

THE Hollywood REPORTER

PGA Awards: The Complete Winners List

The David L. Wolper Award for Outstanding Producer of Long-Form Television

* The longform Television category encompasses both movies of the week and miniseries.

Courtesy of FX

The People v. O.J. Simpson: American Crime Story* (Season 1) (WINNER)

Producers: Scott Alexander, Larry Karaszewski, Ryan Murphy, Brad Falchuk, Nina Jacobson, Brad Simpson, D.V. DeVincentis, Anthony Hemingway, Alexis Martin Woodall, John Travolta, Chip Vucelich

Black Mirror* (Season 3)

This show is in the process of being vetted for individual producer eligibility

The Night Manager* (Season 1)

Producers: Simon Cornwell, Stephen Garrett, Stephen Cornwell, Hugh Laurie, Tom Hiddleston, Susanne Bier, David Farr, John le Carré, William D. Johnson, Alexei Boltho, Rob Bullock

The Night Of

This show is in the process of being vetted for individual producer eligibility

Sherlock: The Abominable Bride

This show is in the process of being vetted for individual producer eligibility

Producers Guild Awards 2017 Winners: The Complete List

It's time to celebrate the best of the best in production!

In just a few short hours, industry heavyweights and your favorite celebs from film and television will arrive to celebrate the 28th Annual Producers Guild Awards, held tonight at the Beverly Hilton Hotel in Los Angeles.

Award show circuit mainstays including Game of Thrones, The People v. O.J. Simpson: American Crime Story and Atlanta stand a chance to win in the TV

categories, while La La Land, Fences and Hidden Figures might just continue to dominate the 2017 award season on the movie front.

So what are you waiting for? Sit back, relax and check out yet another jam-packed, and oh-so starry winners list from the 2017 Producers Guild Awards below:

Milestone Award: Tom Rothman

Norman Lear Achievement Award in Television: James L. Brooks

David O. Selznick Achievement Award in Theatrical Motion Pictures:
Irwin Winkler

Stanley Kramer Award: Loving

Visionary Award: Megan Ellison

The David L. Wolper Award for Outstanding Producer of Long-Form Television: The People v. O.J. Simpson: American Crime Story

The Award for Outstanding Producer of Non-Fiction Television: Making a Murderer

The Award for Outstanding Producer of Competition Television: The Voice

The Darryl F. Zanuck Award for Outstanding Producer of Theatrical Motion Pictures: La La Land

The Danny Thomas Award for Outstanding Producer of Episodic Television, Comedy: Atlanta

The Award for Outstanding Producer of Live Entertainment & Talk Television: Last Week Tonight

The Award for Outstanding Children's Program: Sesame Street

The Award for Outstanding Sports Program: VICE World of Sports & Real Sports with Bryant Gumbel

The Award for Outstanding Digital Series: Comedians in Cars Getting Coffee

The Award for Outstanding Producer of Animated Theatrical Motion Pictures: Zootopia

The Award for Outstanding Producer of Documentary Theatrical Motion Pictures: O.J.: Made in America

The Norman Felton Award for Outstanding Producer of Episodic Television, Drama: Stranger Things

VARIETY

‘La La Land’ Wins Producers Guild’s Top Movie Award

“La La Land” has won the Producers Guild of America’s Darryl F. Zanuck Award for top feature film of 2016 for Fred Berger, Jordan Horowitz, and Marc Platt.

The musical comedy-drama defeated “Arrival,” “Deadpool,” “Fences,” “Hacksaw Ridge,” “Hell or High Water,” “Hidden Figures,” “Lion,” “Manchester by the Sea,” and “Moonlight.” Dustin Hoffman presented the award at the conclusion of the 28th Annual Producers Guild Awards ceremonies at the Beverly Hilton Hotel.

“La La Land” stars Emma Stone as an aspiring actress and Ryan Gosling as a struggling musician, set in modern-day Los Angeles. The Lionsgate movie, which has grossed more than $200 million worldwide, won seven Golden Globes on Jan. 8 and received a record-tying 14 Academy Award nominations on Jan. 24.

“Damien Chazelle has made a story about the sacrifices artists make,” Platt said in his acceptance speech. “We celebrate all the fools who struggle but passionately try to achieve our artistic dreams.”

The PGA has matched the Oscar for best picture in 19 of its 27 years, though it diverged last year when the Zanuck award went to “The Big Short” and the Oscar went to “Spotlight.” The two awards matched in the previous eight years with “Birdman,” “12 Years a Slave,” “Argo,” “The Artist,” “The King’s Speech,” “The Hurt Locker,” “Slumdog Millionaire,” and “No Country for Old Men.”

The evening was punctuated by multiple declarations opposing President Donald Trump’s controversial executive order barring U.S. entry to citizens from Syria, Iraq, Iran, Sudan, Libya, Somalia, and Yemen.

“All of us are refugees; none of us are excluded,” said Irwin Winkler at the conclusion of his acceptance speech for the David O. Selznick Award for life achievement.

PGA co-presidents Lori McCreary and Gary Lucchesi also attacked Trump’s policy in opening remarks with Lucchesi saying, “Freedom of religion was one of the founding principles of our democracy.” McCreary added, “Now, more than ever, we need to remember the words on the Statue of Liberty: ‘Give me your tired, your poor, your huddled masses yearning to break free.’”

Netflix’s first season of sci-fi horror series “Stranger Things” took the Norman Felton Award for TV drama series brothers Matt and Ross Duffer, Shawn Levy, Dan Cohen and Iain Paterson.

It was a big night for two separate projects about O.J. Simpson as the Oscar-nominated miniseries “O.J.: Made in America” won the documentary award for Ezra Edelman and Caroline Waterlow while “The People v. O.J. Simpson: American Crime Story” won the David L. Wolper Award for Outstanding Producer of Long-Form Television.

