

The Snow Elf Homeland, frozen tundra homeland of the expansionistic snow elves with their wolf and frost giant allies and orc soldiers and servants.

Legend
1	Vornheim, city of the snow elves (use Vornheim, replace NPCs with elves)
2	Troll Mountains (replaces result #3 with "troll lair" and all elf results with trolls)
3	The Frozen Reach (deep lake dotted with small islands, ruins, and banshees)
4	The First Court (Snow elf traditionalists hold court in these woods following the old ways)
5	Goblin Hills (goblin saboteurs, assassins, and rebels are holed up in these hills)

Random Encounters (CR 5 baseline)
1.	Elven ruin from before the forever winter
2.	Feral elf (elf werewolf + 2d6 wolves)
3.	Foreign merchants or foreign knights
4.	Frost giant
5.	Wolf patrol of 2d6 wolves + 1 worg
6.	Orc patrol of 2d6 orc soldiers. The patrol leader wears a horn about his neck. If blown, roll 2d6 on this table to see what arrives to check up on the noise (in 1d6 turns).
7.	Standard patrol of 1d6 orcs + 1d6 wolves
8.	Elf patrol of 1 elf ranger-sorcerer 4 + 1 winter wolf + 1d6 wolves
9.	A wild troll of the cold wastes
10.	Goblin saboteurs and assassins , squad of 1d6+3 rogue 1 / ranger 1, enemy of elves or orcs
11.	Elf lord (elf 9 + retinue of orcs, winter wolves, and a frost giant)
12.	The Great North Wind

Notes (NPCs, rumors, dungeons, treasures, etc.)
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The snow elves are gestalt characters but lose this if they are outside the homeland, being reduced to the state of near mortals Rumor holds that the Frost Brand is lost in the region, possibly abandoned in some cold troll lair The snow elves are aggressively expansionistic. This encounter table can be used as a template/overlay for neighboring hexes that have been conquered by the elves Snow elves are sending envoys into foreign lands on mysterious missions. They have been seen moving quietly, by night, in lands not yet invaded. The elves created orcs with magic, blending goblins and men into the perfect soldiers. The homeland is infested by trolls, monsters that even the elves have been unable to master or eradicate.