Life Pattern Grid (LPG)

Life Pattern Grid is the most important analysis as it helps in identifying inner traits of an individual. LPG also highlights Mental, Emotional, Practical, Thought, Will and Action traits. There are arrows of strength and weaknesses.

Background of LPG:

The legend goes that one of the great emperors of China once found a tortoise shell during a flood of the river Lo. This was a highly auspicious omen as the people in those times believed that God lived inside tortoise and turtle shells. This particular tortoise shell had extraordinary markings – it contained a perfect, three-by-three square on its back. This square is known as the Lo Shu grid. This square was remarkable because every horizontal, vertical, and diagonal row added up to fifteen. Fifteen is the number of days between the new moon and the full moon. The number five was highly regarded in ancient China and this magic square contained a five in the central position.

After several centuries, the 3x3 magic square made its way out of China and entered the Indian subcontinent. From India, it travelled on to Arabia and into medieval Europe. Since, magic squares have fascinated humanity throughout the ages, and have been around for over 4,120 years. They are found in a number of cultures, including Egypt and India, engraved on stone or metal and worn as talismans, the belief being that magic squares had astrological and divinatory qualities, their usage ensuring longevity and prevention of diseases. In the ninth century, Arabian astrologers used magic squares to interpret horoscopes.

The 3x3 magic square was used as part of rituals in India from Vedic times, and continues to be used till date. The Kubera-Kolam is a floor painting used in India which is in the form of a magic square of order three. It is essentially the same as the Lo Shu Square, but with 19 added to each number, giving a magic constant of 72. Lo Shu is also connected to the Chakras and stimulate them. Chakra (derived from the Sanskrit chakra चक्रं, wheel or disc. There are seven major chakras or energy centres, located within the subtle body, from the base of the spine to the top of the head, at major branching of the human nervous system, beginning at the base of the spinal column and moving upward to the top of the skull and expressed life force energy (biophysical energy or prana of the human body).

From LPG one can also derive Vastu defects in one's house as each grid presents particular directions as listed below:

- North: Career prospects, water element, planning, Middle Son
- Southwest: Marriage prospects, marital bliss, earth element, happiness, initiative, Mom
- East: Family relationships, health, wood element, growth, Oldest Son
- Southeast: Wealth, prosperity, wood element, Oldest Daughter
- Centre: Earth element, strength and stability, Family
- Northwest: Mentors, helpful people, friends, metal element, foreign contracts, new opportunities, Father
- West: Mental peace, children, creativity, metal element, Youngest Daughter
- Northeast: Knowledge, education, memory, earth element, Youngest Son
- South: Recognition, fame, energy, fire element, Middle Daughter

The LPG (Life Pattern Grid) can be looked at in a number of different ways. The top row (numbers 4, 9 and 2) represents the head of a person. The middle row (numbers 3, 5 and 7) represents the body. Finally, the bottom row (numbers 8, 1 and 6) represents the feet.

- Top row can be regarded as the Mental plane. It encompasses thinking, creating, imagining and analysing. Associated with Head.
- The middle row is called the Emotional plane. This plane includes spirituality, intuition, feelings and emotions. Also associated with Torso.
- The bottom row is called the Practical plane. This encompasses physical labour, creativity, athletic ability, physical coordination and the ability to be practical in everyday life. To use the head-legs analogy again, the feet are firmly placed on the ground in the Practical Plane.

Similarly, the vertical rows are also interpreted as follows:

- The first of these vertical rows is the Thought plane. This reveals the person's ability to come up with ideas, create things and carry them through to fruition.
- The middle vertical row is the Will plane. This gives determination and persistence to succeed.
- The final vertical row is the Action plane. This shows the person's ability to put his thoughts into action.
- The three vertical rows make a natural progression. First of all, the person has to come up with an idea (Thought plane). He (or she) has to have determination and persistence (Will plane), otherwise the idea will never be acted upon. The planning is done at this stage. Finally, the person needs to be able to put the idea and the determination into action (Action plane).

Life Pattern Grid (LPG)		VERTICAL PLANE ↓
		Thought	Will	Action
HORIZONTAL PLANE ↓	Mental	4	9	2
	Emotional	3	5	7
	Practical	8	1	6

We can better understand the use of this grid through an example.

For instance, let's take up the case of a person with missing numbers 3, 4 and 8. Number 8, which is a symbol of the earth element, and the numbers 3 and 4 are absent from his grid. These numbers symbolize the elements of wood and growth respectively. The absence of these numbers shows that this person is very unsystematic and works on new plans every day without focusing on a long-term plan. Due to the absence of numbers 3, 4 and 8 in his grid, this person hesitates to demand his rights and there are likely to be problems in the associated directions.

Solution

To do away with these problems, he should wear crystals or put a crystal lotus in the particular zone of his room. Carrying a pendant or bracelet with numerous tiny crystals in it is also a very effective remedy to boost confidence. Also, in the Sun rise direction, he should put up a green bulb and in the Fire zone, he should keep a green plant which symbolizes the wood element and makes up for its absence in his chart.

In addition to the specific areas given, one can attain a long life by putting up a picture of a tortoise on the North wall of the living room; and one can achieve resoluteness and energy by putting up a picture of the Garuda (mythical giant bird) on its South wall. Thus, we can use the magical Lo Shu aka LPG to help us navigate the problem areas in our life.

