About me

My name is Rafael, born and raised in São Paulo, Brazil. I've been working with web design since 2007 by partaking in UI design, UX analysis, usability testing, and front-end engineering in several projects.

I'm very methodic (with a case of knolling), and I'd like to work with people that truly value design and beautiful things.

When I'm not working, you'll probably find me singing, playing Blizzard games or diving deep into a side project.

I secretly wish I could work with concept art.
