

Flexible Subscription Options
Now Available.
Click To Learn More. |

4 ok

Log In

Register

Subscriber Services

eEdition

Web Search
by Yahoo!

News/Topics

Go

PROVIDENCE Journal

Home Breaking News Topics Politics Sports Business Opinion A&E Marketplace Cars Homes Jobs Obituaries Index

THIS NEW ENGLAND BLOG

In lock-up

Comments 0 | Recommend  0

May 31, 2011 4:37 pm

By Robert Whitcomb

There is something very New Englishish about a bunch of cool, slightly greased keys -- a tendency to guardedly and skeptically lock up physical possessions and psyches, recalling Robert Frost's lines about walls making good neighbors and all that.

Kelly Milukas, by the way, is a big proponent of something called "regenerative medicine," as promoted by the Regenerative Medicine Foundation.

"Cell Keys," by Kelly Milukas, who just won "Best in Show: Still Life," at the Little Compton (R.I.) Juried Photography Show.