Dear Distributor: Liz Smith & Rainer Linnemeyer

Thank you for your question regarding the use of soy-derived ingredients in GNLD supplements.

You can be assured that the soy ingredients used in GNLD supplements are completely safe and appropriate for human consumption.

Soy products, considered a staple in many countries, have been safely consumed for centuries. In fact, since 1999, most experiments not only conclude that consumption of soybean products and components is not harmful, but demonstrate that soy foods provide various health benefits. Hundreds of studies have associated soy with positive effects in human health, contributing digestive, bone, and cardiovascular, neurological and anti-carcinogenic benefits. The benefits are so well established that several of the Key Recommendations from the 2010 Dietary Guidelines for Americans (released by the USDA and United States Department of Health and Human Services, January 2011) recommend the consumption of soy-based products as part of a healthy diet.

The quality and safety of our products are very important to us. You can be sure that every ingredient and raw material used in the GNLD product line is thoroughly investigated and confirmed for safety, purity and potency. This includes soy and soy-based ingredients. Our goal is to deliver improved health and well-being to our customers with our unique and exclusive formulations and dependable product quality and performance. We take pride in having done this successfully for more than 50 years.

Sincerely,
