

Obama Is America's Idi Amin

I didn't make this up. It was given me in a vision in 1990.

Seven days before Obama was made president of the Harvard Law Review I had a vision. Yes I'm talking about a communication from heaven, a message from the God of Abraham Isaac and Jacob, the kind of vision that troubled Pharaoh and which Joseph had the inspiration to interpret. It foretold the future, a future we're all living in right now. It's a warning of impending doom for America, and it is anything but farfetched and no, I hadn't eaten pizza that night.

This harbinger (I just learned that word recently) is in the process of its fulfillment, and my guess is that Obama's re-election will kind of chisel it into stone if it isn't already. If God decided to use Idi Amin for his metaphor in my dream, you don't need me to describe all the possibilities that could imply, just do what I did when it was first revealed to me that it was all about Barack Obama and Google 'Idi Amin', then read any history of his reign you find, then watch YouTube clips of movies about him and then just start adding two and two. Here's some similarities to get you started. They both have great personalities, they both said "we are the one's we've been waiting for" (maybe in other words but same message), both proceeded to destroy their country's economy. As you find your own similarities you will find that none of them bode well for America. My vision happened like this:

I, Wayne Harropson had a vision in 1990, and the day I had the vision I registered it in my day planner. Although the Dream/Vision was stunningly vivid, I never attached any context or purpose to it and its memory subsequently left the database of my mind for all those years until now. As I began perusing a Franklin storage binder that I pulled from my attic a year ago (May 2011), I came across the brief entry. I not only remembered the dream but I can see it now in my recollection about as clearly as it was originally.

Idi Amin Dada Oumee the Ugandan dictator was driving a US Government vehicle in full regalia and with a confident and radiant appearance as he ascended the incline of a road leading to the Marriott Hotel in Newport Beach. The road was familiar to me as it was my way to work in the 70's and for purposes of this narrative, I'll leave it to say that Marriott is a recurring theme of dreams of mine that signify the virtues of American exceptionalism established by our forefathers. Amin was therefore joyously staging a coup on America having commandeered (the) US Government Vehicle. What a picture. It's consistent with this movie: <http://tinyurl.com/9jy9s9a>

This is all very exciting if you happen to be a communist who'd like to see the U.S. suffer the plight of Uganda. Now here's how God backed up this remarkable Idi Amin vision with additional proof of its divine origin. I shared the vision at a republican function with a number of people and as I woke the next morning my bible was open to John 14. As I began to read the Lord directed me to focus on the 26th verse. I could not comprehend any verses after that verse (even though familiar) but was made to read this passage again and again. It was almost as though it were highlighted on the page and any attempt to read past it was arrested. The passage reads:

"But the Comforter, which is the Holy Ghost, whom the Father will send in my name, he shall teach you all things, and bring all things to your remembrance, whatsoever I have said unto you."

The direction I got to read this bible passage is just as it was when I was directed to find and read my own note from the 1990 day planner. Thirteen years of storage binders had been in my attic until one morning in May 2011 when I was directed by the Spirit to retrieve them and line them all up on my office bookshelf. After reading it I went to the web to see where Obama was on that day. It did not take me long to discover that seven days later to the day, he was made editor of The Harvard Law Review. So, God is behind Obama's ascent, to punish the United States and bring it to its knees, or to destroy it. I guess that part is up to us, isn't it?

So the Lord used a Bible verse to tell me that my finding my old dreams was the Holy Ghost bringing all things to my remembrance, whatsoever He has said unto me. Ask yourself what you would do if you were me. My interpretation of the dream is absolutely certain, (you must admit that it is obvious) but my perspective has matured over a years' time.. The recent emergence of this old vision I believe is so I can now declare to the American people and to friends of the United States all around the world that this man and the powers, political, academic and media that have promoted and caused his ascent have together inflicted upon this once great but now faltering nation what threatens to be the final blow.

My interpretation has matured in time because when it was first revealed I quite naturally spoke of the urgency to depose Obama as soon as possible. That urgency still exists but I perhaps reluctantly began to realize that God prepared Obama and his minions for the purpose of bringing destruction to America and nothing short of repentance and a sincere return to the Founders biblical principles can save us from the effects of what he's done and is about to do. It's bad news people. He did the same thing to Israel when he prepared and sent the Assyrians to wreak destruction.

So why should you take me and my dreams seriously? That's easy. This is where I get to say that you should take me seriously because God told me you should take me seriously, but I have to admit that if I were you I wouldn't think that was reason enough. So maybe I can help you with other examples.

Lucky for me the Idi Amin vision isn't the only thing I have going for me in the way of proof that I'm not just imagining things. I get new spiritual messages all the time and more often than not they are quite comical and I think entertaining. I haven't been left alone with this one revelation, but have some other stories that should go a long way in persuading you that I'm not just living out some self-promoting fantasy. The true stories I have to tell establish a pattern of evidence that God has in fact chosen me, foreordained me to deliver at least this message. Some of the most remarkable acts of providence in scripture were proven to be His handiwork because He chose men of low estate, which might be my only qualification. If you would just peruse a few of my stories I'm convinced that you will discover that I enjoy a fascinating supernatural life.

I grew up with the nickname Speed given me by an uncle. If you do a search of the name Speed you will find that its early English origins connote a messenger, or a messenger boy. It never meant that to me nor to anybody else as I grew up but it certainly means that to me now, and it answers the question why one man's inspired suggestion at my infancy stuck. It might also interest you that the name Rush has identical origins and connotations as Speed. It's flattering really. I know that's not enough for you to go on either but now that you know that trivia we can go on to some of the funny stuff that should convince you that the message I am to deliver is from the Creator, not just from my crazy imagination.

I have a number of funny stories but I'll start with one about when I got to deliver a message to a federal judge. Rather than recount the whole episode here let me just give you a link to a PDF that you can download it from: <http://tinyurl.com/JudgeGuilford> Did you like the last part about the Dumb & Dumber movie? Pretty funny huh? Sorry, that part of it was my idea; at least I assume it was.

Still not convinced? That's ok. There is a lot more where that came from.

You might be able to see a watermark on this page and it has a special meaning that is described in my article called: Walking the Precincts of the Republic <http://tinyurl.com/PrecinctsOfRepublic> While reading some of my stories try to put yourself in my shoes and imagine how differently you might respond to the circumstances I describe.

I prepared a catch all PDF that has links to other stories that will back up my claim, and I'm adding things all the time. You can find that here: <http://tinyurl.com/SpeedsMustang> I'm trying to keep it to one page, but it's not easy.

I guess I need to stop this article before it runs on forever so I'll end it with a promise from God that answers in one verse what can be done to reverse this curse of God that has delivered us into Idi Amin's protégé Obama's death grip.

"If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land." 2 Chronicles 7:14

Now that you know the truth I would advise that you do all in your power to depose this man lest you become an accomplice to America's demise.

What you have the power to do is to personally confess your sins to God, repent of your support of gay marriage, infanticide, covetousness and all other popular Democrat Party, government and corporate sponsored immoralities, accept Jesus Christ as your Savior that his shed blood would be a covering for your personal sins, and then support godly leaders that affirm the founders original intent. You could also make sure this information is distributed to all you know who have been deceived.

The 9/11 attack obviously wasn't a big enough hint that this nation has lost the 'smiles of heaven' that George Washington talked about in his first inaugural. He warned us that this would all happen and now it has. It may just be God's will that Obama should continue his reign of destruction to punish America for outlawing morality by promoting and codifying homosexual marriages, infanticide on demand and institutionalized covetousness. The former land of the free is on its way to the jail of Islamic Jihad and the warden is America's Idi Amin. WH
