

Lower Extremity Stretching Home Exercise Program

Flexibility exercises are done to increase overall muscle length. This reduces the incidence of injuries, such as muscle strains, pulls or tears. Flexibility exercises also increase efficiency and therefore improve performance. All stretching should be static; no bouncing stretches. Stretching should be slightly uncomfortable, but not painful. Do each stretch slowly and hold for 20 to 30 seconds. Repeat 3 to 5 times.

Note: Shading indicates area being stretched.

Warm up muscle group you intend to stretch with a low intensity aerobic activity such as biking, walking or jogging.
