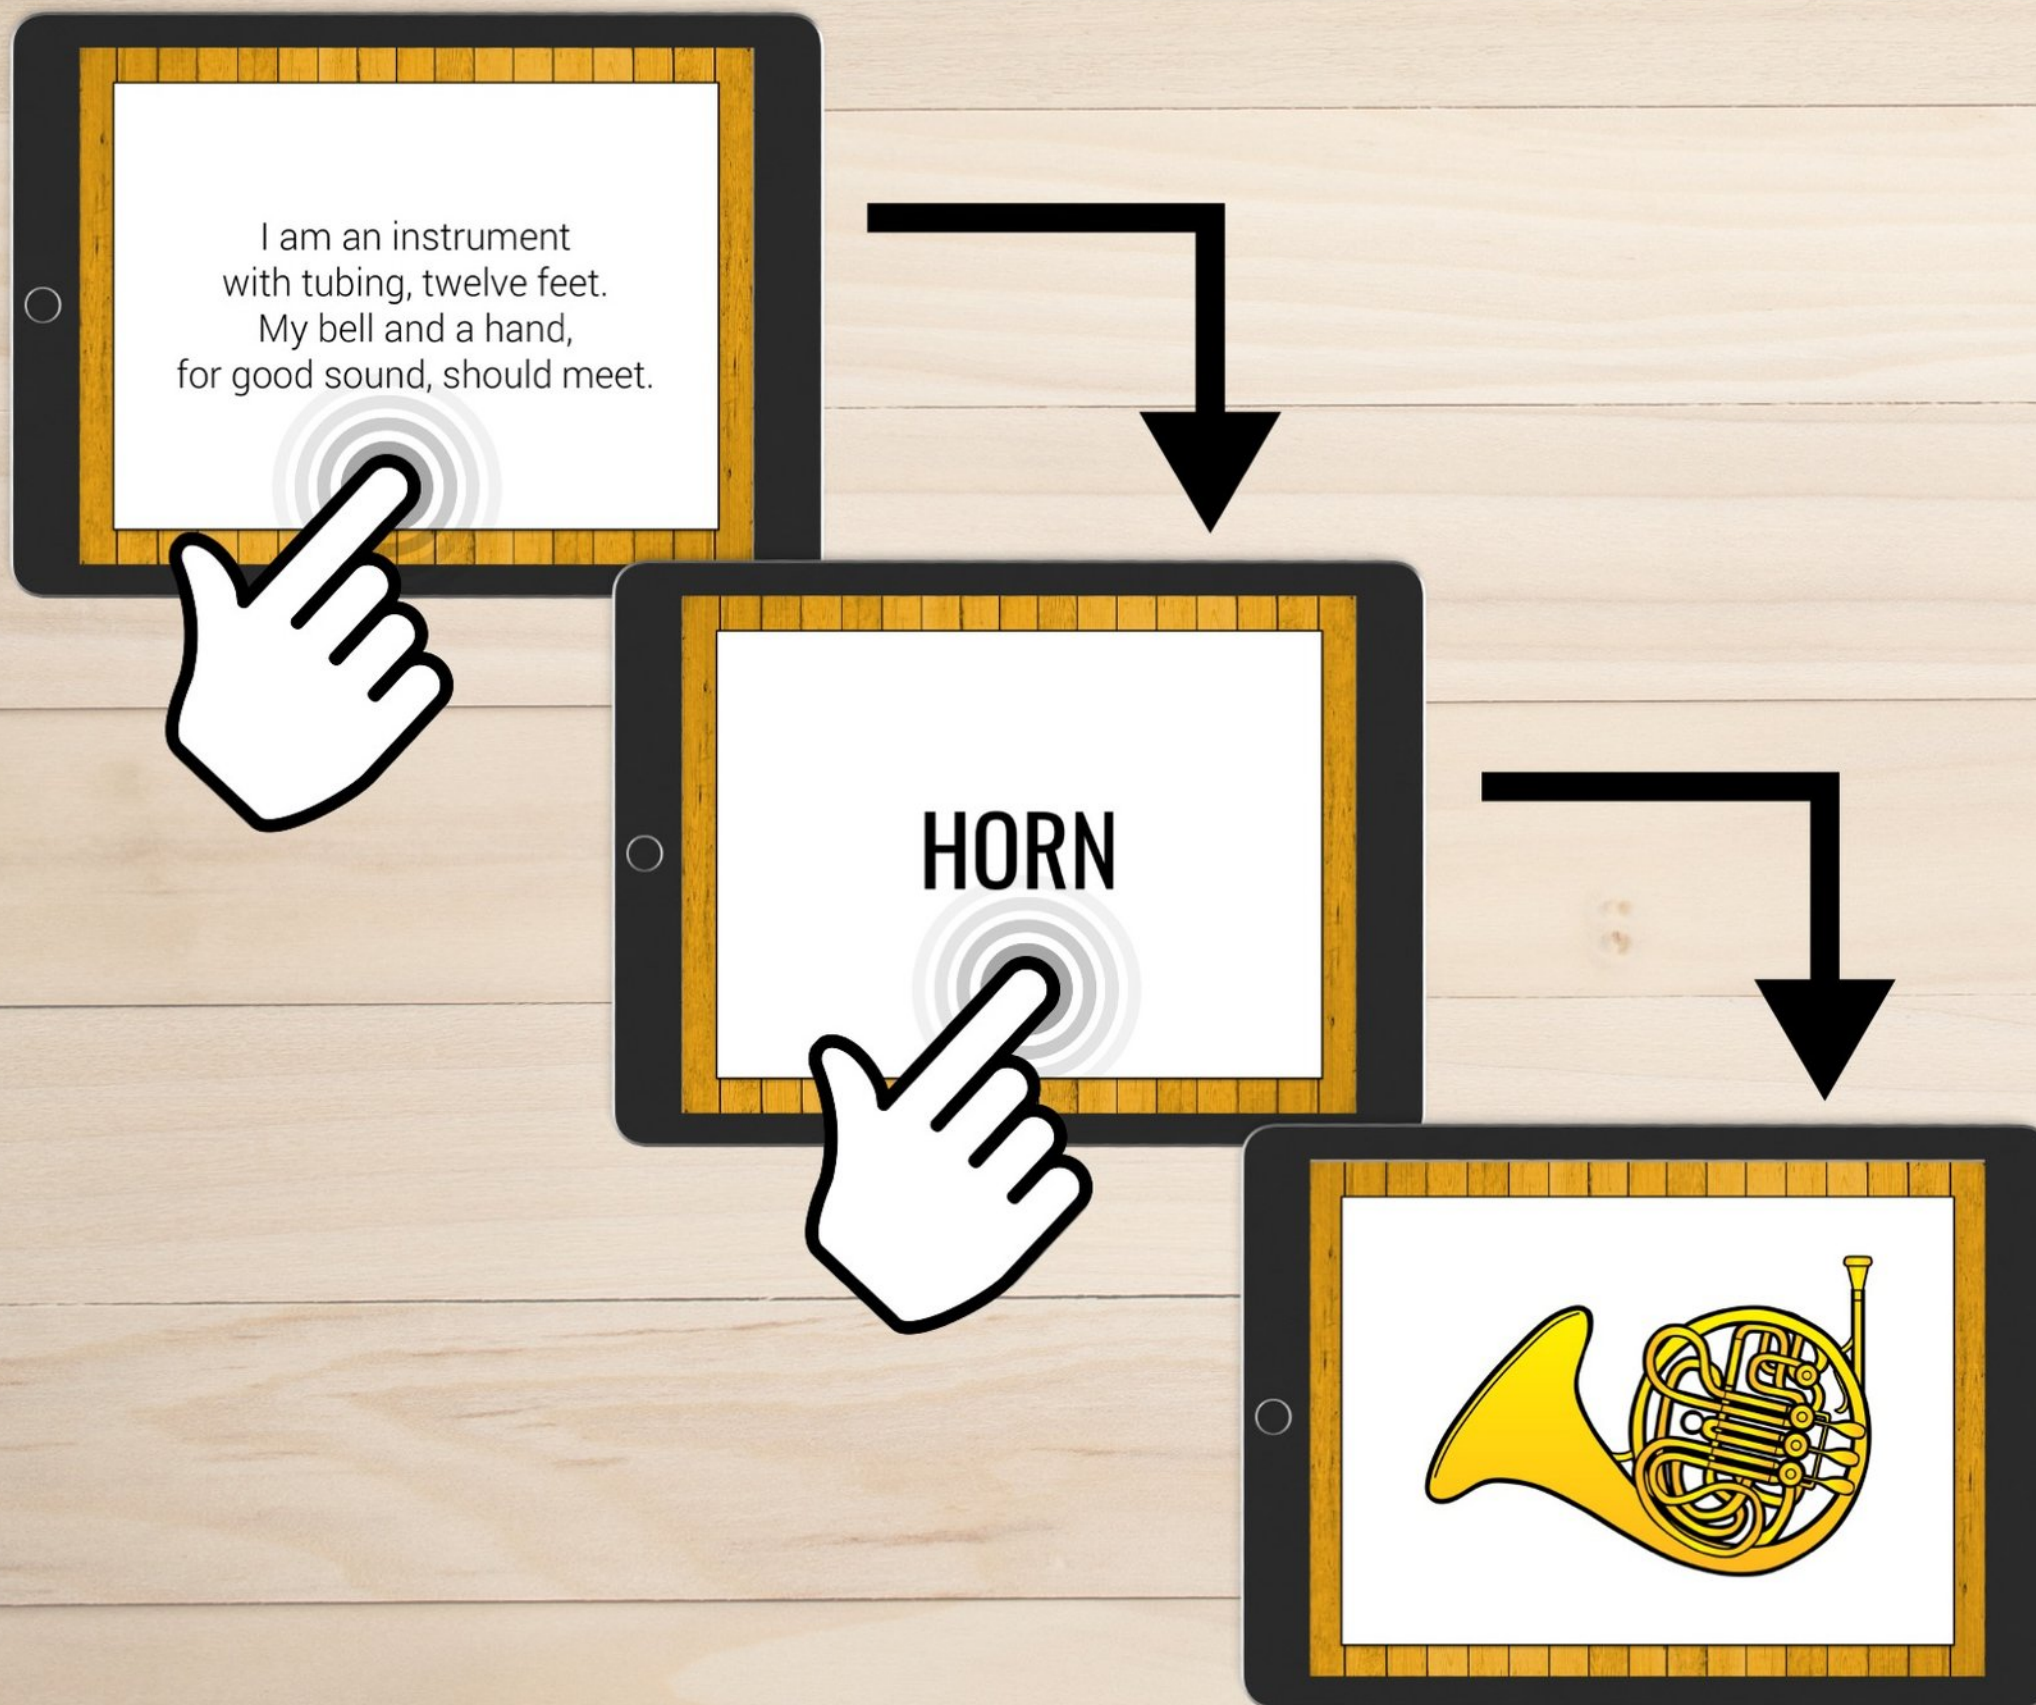

Google Slides & PDF Versions

A multi-use resource for teaching instruments
featuring ideas for:

- ☒ Review
- ☒ Assessment
- ☒ Games

Includes answer sheet and ideas for use

Google Slides™ presentation makes it easy to perform a quick review

Use the instrument riddles as a no-prep review at the beginning or end of class.

Digital and print options provide multiple methods of use.

FRONT

I am an instrument,
one reed to my name.
My body is straight,
and my barrel the same.

BACK (OPTION 1)

BACK (OPTION 2)

CLARINET

Print the riddles double-sided for an easy set of flashcards.

Students become detectives with fun and engaging instrument riddles

I am an instrument
with a bright, brassy sound.
I have three valves,
to the high notes I'm bound!

I am an instrument
with hammers and strings.
Black and white keys play wonderful things!

Loved these riddles. First, grades 3-5 learned about a family of instruments then at the end the riddle was used as an assessment. Later, I pulled the riddles back out for a review. - The students had a blast testing their knowledge in a fun, unique, engaging way.

— Dee Dee B.

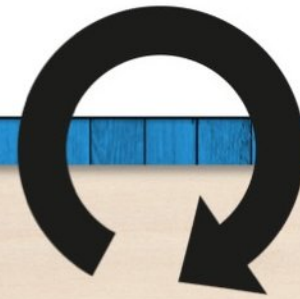

Create a scavenger hunt where students answer riddles and explore the classroom to find all the instruments.

Digital and print options provide multiple methods of use.

FRONT

I am an instrument,
one reed to my name.
My body is straight,
and my barrel the same.