ARROWS ON LPG:

There are 3 types of arrows on LPG

1. Arrow of Strength
2. Arrow of Weakness
3. Small Arrows.

There are arrows marked on Grid represents certain traits of the person and any missing or incomplete arrows means lack of particular traits. From Date of Birth person can see much more insights into his/her traits, weaknesses and strength – Life Pattern Grid.

There are remedies to overcome challenges highlighted by LPG either for missing numbers or enhancing existing numbers. There are three different types of remedies we provide – Soul, Mind and Body level which ensures greater and faster success.

Those Born from year 2000 onwards

Typical LPG

		Typical GRID of majority born from Year 2000 Onwards.
Life Pattern Grid (LPG)		VERTICAL PLANE ↓
		Thought	Will	Action
HORIZONTAL PLANE ↓	Mental	4		2
	Emotional	3	5	7
	Practical	8		6

Majority of all those born from year 2000 onwards have missing 1 and 9; so from LPG they will have weak Will, low emotional and practical plane. This all means presences of small arrows which are related to Detail, Litigation, peace of Mind, and Science. Missing 1 and 9 also means low Will plane as well as Emotional and Practical plane.

Just imagine type of life and future all those born from year 2000 onwards, missing 1 and 9 in their LPG, will have if no remedies are given.

Interpreting Numbers Missing in the Chart

Numbers that are completely missing from someone's chart indicate lessons that the person must learn in this lifetime. This life, as well as future lives, will improve if these lessons are learned.

Missing 1

These people find it difficult to communicate with others.

These people must learn to communicate with others, to really connect with other people, understand other people's feelings and points of view. and develop a sense of compassion. They need to really listen to other people. In short, they need to talk less and listen more.

Missing 2

These people can lack sensitivity and intuition. Therefore, they may make mistakes by ignoring or mistrusting the small, quiet voice within. They are also impatient. These people often try to justify their mistakes, or blame others for them rather than to admit to them.

These people must learn to be more sensitive, to trust their intuition, be more patient and to admit and accept responsibility for their own mistakes.

Missing 3

These people can lack confidence. They often underestimate themselves, and as a result may put themselves down. They also have trouble thinking logically when under stress or distracted.

These people must learn to accept their faults and accept themselves as they are. They must also learn to mentally focus and ignore disruptions.

Missing 4

People missing a 4 dislikes hard work. They find it difficult to work to a set routine. They can be disorganised and lack motivation. Getting out of bed and going to work is an unattractive proposition. They hate Mondays.

These people must learn discipline, work hard and how to enjoy their work.

Missing 5

These people find it hard to set goals. They often lack drive and direction. They need constant motivation from others.

These people must learn to set realistic goals and to complete them.

Missing 6

People missing the number 6 need to be more responsible. They also need to be more giving of themselves. They tend to hide their own feelings, and have trouble relating to one or both of their parents. They can have problems with relationships until they learn to be more responsible and more open.

These people must learn to be more responsible, more open, and more loving of their parents.

Missing 7

These people can sometimes be inconsiderate of other people's feelings and misfortunes. They have little or no real interest in spiritual matters. They dislike being left on their own.

These people must learn to be more considerate of other people's feelings, sympathetic to other people's misfortunes and more relaxed around others.

Missing 8

These people have difficulty handling their financial matters. They may be too careless or too trusting, and suffer financially as a result. They can also lack motivation and often leave tasks unfinished.

These people must learn to be less impulsive and think before acting. They need to control their spending.

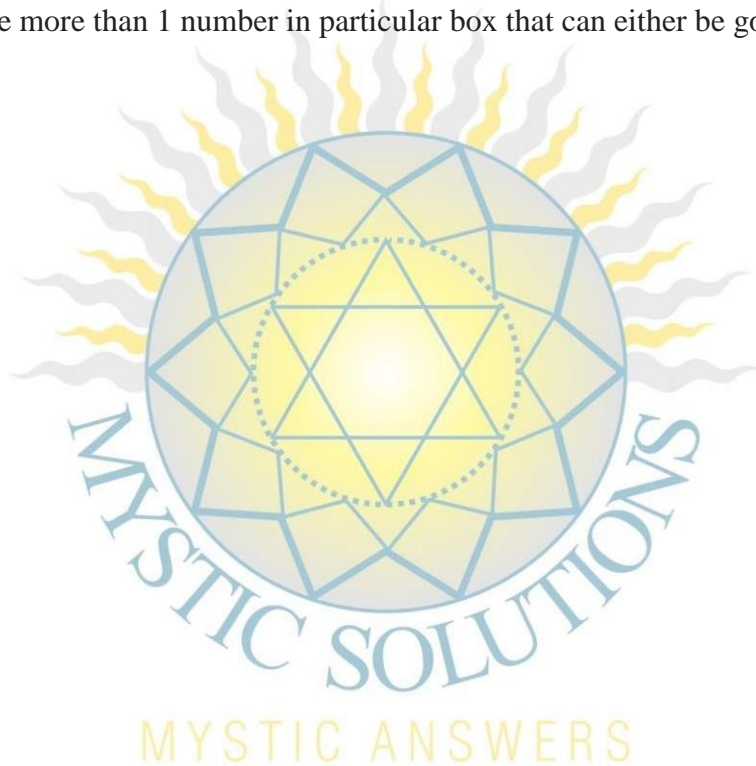

Missing 9

These people tend to overlook the feelings and needs of others. They are aloof and detached. They seldom finish what they start.

They need to learn to give more of themselves and become true humanitarians.

Similarly, if there more than 1 number in particular box that can either be good or bad for the individual.
