DAN MICHAELS

He looks like an average guy, but doesn't think like one, and he doesn't make music like one either. Instead of talking about boring childhood hobbies like playing english flute or bongos, we'll have a look at his musical development: His passion for the „for to the floor“ started early when he was introduced to the sounds of Yello or Laid Back, after that he would take a slight detour to the dark world of Drum'n'Bass where he discovered his love for breakbeats. A touch of Rave was added during the year 2000, what remained from that time was his interest in melodies and atmospheric pad sounds. Minimal-House influenced the way in which he would take aesthetic decisions regarding vocals and the reduction of sounds.