BACK (OPTION 1)

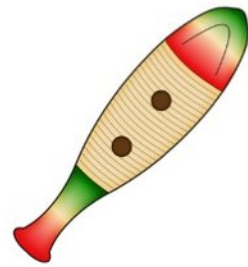

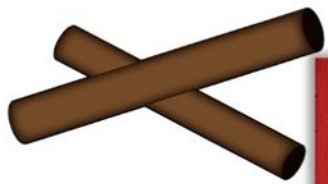

BACK (OPTION 2)

CLARINET

Print the riddles double-sided for an easy set of flashcards.

Students use the images to identify the names of each instrument

Our annual field trip to the orchestra is virtual this year, and they have a spy theme. I used this with the students to review instruments of the orchestra and they loved it!

— Jennifer H.

Have students play a modified four corners game where they race around the room to answer the instrument riddles.

Instrument Riddles are the perfect activity for centers and other small group work

This was my families' favorite activity open house night! So many parents were either impressed that their student knew the instrument or the other way around - That their parents knew what instruments even were, haha!

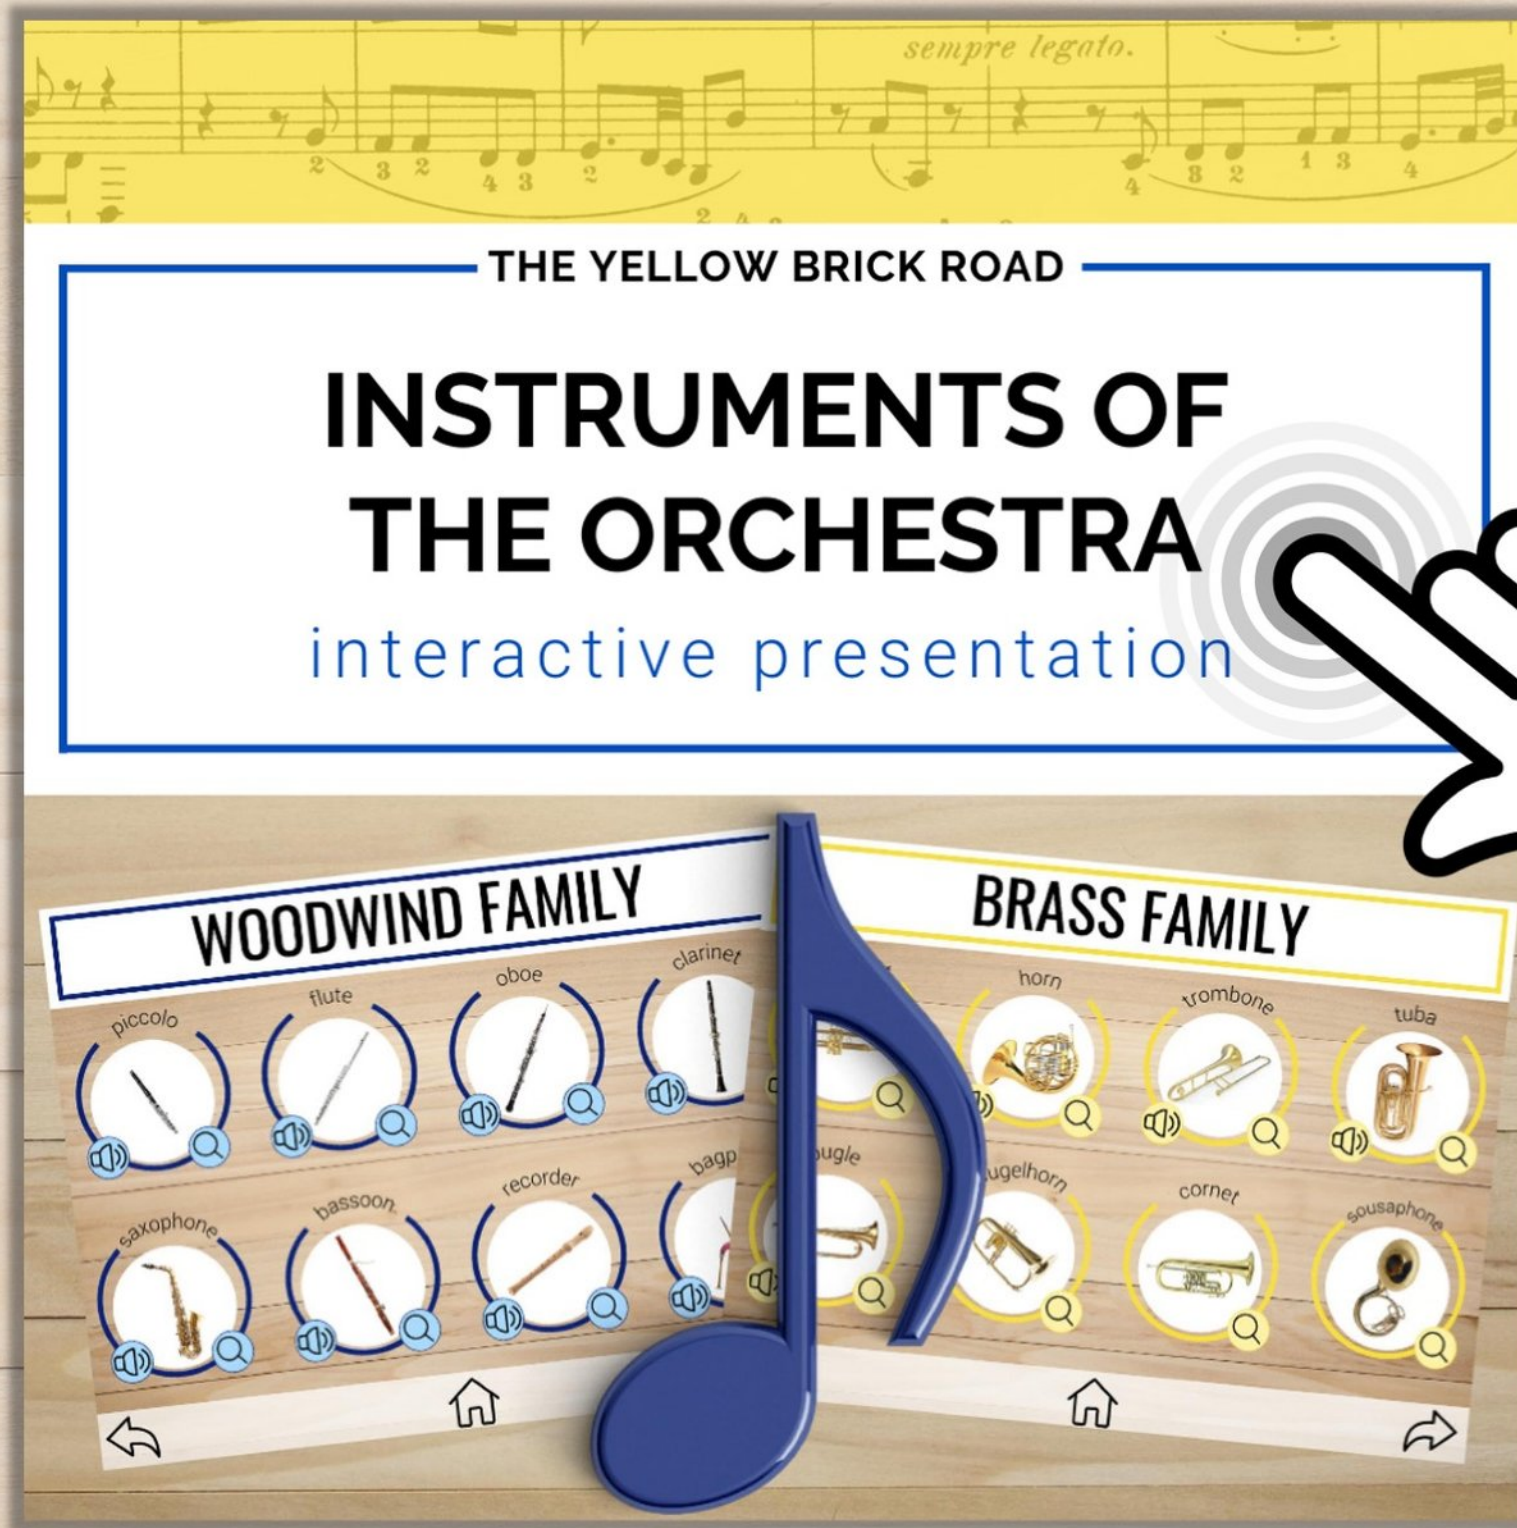

— Music with Mari

Tape the riddles to the front of a file folder with the answer on the inside.

Then, display the file folders on a bulletin board for your next open house night!

Complete with interactive audio, video links, and your choice of a Google Slides™ or PowerPoint presentation.

Save time by grabbing this no-prep instruments of the orchestra interactive presentation.