

The Dubliners were a hugely influential folk group formed in 1962. John Sheahan (b.1939) joined the band in 1964. He learned tin whistle at school in the Dublin area of Marino, where he was in the same class as Paddy Moloney of The Chieftains. He took up fiddle at age twelve, and went on to study classical violin in Dublin. His composition The Marino Waltz became a hit in the 1980, rising high in the Irish charts. Christ Church Cathedral (see below) spread around traditional music sessions like wildfire when it first came out.
