

Obama Has Two American Parents. I'm not kidding.

The reason Obama's birth certificate is a fabrication is that he was really born of two American citizens. Pretty funny huh? Now just because I'm not kidding doesn't mean it's not funny, so it's ok to laugh. John Adams gave me permission to tell you the sordid details so you're luckier than most people who will never hear the truth of it before the election, for them it's not allowed. His real father's last name was Davis, not Obama. He just wants you to think its Obama. Think about it. It's hilarious isn't it?

I call it: 'The Secret of Obama's Four-Fathers'.

It's a truth the innocent among the liberal ranks will be too emotionally invested to face, and a secret the leadership holds precious as a badge of conquest, and so they should, it's been a remarkable coup. In either case the exposure of this reality will elicit desperate attempts to shut down discussion, the innocent out of denial, the knowing out of desperation. It's a truth so precious to communists that it requires a bodyguard of lies if only to secure the integrity of the ranks long enough to win just one more election. <http://tinyurl.com/7ochpc5>

Birthers have been barking up the wrong tree attributing the forgery of the birth certificate to a ruse to cover up Obama's ineligibility for the Presidency when it was really all along just a cover for the fact that he is the son of a real American father, an infamous communist one. If you are a Frank Marshall Davis fan and a communist, the news couldn't be more sweet, or the secret of it all... more delicious.

It's not that that possibility was off birther's radar completely, we just had less information for the Frank Marshall Davis as biological father angle than for Obama's lack of natural born (of two citizen parents) status which Obama's phony life story fully supports. OK, so we birthers were wrong, but why should we apologize for believing his father was born in Kenya if that's what the fairy tale has everyone believing? The issue always was that one of his parents wasn't a US citizen, not whether he was born in Hawaii. Facing the reality of a false birth record you go with the information you have to determine motive. What else can you do? I was wrong to believe Obama's phony life story and to take it to the logical conclusion that he was ineligible to serve as president. I stand corrected. The joke's on me. I'm getting a kick out of having been fooled all this time, but I don't mind, I like a good laugh.

Joel Gilbert's new film 'Dreams from My Real Father' makes more than an adequate case that Obama's ideological as well as biological father is Frank Marshall Davis. Although the patrimony is salacious, it's really Frank Marshall Davis' ideology that Obama means to hide from the American people.

The movie (Trailer > <http://www.obamasrealfather.com/>) shows how Frank and baby Barack's mom were intimate at his conception, and Joel has the porn pictures (respectfully redacted) of Barack's mother Ann from Frank's camera as well as references to 'Ann' in Frank's prolific writing at the time to substantiate it. Obama's namesake Kenyan step-father was compensated for agreeing to a sham marriage to cover for Davis who was a married man with children, but mostly to provide an alibi for Obama's CIA operative grandfather who couldn't afford to have 'The Company' find out that his veritable son in law was a man under constant surveillance by the FBI for sedition. If the US had had an incident with the Soviet Union during that time, 'Uncle Frank' would have been arrested and jailed. If the grandfather's boss at 'The Company' had caught on to the breach in security, his cover as furniture salesman would have become his all too real fallback career. Is that funny or what? Now remember, I said I wasn't kidding, and I'm not.

But that just raises the question: Does it matter who Obama's father really is?

Oh yes it does, and for the very reason that Obama has kept it a secret since his teens. His real father may have been a famous American pornographer and communist but he did have the fatherly sense to dissuade young Barry from changing his name from Barack Obama to Frank M. Davis Jr. with all that baggage even though they likely both would have wanted him to. Additionally, posing as a Kenyan African offered the boy multicultural academic advantages that his father's American name couldn't bestow. Another side benefit was that well-meaning Americans likely would never vote for a Frank Marshall Davis 'Junior'... the-son-of-a-Larry Flynt-wannabe-and- card-carrying-Soviet-Marxist-Communist... for President, had they known, so a father's advice that he should remain 'Obama' served the boy well.

Elizabeth Warren fabricated a similar fantasy personal profile and posed as an American Indian and look how she cashed in. It's the same thing really. Obama could have been held less personally responsible for his phony life story had he not perpetuated it by hiring ghost writer Bill Ayers to turn it into a salable autobiography of fiction, something he lacked the competence to do on his own. Obama could have stopped the fairy story when he learned the truth but in the world he inherited deceit is the coin of the realm and among Democrats that currency is always at a market high. It's the capitalism of the lie. They are the new Horatio Alger icons from hell. Instead of honesty it's the lie that puts them on top. Instead of truth, productivity and self-sufficiency, it's lies, envy and dependence that commends them.