FX’s “The People v. O.J. Simpson,” based on the 1994 murder case, debuted in February. It won nine Emmys in September.

Disney’s Oscar-nominated “Zootopia” won the animated movie trophy for producer Clark Spencer. In his acceptance speech, Spencer said that he was driven by the need to tell a story about the importance of diversity, using the setting of a mammalian metropolis.

FX’s freshman series “Atlanta” won the Danny Thomas award for best episodic comedy for Donald Glover, Dianne McGunigle, Paul Simms, Hiro Murai, and Alex Orr. The series won Golden Globes this month for best television series – musical or comedy while Glover won the best actor award in that category.

Netflix’s “Making a Murderer” won the award for non-fiction TV for Laura Ricciardi and Moira Demos. The series explored the case of Stephen Avery, who spent 18 years in prison on a wrongful conviction.

NBC’s “The Voice” won the reality competition trophy. “Comedians in Getting Coffee in Cars” took the digital series trophy while “Last Week Tonight with John Oliver” won the live entertainment-talk award.

In addition to Winkler, the PGA presented previously announced honorary awards to James L. Brooks with the Norman Lear Achievement Award in Television, Tom Rothman with the Milestone Award, “Loving” with the Stanley Kramer Award and Megan Ellison with the Visionary award.

Brooks opened his acceptance speech with a tribute to the late Mary Tyler Moore. “She had dignity, worth, legs, wit, she was intrinsically valiant, she was the woman who was at the center of the work and who never complained,” he said. “She made grace contagious.” Brooks was the executive producer of “The Mary Tyler Moore Show,” which won 27 Emmys. “When a TV series is working, there’s no better job,” he added.

La La Land, 'O.J.', 'Stranger Things' lead Producers Guild Awards

The 2017 Producers Guild of America awards were announced over the weekend, and the big winners on Saturday night ended up being the stunning La La Land, which is wiping the floor at most awards ceremonies this year, and TV shows American Crime Story: The People V O.J. Simpson and Netflix's Stranger Things.

La La Land picked up the top award on the night, The Darryl F. Zanuck Award for Outstanding Producer of Theatrical Motion Pictures, making the Best Picture Oscar almost a cert now. Zootopia (Zootropolis) bagged the The Award for Outstanding Producer of Animated Theatrical Motion Pictures, while 'The People V O.J.' received The David L. Wolper Award for Outstanding Producer of Long-Form Television, and the similarly themed O.J.: Made In America picked up The Award for Outstanding Producer of Documentary Theatrical Motion Pictures. Stranger Things received The Norman Felton Award for Outstanding Producer of Episodic Television, Drama.

The awards were dished out on Saturday, January 28, 2017 at the Beverly Hilton Hotel in Los Angeles.

EMPIRE

La La Land Wins The Producers Guild's Top Award

Saturday night saw the Producers Guild of America throw its annual awards bash and, in another boost to its Oscar chances, La La Land took home the main film award.

It's yet another trophy for the film's already stacked cabinet, or possibly for a box in Sebastian's (Ryan Gosling) apartment while he figures out his life. Elsewhere, Zootropolis/topia scored again, with Disney's Clark Spencer picking up another award.

On both film and TV it was good to be in the O.J. Simpson history business as O.J.: Made In America won the documentary film prize, while The People V. O.J. Simpson: American Crime Story nabbed the long-form TV prize. And Stranger Things went away with the Episodic

Television gong, while Donald Glover's Atlanta won another award, in the comedy category.

Find the full list of winners below.

Darryl F. Zanuck Award For Outstanding Producer Of Theatrical Motion Pictures

La La Land – Fred Berger, Jordan Horowitz, Marc Platt

Outstanding Producer Of Animated Theatrical Motion Pictures

Zootopia – Clark Spencer

Outstanding Producer Of Documentary Theatrical Motion

Pictures O.J.: Made In America – Ezra Edelman, Caroline Waterlow

Norman Felton Award For Outstanding Producer Of Episodic Television, Drama

Stranger Things – Matt Duffer, Ross Duffer, Shawn Levy, Dan Cohen, Iain Paterson

Danny Thomas Award For Outstanding Producer Of Episodic Television, Comedy Atlanta (Season 1) – Donald Glover, Dianne

McGunigle, Paul Simms, Hiro Murai, Alex Orr

David L. Wolper Award For Outstanding Producer Of Long-Form Television

The People V. O.J. Simpson: American Crime Story (Season 1) – Scott Alexander, Larry Karaszewski, Ryan Murphy, Brad Falchuk, Nina Jacobson, Brad Simpson, D.V. DeVincentis, Anthony Hemingway, Alexis Martin Woodall, John Travolta, Chip Vucelich

Outstanding Producer Of Non-Fiction Television

Making A Murderer (Season 1) – Laura Ricciardi, Moira Demos

Outstanding Producer Of Live Entertainment & Talk Television

Last Week Tonight With John Oliver (Season 3) – Tim Carvell, John Oliver, Liz Stanton

Outstanding Producer Of Competition Television

The Voice (Season 9-11) – Audrey Morrissey, Jay Bienstock, Mark Burnett, John de Mol, Chad Hines, Lee Metzger, Kyra Thompson, Mike Yurchuk, Amanda Zucker, Carson Daly

Outstanding Sports Program

Real Sports With Bryant Gumbel (Season 22)/VICE World Of Sports (Season 1) (tie)

Outstanding Children's Program

Sesame Street (Season 46)

Outstanding Digital Series

Comedians In Cars Getting Coffee (Season 7, Season 8)