

New year, new look

A new year means more than just a new start, it also means a cool, new calendar. Whether you're counting down until your next vacation or simply passing the time at your nine-to-five, schedule a fresh start for 2013 with a unique calendar. Perched on your desktop or dangling from the wall, however you choose to chart your course this year, here are some one-of-a-kind calendars to help you keep tabs, tally the hours and track time as you tick off the days. — JAMI KLOET, SPECIAL TO QMI AGENCY

Featuring a fun and fanciful design by illustrator Fiona Hewitt, this kitschy calendar offers a cute way to mark each day. Eco-friendly and helpfully handy, simply turn the four dials on the back to reveal the day, date and month, and use the attached hook to hang it in the perfect place so you can start every day with a smile. One of These Days Calendar, $17, Modcloth.com

TO DIE FOR

Let 2013 be the year you roll the dice and win! With a wood frame featuring the months of the year en français, this vintage cube calendar is like having a little piece of lady luck on your side every day of the year. Vintage Dice Calendar, $59.95 The Cross Decor & Design (available at thegiftnetwork.com)

BY THE NUMBERS

By lining up the year and the month on a rotating dial, this mathematical calendar can track the date up to 50 years from now. It even accounts for leap years. Now, that's a calendar for the ages! 50 Year Calendar, $15, Chapters/Indigo

A STITCH IN TIME

A calendar that disappears with the days! Pull the thread at the bottom of this date tracker and it unravels one day at a time, until you reach the end of the year. Unravel Knitted Calendar, $98, Anthropologie (available at anthropologie.com)

BREAD WINNER

Start every day with the breakfast of champions. Printed on recycled paper and featuring six monthly toast slices, this delicious desk calendar can turn a crummy day into a total slice. Taste Toaster Calendar, $21.87, Doo Daa Studio (available at doodaastudio.com)