Barack Obama makes Elizabeth Warren look like a piker but there is so much to be admired in both stories in the context of Obama's transformed America. It's the American Way only upside down. Just think of the mysteries solved; the forged BC, the fraudulent foreign student benefits, his academic advancement without merit, his Harvard Law appointment, it goes on and on, one lie after another, subsidized by Chicago corruption at taxpayers' expense. It's all immoral but standard operating procedure of subversives all along his path to democrat glory.

So now I can drop the imagination that Obama can be deposed by means of his ineligibility, apologize to Ann Coulter for accusing her and other Republicans of dereliction of birtherism, and concentrate on the real issue which is that..

Obama is America's Idi Amin. <http://tinyurl.com/ObamaAmin> I got the scoop on Obama's present coup on American exceptionalism back in 1990, seven days before he was installed as Editor of the Harvard Law Review. It's true and I have proof.

I don't mean to disparage Barack Obama Sr. by minimizing his role in this calamity. Any one of the four ideological fathers could have, on their own, rendered the same result. They are altogether complimentary. What's amazing is that none of these revelations change the facts that the birth certificate is a forgery, the social security number is stolen, and that Obama's life story is a manufactured but fabulously effective deception endorsed by the Democrat party, and fallen for by enough well-meaning Americans to put him in the Oval Office,.... maybe twice.

It's positively diabolical.

So who are Obama's Four-Fathers?

Frank Marshall Davis

Malcolm X

Satan

Barack Obama Sr.

In that approximate order of influence.

"Our Constitution was made only for a moral and religious people. It is wholly inadequate to the government of any other."

"The people have a right, an indisputable, unalienable, indefeasible, divine right to that most dreaded and envied* kind of knowledge - I mean of the character and conduct of their rulers. Our very Constitution is threatened when we permit immoral conduct by our leaders."*

John Adams

Elizabeth Warren is just as much American Indian as Obama is Kenyan, but they do share a common stepfather...

The Father of Lies.

Please don't help this man win another term. Oops! Too late.

"Change Happens" ...Barack Obama

6/8/12

Warning, the links on this page are not family friendly but necessary to shed light on the character and conduct of Barack Obama.

I heard Obama say "uhhh..change happens" on the radio that June morning during a report about his LGBT fundraising gala in LA. That's a great line for T-shirts and bumper stickers by the way. The next thing I heard was cackling demons enjoying their precious inside joke.

He might not have been reading a teleprompter because of the hesitancy I sensed as he grasped for a thought. He was apparently trying to contrive an evangelical sounding message heralding the virtues of his new gay marriage position where no virtue exists. The best he could do to end a rambling paragraph was to hesitate, then croak out: "uhhh.. change happens".

I'm guessing that the word 'change' was likely not the first word that came into his mind as he was designing his off the cuff address, and somewhat disturbed by what he almost said before he said "change" left him slightly off balance, but not a little proud of himself that he somehow avoided the gaffe. I mean when you're good, you're good... right?

As close a call as it was, he was soon to realize not far into his talk that the unspeakable word in his mind was after all, in this context, absolutely accurate. The context was an innocent joke about his wife and Ellen DeGeneres. It was absolutely innocent.

> <http://tinyurl.com/innocentjoke> <

Innocent that is.... to the innocent.

As the President endeavored to plead the cause of the defiled, his recompense was defilement itself, and not just defilement unto himself but defilement that would seek to sully his family as well.

Obama has a history of personal defilement <http://tinyurl.com/7ayj3lh> so he must, by this change in policy, own up to his kinship with this constituency, but I can't imagine any level of prior personal defilement that could render a man unaffected by the desecration of the mother of his dear innocent daughters. His admirers in their corporate degeneracy <http://tinyurl.com/7zn63zv> gave real meaning to the word that he reserved for his private amusement. I want to think that in the end, for him, it didn't turn out that funny. For his family's sake, I can only hope.

(Update: 9/11/12 new WND Article about Obama the homosexual: <http://tinyurl.com/c3b2izo>).

"Unto the pure all things are pure: but unto them that are defiled ... is nothing pure; but even their mind and conscience is defiled..." Titus 1:15

Liberty cannot be preserved without general knowledge among people.... of the characters and conduct of their rulers."
