

die Tiere

die Maus

das Reh

die Schildkröte

die Taube

die Krähe

die Tiere

Write... a dog, a fish, etc.

der	--	ein
die	--	eine
das	--	ein

die Krähe

die Taube

die Schildkröte

das Reh

die Maus

die Tiere

Write... no turtle, no crow, etc.

der -- kein

die -- keine

das -- kein

die Taube

die Maus

die Schildkröte

die Krähe

das Reh

die Tiere

Write a sentence in German:

Here is the...

Hier ist der/die/das...

die Tiere

Write a sentence in German:

This is a...

Das ist ein/eine/ein....

Find out more about our German Conversation Card Sets:

I have found it difficult to find good German materials and curriculum for kids. Early on we used a lot of free German worksheets and materials, but then at a certain point the kids were ready for more. See more about the German Curriculum we use now in this post.

I made a whole series of Conversation Cards and we are slowly building conversations skills and vocabulary from day-to-day, week-to-week. This is what we will be covering (Click on the links to find out more about each packet):

1. Family tree for greetings and family words (See this post.) - 2 files, approx. 20 pages
2. The days of the weeks, months, weather and seasons, - Approx. 18 pages
3. Clothing (will be shared next week -- probably Oct. 20, 2015) - Approx. 16 pages
4. Where are you from? Nationalities
5. Food and Drink
6. Daily Activities

Last spring I made our first set of German conversation cards. It consisted of a family tree and various family members (brother, sister, mom, dad, aunt, uncle and grandparents). We used these to practice greetings and for basic conversations asking and answering questions like What's your name? How old are you? Is this your aunt? etc. Wow! Having props absolutely transformed German for us. So this past summer, I made a half-dozen more sets. The kids have made amazing progress with these already.

Clipart Credit (deer, mouse, turtle):

Sweet Clipart.com