

SPARK MicroGrants

Spark MicroGrants enables communities to design and implement their own development projects through a proposal development process and small grant. It's a spark that ignites lasting change.

ADVOCATE FOR COMMUNITY-LED DEVELOPMENT

Spark Advocates play an important role in the organization. Advocates are paired with a MicroGrant development project. They work within their own communities to raise awareness and help support the development project.

By joining the Spark team, you will be connecting with people in a partner community, and other Spark Advocates from around the world. It's a great way to get involved and to make a real contribution to development efforts.

VOLUNTEER WITH SPARK MICROGRANTS

No travel or have prior work experience is required — only your enthusiasm and a desire to make a difference!

Volunteering as a Spark Advocate includes:

- Interacting with community project facilitators
- Producing content for the Spark website, including issue briefs and project updates
- Planning an event to raise awareness about the project
- Designing a fund raising campaign for the project
- Bring your good ideas, creativity is what makes Spark work
